

THE CITY SOLICITOR IS VERY BUSY MAN

He Handed Down Three Opinions Today—One for the License Commission Tonight

It is now generally conceded that City Solicitor J. Joseph Hennessy is the busiest city solicitor that Lowell has ever had, and there is a reason. This is the first year of a new form of government and there are a great many legal points to be settled this year that never will show their heads again.

The city solicitor's hopper is never without an opinion. He is grinding them out at the average of three and four a day and the end is not yet. He had three ready for the municipal council this afternoon and another that will go to the license commissioners at their meeting to be held this evening.

One of the opinions handed the municipal council today had to do with Lowell's share of the cost of constructing the river road, $50,157, and the solicitor says there is nothing left for the city to do but to pay the demand made by the county treasurer.

Another opinion has to do with the right of the city of Lowell to supply water to a resident of Tyngsboro. The solicitor holds that the city has no authority under the law, to do so. Commissioner Barrett has the temerity to question the soundness of the solicitor's opinion in this particular case. Mr. Barrett claims that the city has nothing to do with the water beyond the meter, that the city's authority stops at the meter and that the consumer can cur the water any place he pleases. It is only lack of the meter, he says, that the city can exercise its authority.

The third opinion handed the municipal council this afternoon answers the question: "Who has the appointing power of precinct officers?" The city solicitor says that the commissioner of finance has the power to appoint them. The opinions are as follows:

Office of City Solicitor,
Lowell, Mass.,
August 5, 1912.

To the Municipal Council of the City of Lowell:
Gentlemen:—

In response to a request for an opinion from the city solicitor relative to the legal propriety of the demand for payment by the city of the sum of $50,157, said sum having been demanded by the treasurer of Middlesex county as the proportionate assessment charged to the city of Lowell for the cost of constructing and building of the road on the north side of the Merrimack river in Dracut, the city solicitor is of the opinion that the city of Lowell is obliged to pay to the said treasurer, the sum of $50,157, in accordance with section 4 of chapter 31A of the acts of 1910, which is as follows:

"And the city of Lowell and the town of Dracut shall pay into the treasury of the county of Middlesex 50 per cent. of the said cost and damages of that part of the way which lies in the county of Middlesex 50 per cent. by the city of Lowell and 25 per cent. by the town of Dracut."

Since, therefore, the county commissioners, by its report, a copy of which is on file with the city clerk, said copy being duly certified by the

GREAT ENTHUSIASM IN CHICAGO TODAY

DELEGATES MARCH TO THE HALL

All Awaited Col. Roosevelt's Speech

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Despite the fact that Col. Roosevelt was expected to reach the convention hall soon after noon, delegates to the national progressive gathering were slow again today in reaching their seats. At ten minutes to twelve there were not more than 200 delegates on the floor. The galleries also were slow in filling.

A great crowd of spectators and delegates had remained at the headquarters' hotel to see the colonel start triumphantly to the convention or to accompany him on the trip.

The New York delegation marched in at 11:50 a. m. with a brass band in the lead playing the inevitable convention tune, "Everybody's Doing It." The delegates were armed with flags and banners to make the demonstration on the colonel's arrival to deliver his "confession of faith" a colorful one as well as noisy. As 12 o'clock approached the delegates began to pour into the hall from all sides. A number of the delegations had formed downtown and marched to the convention. Four or five bands came with them, and for a time the air was fairly blue with concheting tubes.

Women delegates to the convention again were a centre of interest in the convention today. Many of their sisters in the suffrage movement gathered outside the Coliseum, distributing tracts and emblems of the suffrage cause.

Temporary Chairman Beveridge reached the stage shortly after 12 o'clock. Ten minutes later the delegates sections were completely filled. As on yesterday the party representatives filled in the period of waiting with songs and party yells. Occasionally there came the long, low "moos" of the bull moose.

The women delegates in various state organizations stood up on chairs with the men and joined in the cheers and songs that kept things in an uproar until the gavel fell.

Suddenly the Colorado folks sprang a big sign and carried it about the hall. It read: "No more Guggenheim; no more Devine; no more Angel Archie for us. Down with the bosses."

As time wore on, it became apparent the convention would not be called to order until word came that Col. Roosevelt was about ready to appear.

The Michigan delegates started a new song which soon was caught up by the other delegations until practically the entire floor was singing. This is the way the song went:

"Follow, follow.
We will follow Roosevelt.
Anywhere, everywhere.
We will follow on.
Follow, follow.
We will follow Roosevelt.
Anywhere he leads us.
We will follow him."

At 12:35 Mr. Beveridge interrupted the singing by rapping for order. Rev. Fr. Speltz offered prayer. The galleries near the stage were crowded but at the farther end of the hall were many empty seats.

ACCUSED MAN HELD FOR THE GRAND JURY

He is Charged With Murder

OF YOUNG GIRL AT CARMEL

Several Witnesses Were Heard Today

BANGOR, Me., Aug. 6.—J. Sherman Gray was bound over to await the action of the grand jury at the August term of the supreme court by Judge Harding in the municipal court here this morning on the charge of the murder of 14 year old Naomi Mitchell at North Carmel on the evening of July 24. Probable cause was found after the state had put a purely formal case and the prisoner was remanded to jail without bail.

Charles C. Haves told of Gray's working at his farm the day before the murder and not coming back; George C. Mason, proprietor of the store at the cross-roads testified that Naomi Mitchell left it on the evening of the murder and that Gray shortly afterward followed her; Henry Murphy told of finding the body, and Sheriff White of the arrest of Gray at Brooks. Gray had no questions to ask the witnesses and made no statement. He was not represented by counsel nor were any members of his family present at the hearing.

THE ADAMS LIBRARY.

Was Presented by Amos Adams —There is a Great Demand for Books

One of the most striking monuments to the characteristic loyalty of the New Englander for the town of his birth and the home of his early life is the Adams Library, situated in Chelmsford Centre, which is one of the first 44 towns incorporated in Massachusetts.

Following the Revolution, which had so depressing an effect on business and social life, there came a period of unenvied prosperity and social advance. Quite naturally such a relief from the gloomy and unsettled condition of affairs was joyously welcomed, and fired by the spirit of eagerness for progress and social elevation, the people entered heart and soul into what was for them a new life and aim. The result was that the town of Chelmsford received a very noticeable impetus, intellectually as well as in a commercial way.

In January of the year 1824 the first library was established by the Rev. Mr. Packard. It was but a modest affair, but it was a step onward. This institution, which was known as the Chelmsford Social Library, persevered in its work for the literary and educational advancement of the town, until a short time ago, when in the year 1896 it was succeeded by the more modern structure known as the Adams Library.

The Adams Library, situated on the Boston road at the corner of Adams street, was a gift of Amos Adams and was erected about the year 1898. Mr. Adams, who was later engaged in business in Boston, was born in Chelmsford, and received his early education there. However, when he departed to take up his activities in a wider sphere, and one better suited to his ability and talent, he did not reject the memory of old associations. The Adams Library is a literary monument to his loyalty.

U. S. GOVERNMENT FAVORS DIAZ RULE

U.S. Marines Give Orders to Gen. Mena

TO DELIVER UP LAKE STEAMERS

Government Preparing to Take Offensive

SAN JUAN DEL SUR, Nicaragua, Aug. 6.—The American bluejackets and marines who were landed from the United States gunboat Annapolis at Corinto on Saturday night and who are now in Managua, have ordered General Mena, former minister of war and now leader of the revolutionaries, to deliver up immediately the lake steamers owned by the railroads which are run by an American company.

George T. Weltzel, the United States minister, has sent a note to General Mena advising him that the United States government recognized only the government of President Diaz.

A large quantity of arms has been brought from Corinto to Managua to enable the government to take the offensive against the followers of General Mena.

SAVING OF $6000 IN CHARITY DEPT.

Statements Were Issued Today by Mayor O'Donnell and Commissioner Barrett

Mayor O'Donnell and Commissioner Barrett gave out statements today having to do with the receipts and expenses of their respective departments for the first six months of 1912 as compared with the corresponding months of last year.

The mayor's first figure had to do with the Chelmsford Street hospital. For the first six months of 1911 the expense of the hospital was $32,358.59 as compared with $29,541.64 for 1912. "This is a good showing on paper," said the mayor, "but I do not want you to call it a saving, for to save in the charity department is really out of the question. The expense of the Chelmsford Street hospital for the first six months this year was nearly $6000 less than last year, and it would look all right on paper to let it go at that, but same. It would be stating facts, just the same. It would be no less, for the fact is nothing more nor less, for the fact is that we have not paid for the fuel and coal this year, and those two items would eat up the $5,752.05. We have paid more for food stuffs and merchandise this year than last and I think we have made a very good showing."

Our Dear Relief

The next set of figures read by the mayor had to do with out-door relief and His Honor again admonished the reporters not to use the word "saved," although the out-door relief for the first six months in 1912 was $5,260.55 less than in 1911.

"From the $5,260.55," said the mayor, "the sum of $1000 for coal is to be deducted, for the coal has not been paid for. There is no particular credit due me for the showing that has been made because it has been governed by conditions. We probably haven't done the same volume of business, and all I would say about it is that I think the department is being run as well as it can be run," and the mayor wanted it understood that he was not throwing any bouquets at himself, either.

The Water Department

It will be remembered that Commissioner Barrett made a six months' report on the five department and it was a report of progress. At the time he gave out the fire department report he said he would have a six months' report on the water department later on and he came out with the figures today.

The water department for 1911 opened up with a balance of $2517.63 brought over from 1910 and the department receipts for the first six months amounted to $195,955.66, making a total of $198,473.29. The expenses for the first six months amounted to $194,157.37, leaving a balance June 30, 1911, of $4,315.92.

The water department for 1912 started in with a deficit of $1907 and the receipts for the first six months amounted to $192,333.00. The expenses for the first six months amounted to $196,966, leaving a balance June 30, 1912, of $10,567.44, a saving of $12,191.12 for the first six months of 1912 as compared with the corresponding months of last year.

The interest charges in 1911 amounted to $22,114 as against $22,335 for 1912. The coal bill in 1911 was $754 as against $851 for 1912. "The increase in the coal bill for the present year, Mr. Barrett attributes to the fact that the Cook wells have been kept going almost constantly this year. The upkeep of pipes, gates and hydrants for 1911 was $7120.34 as against $15,136.68 in 1912, and Mr. Barrett says this increase is due to the fact that the department has had to pay twice as much for materials as was paid last year.

The water department pay roll for June, 1912, was $8390 as against $8069 in 1911. The amount spent on new wells up to July 1, 1912, was $25,359; new reservoir, $39,380; pumping station at the boulevard, $12,244. The interest charges for the month of June, this year, was $1610, as against $350 in 1911. The bills for supplies in June, 1912, amounted to $1,509.51, and for 1911, $437.52. The receipts in June, 1912, amounted to $4064.70, and for 1911, $4390.05.

FUND OF $50,000 BEING RAISED FOR DEFENSE OF LIEUT. BECKER

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—A police fund of $50,000 is being raised for the defense of Charles Becker, the police lieutenant charged with instigating the murder of Herman Rosenthal, according to the information in the hands of District Attorney Whitman last night. The money is being collected. It is said, by the so-called system which, aside from the murder case, is to be the subject of a separate investigation by the district attorney, who believes there is a corrupt alliance between the "system" and the gambling fraternity, founded on graft and blackmail.

DEATH THREATS MADE AGAINST GAMBLERS

Who Have Figured in Case Against Becker

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Death threats have been repeatedly made against "Bald Jack" Rose, Harry Vallon and "Bridgie" Webber, the three gamblers held at the Tombs on the charge of complicity in the murder of their gambling associate, Herman Rosenthal. All three prisoners are in a state of panic over fear that their lives may be taken. The three gamblers say they expect to be killed if they are taken through the streets to the court. It is reported that the prisoners have been intimidated by emissaries who have been smuggled in the West Side jail. The search today for the two gunmen, Harry Horowitz and Louis Rosenzweig is being prosecuted in several parts of the country. The state's attorney is also anxious to capture Sam Schepps, who, according to the confessions of Rose, paid over the money to the gunmen after the killing. Schepps received the money, Rose says, from Webber.

A sum of $50,000 is said to have been raised by police officers to defend Becker and if necessary a larger sum will be forthcoming. Much uncertainty exists as to who will be retained as counsel for the police lieutenant and a number of prominent attorneys are being considered.

Joe Tobin, a mounted patrolman who was attached to the College Point precinct shot and killed himself today. Worry over the present police scandal, although personality not in the least affected by his revelations, is supposed to have caused him to take his life. Tobin said before he killed himself: "A man might as well be dead as to be a policeman. Everybody thinks a 'cop' is a crook. Even if you get off the force people are sus-

KISS COST $140,000 WIDOW WAS BLACKMAILED

Bogus American Banker the Principal Figure in Deal and Was Arrested

PARIS, Aug. 6.—One hundred and fifty thousand dollars for a kiss, and for a kiss given unwillingly. Such is the price, the largest in history, paid by a young, beautiful and tremendously wealthy Parisienne, a widow, for a salute impressed upon her lips by a bogus American banker. But she was blackmailed out of that great sum, tricked into a compromising situation, she paid $140,000 for silence to a trio of international swindlers.

Arrest Leader
This astounding fact was revealed by the arrest Sunday night of the master blackmailer, who, at the moment, calls himself Pierre de Courvalles, but who has many aliases. Recently he has adopted the title of Prince de Sagan, the secondary title of Helle, Duke de de Courvalles, Anna Gould's husband, which he handed over to their son, Howard. When he was taken Sunday night de Courvalles had $100,000 in his possession; half a million francs, a great fortune in France.

Another member of the band is known to the police as Habris. He passed to the Parisian widow as an American millionaire, a banker, in carrying out their plot the third rascal masqueraded as a country policeman. They flirt at a Spa.

Not being in her usual health, the young widow was ordered by her physician to take the cure at Chateaufort, a spa in the Department of the Vosges, famous for its mineral waters. There, after a little flirtation, Habris made bold to introduce himself to the charming widow. He interested her very much with his stories about life in America and took pains to hint as delicately as possible that he was enormously wealthy and of the highest social standing. He became very attentive to the widow, took her to luncheon and dinner, sent her flowers and bouquets and his attentions did not seem disagreeable to her.

Finally at dusk one evening the bogus banker proposed to Madame that conduct against us; we must return to Chateaufort and appear in court."

More Money Quiets Him

"Will more money keep him quiet?" faltered the widow.
"The men went into a corner and whispered."
"Yes, Madame," said Habris, at last, "he reluctantly consents to be silent for $50,000 more."

The widow drew her check for $20,000 and with it the policeman departed.

"I sail for America tomorrow, Madame," said Habris, making his goodbyes. "The instant I reach New York I shall send you $140,000."
The next day she received a telegram from Habris in Havre. It told her in effect that he had changed his mind, that she had tempted him and must pay for it. The veil fell from the widow's eyes; Habris' dishonest action convinced her that swindlers had duped her. She went to her legal adviser, he informed the police and de Courvalles was arrested with the largest part of the band's loot.

BODY OF BOY

MAY BE IN CLAY PIT, FATHER SAYS

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—William Darcy of 42 Chilton street, Cambridge, whose seven-year-old son Richard disappeared from home Saturday afternoon, believes that the body of his child is resting in the treacherous quagmire of Gendreau's old clay pit, a short distance from the house. He demands that the city make search of that pit to recover his boy's body and to prevent another similar tragedy.

A search of the Gendreau clay pits, that lasted all yesterday afternoon, was unsuccessful, and Mr. Darcy is convinced that his son will be found in the abandoned pit, located in an open field at the foot of Fairweather street.

Mr. Darcy says that many loads of refuse have been thrown into this pit, making an apparently solid surface, nearly on a level with the surrounding bank. But underneath there is a shifting, sticky mass of earth, water and clay, through which a solid body will sink rapidly.

It is his belief that the boy, deceived by the appearance of solidity, wandered out into the pit, stumbled and fell through into the muck.

"I shall demand that the city of Cambridge drain this pit, not only that it may recover the body of my boy, but in order that the menace to the lives of others be done away with," said Mr. Darcy last night.

"I long have known that this pit was dangerous. Today we experimented and found that rocks thrown onto the surface of the rubbish would sink right through. There is no doubt in my mind that Richard is in there."

"The missing boy has been seen since Saturday afternoon. At that time a neighbor saw him leaning against a hydrant in the vicinity of his home. The last had been in the habit of taking walks about the neighborhood."

A theory that he was kidnapped was advanced, but the police have been unable to discover a clue. His mother is prostrated.

THE MIRRORS

ARE TO BE REMOVED FROM ELEVATORS

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—There will be no more prying before mirrors in elevators, either in the Bellevue-Stratford hotel, the city hall or the Land Title building, after this week. The order for the removal of mirrors from elevators at city hall went out yesterday, and will be followed by similar orders at the leading hotels and office buildings here.

The mirrors are being done away with as the result of numerous complaints made. Conductors in the city hall elevators claim that nearly every girl who rides in the lifts becomes so embarrassed in prying before the silvered glasses in the elevators that they forget what floor they want to get off at, and cause lots of trouble.

In the hotels and office buildings, the same holds true. The conductors of the elevators, who are instructed not to speak to the occupants, utilize the mirrors to flirt with fair passengers, with the result that they pass by floors while ogling the girls.

Another reason the hotels will eliminate mirrors from the elevators is that occasionally a passenger from the roof gardens becomes too boisterous and puts his fist through the glass mirrors, cutting his hand, and afterwards suing the hotel company. So the death-knell of the elevator mirror in Philadelphia has been sounded.

WON 150 MILE RACE

KENOSHA, Wis., Aug. 6.—Miss Margaret Lawler, 18 years old, won the 150 mile endurance contest of the Kenosha Motor Cycle club yesterday. Although the only woman entered, Miss Lawler carried off all of the honors, against a field of 21 men. Five men finished with perfect scores but their time was not as fast as that made by Miss Lawler.

THE BIG WAR GAME OPENS SATURDAY

First Move Expected at Stratford, Conn.

STRATFORD, Conn., Aug. 6.—The first tactical move in the war game, which will open on Saturday hereabouts, was made today when Lieut. Col. Grierson, commanding the Tenth United States cavalry which has been taking from Fort Ethan Allen, near Burlington, Vt., divided his forces, sending one troop from Meriden to Bridgeport, another to Orange which will be near the Cavalry headquarters of the Second brigade of the invading "Reds" and the third to this place for provost duty pending the arrival of other forces attached to the headquarters of General Bliss, who will command the manoeuvres.

The advance guards of the regulars who will be with the "Blue" army are arriving here and at Bridgeport to complete preparations for the concentration of troops, which would be in full force early Saturday. Scouts of the third United States infantry are among the arrivals under the theory that they are to look over the land and see that the "Reds" have not swept this far in the westward invasion along the line of the sound.

Under the theory of the war problem the army of foreigners who will be distinguished by red bands on their hats has swept down on Providence and the first division has been sent forward by forced marches to beat the retreating "Blues" to the Housatonic river. It will be seen on Friday night, however, that the "Blues" have won the race for the latter will have crossed the river and will hold the bridges.

PRES. TAFT AT WORK

On the Vetoes of the Tariff Bills

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—President Taft today began preparing his veto message on the steel, wool and cotton tariff revision bills soon to come before him from congress. His vetoes will be based upon his understanding that the bills have been drawn almost regardless of the tariff board's reports on those schedules. The steel bill probably will be sent to the White House first. The president today had not decided which he would first disapprove.

Chairman Henry C. Emery of the tariff board was at the White House today. He took there data which the president will use in condensed form in his veto messages.

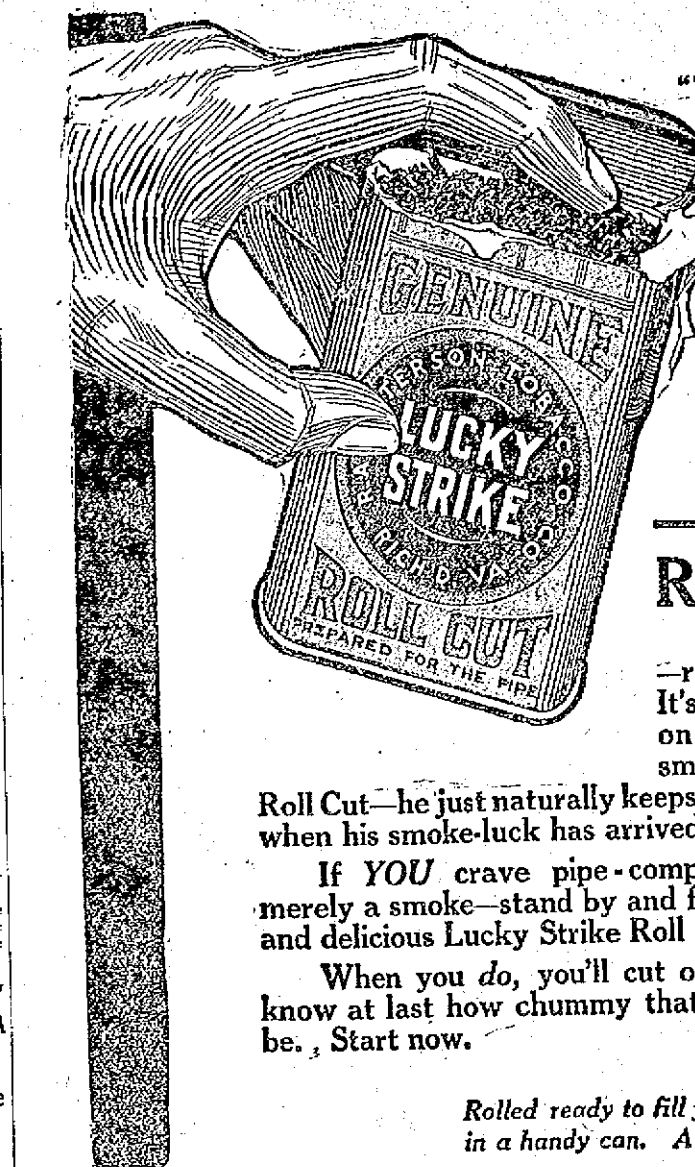

The iron and steel tariff bill today received the signatures of Speaker Clark and acting President Bacon of the senate, and went to President Taft for his inspection. This is the first of the tariff revision bills passed by the Democratic-Progressive alliance in the senate to reach the chief executive, and close friends of the president express the conviction that he will veto it, because no investigation of the industry has been made by the tariff board upon which to base a scientific tariff revision. An attempt by the conferees on the excise tax bill, to reach an agreement on that measure, was not successful.

After a session of over an hour, the conference committee adjourned until tomorrow. It was understood that demerits of the house have not agreed with the plans of the senate alliance on this measure.

Senator La Follette had but five progressives behind him today when he forced through the senate the compromise wool tariff bill, representing the agreement with the house between the rates of the La Follette and Underwood bills. The measure, which had passed the house last week, passed the senate by a vote of 35 to 23; and as soon as it is signed by the proper officers it will follow the steel bill to the White House.

Senator Simmons, the democratic tariff leader in the senate, made an ineffectual attempt to secure a vote Friday on the cotton bill passed by the house last week. Spurred on by the success of the democratic-progressive forces on the other bills, the house sent the cotton bill over at the end of the week.

Senator Penrose unfavorably reported it from the finance committee today. He did not oppose Senator Simmons' motion to pass a vote on the measure Friday, but the plan failed because of the demand of other members that appropriation measures and the Panama canal bill be given the right of way.

NEW TEACHERS CHOSEN BY THE SCHOOL BOARD

Committee Decided Not to Use Rev. Dr. Kennigott's Book in the Schools

At an adjourned meeting of the school board, held last night, Miss Florence Masterson and Miss Margaret R. Cassidy were elected teachers in the high school, in place of Miss Mather and Miss Kelly, resigned, and Miss Susan Barbank, substitute teacher in the high school, was transferred to the grammar schools.

Joseph G. Pyne was elected a teacher in the high school to replace Elmer G. Brennan, who failed of election at the June meeting. Mr. Pyne is a Lowell boy. He is a graduate of the Butler and high schools, and holds the degree of bachelor of arts from Holy Cross college, from which college he was graduated a few years ago.

Lieut. Thomas W. Doyle was elected military instructor in the high school to replace Capt. Colby T. Kittredge.

Some changes were made in textbooks. It was voted to add Metcalf and Fuller's series of grammars to the list of authorized text-books, for use in the grammar schools, to be supplied as the books now in use wear out. It was also voted to add the remaining numbers of the Gulick hygiene series; and Tar and McMurray's geographies were authorized as desk books for teachers.

At a recent meeting of the board Dr. Bagley gave notice that he would make a motion for the study of Irish history in the high school. He said last night he would defer the motion because he said he had not decided as to what text-book he would recommend.

Speaking of the introduction of Rev. Dr. Kennigott's book in the public schools, as suggested by the grammar masters, Dr. Bagley said the committee did not recommend the use of Dr. Kennigott's book either as a text-book or as a reference book. He said the committee decided it was not a fit book to place in the hands of school children or to be used by the teachers as a reference book. He said that the consensus of opinion, not only with the board but with the public, was that the book was a collection of statistics improperly tabulated. Dr. Bagley said he heard from a certain teacher that Dr. Kennigott's book in the Bartlett school was given notice that Mr. Durgin must not place one copy of the book in that school. "It may be a state school," he said, "but Mr. Durgin must remember that the children who go there are not state children."

Dr. O'Connor said he was in sympathy with the sentiments expressed by Dr. Bagley. "Dr. Kennigott's book," he said, "is unfit for teachers or children. The city of Lowell supports the Bartlett school and we have a right to say what books shall enter there. If Mr. Durgin or any other principal attempts to place the book before those children or on the teachers' desks, I will make the motion that the principal be dismissed at once, and Mr. Durgin better take note of this. Mr. Bixby is master of that grammar school. He is still under the supervision of this board."

Mr. Rogers took exception to the statement made by Dr. Bagley to the effect that the committee was unanimous in declaring Dr. Kennigott's book was "unfit." He said he was willing to be recorded as voting against the introduction of the book in the schools but he had made no adverse criticism of the book. Dr. Bagley

Aunt Myra, yesterday observed her 101st birthday at her home, 12 University road, Brookline, where she lives with her niece, Mrs. T. E. Hovey, and grandniece, Miss Clarissa Hovey. Mrs. Powell spent the day receiving her friends who came to wish her many more happy days. She declared that she had never felt better in her life, and that during the past year she had not been ill a single day.

Flowers, letters and congratulatory postal cards were sent to her from all sides, and though the observance was of a very quiet nature, the house was thronged with visitors.

Mrs. Powell is a great reader, reading the daily papers, current literature and the classics. She always keeps attractive, and every day takes a long walk. She declares that old age has troubled her only in one way—that she cannot enjoy a church service, owing to a slight deafness.

Milady's Toilet Table

By Mme. D'ARVILLE

"Face powders now offer inadequate protection. The hot sun burns and the skin of perspiration causes annoyance. Dissolve an original package of maytane in a half-pint of water, and rub a little on the face each morning. You will have a complexion protector and beautifier far superior to anything else. Maytane will not come off nor show like powder, and keeps the skin soft, fair and girlish looking."

"Many suffer from itching scalps in warm weather. A dry shampoo removes dust, dirt and excess oil; leaves the scalp clean, cool and refreshed, and the hair light, wavy and beautifully lustrous. To make a perfect shampoo powder, mix four ounces of powdered orris root with an original package of theox. Just sift a teaspoonful of this mixture on the head and brush it out thoroughly."

"Wild hairs are a disfiguring blemish to a beautiful face. They can be easily, quickly and safely removed by the use of delatone paste. Mix powdered delatone with enough water to cover the hair, apply and after a minute or two rub off with the skin and the hairs will be gone."

"If the eyebrows are thin and straggly, pyroxin should be applied with finger-tips, and they should be brushed each day to train them to grow into an arch. Pyroxin will also make the lashes grow long and silky."

SOME BEAUTY HELPS YOU SHOULD KNOW

The woman who prizes her hair shampoos it frequently in summer months with canthrox and in this way keeps it clean, bright and fluffy. A teaspoonful of canthrox dissolved in a cup of hot water is ample for a good shampoo, and after canthrox has been used, the scalp and hair are immediately clean, while the hair dries naturally and evenly. Canthrox is especially fine to restore the color and fluff to faded, "straw" hair, and overcomes that "matty" look so common in hot weather.

Many complexion-upsets would never happen if women discarded grease, pore-clogging creams and used a plain lotion, made by putting 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine into 1-2 pint witch hazel (or hot water), then adding 4 ounces spumina. This lotion is invisible when on—protects the skin from tan and freckles, banishes the oily, shiny condition, and other unnatural impurities, and keeps it smooth, velvety and youthful-looking.

What one mother says

Baltimore, Md., June 2, 1912. "My little girl's face was terribly itchy, and she had such a severe case of eczema. At first she started to break out with pimples around her nose and mouth, and then they would open and run, and get into large sores. They would burn and itch her, and made her very restless at night. I tried several remedies, but the sores did not heal, but got worse. I washed the sores with Resinol Soap and then put on Resinol Ointment. The first time I used it it gave relief, and in a week's time you could hardly tell that she had a sore on her face. She is now completely cured." (Signed) Mrs. J. Hezmar, 2011 Wilhelms St.

OLIVE OIL IN THE HOUSEHOLD

Next to bread, there is no other article of food which has so much value as pure olive oil. It is so easily digested that it can and should be used with nearly all our foods. Pompetan Olive Oil, from the finest groves in Italy, not chemically treated or adulterated in any way, has such a sweet, nutty taste that it improves the taste of foods and at the same time gives to the body health and strength.

Pompetan Olive Oil when mixed with the flour used in clam soup, cream of tomato, or other thick soups, imparts a most delicious flavor. In making fish cakes, or frying fish of any kind, use Pompetan Olive Oil instead of butter or lard, and the taste will be improved one hundred per cent. Sweet potato croquettes, cold slaw, macaroni and other dishes are likewise made tastier when this oil is used. By reason of its sweet, nutty flavor, it should be used in preference to any other kind for salad dressings, especially where fruit salads are served. In scrambling eggs, a little cream and olive oil put in the frying pan gives you a dish better than anything you ever tried before. Ask your dealer for a book of Pompetan recipes, and when once you try this oil in cooking, you will never do without it.

Pompetan Olive Oil is sold by druggists and grocers. Full one-half pint cans, 25 cents; full pint cans, 50 cents; full quart cans, 90 cents.

IN GREEK CHEMISE STYLE

DRESS OF DOTTED VOILE

On a tall figure this short tunic style is charming, but it would be trying to a more dumpy shape. The loose peasant bodice and short "chemise," as these abbreviated tunics are styled, are of gray voile, dotted with coral, a handsome Persian trimming in white, gray and coral colors forming a border pattern on the voile.

The petticoat is black satin, as is the sock with its flat pump bow at the back of the waist. The sleeves are hemmed with black satin.

WEAVERS REMAIN OUT

ADAMS, Aug. 6.—Fifteen hundred weavers and loomfixers remained away from the mills of the Berkshire Cotton Manufacturing Company here today because of the refusal of four operatives to join the weavers' union. About 500 operatives went to work as usual and the company continued operations in the department not affected by the strike. There has been no disorder in connection with the strike.

THE THIRD PARTY CONVENTION

SOME VALUABLE HINTS

To Housekeepers Who Practice Economy

Always buy soap, both for household and toilet purposes, in large quantities if you possibly can and store it away until required. This allows it to harden, and you will find that it will last almost as long again as it would otherwise do. Store candles in the same way, as they last much longer than if used when new.

To Dry Clean Gloves

White kid gloves that are not very badly soiled can be quite well cleaned at home with a mixture of finely powdered Fuller's earth and alum. It should be rubbed well in with a clean piece of flannel and then thoroughly brushed off with a soft, clean brush.

White Cloth

Ground rice is excellent for cleaning white cloth. It should be applied with a piece of clean, white flannel, left on for two or three hours, and then well brushed and shaken out.

To Save the Linen

If you want your linen to wear well try this plan: Instead of folding tablecloths and sheets lengthways, as is usually done, fold them the other way occasionally, as they last far longer if the folds are sometimes changed in this way than if always folded in the same place.

New Stockings

New stockings will last almost twice as long without wearing into holes if they are shrunk before being worn. Wash them in warm water to which a little ammonia has been added, then wring out and dry and you will be delighted with the result. Silk or lisle should be treated in the same way.

Gas Mantles

Don't throw away broken incandescent mantles. Crush them up into a powder, store in a small box and use for cleaning jewelry. It gives a splendid polish and does not scratch the surface of the gold or silver.

Artificial Flowers

Crumpled artificial flowers may be made to look quite fresh again by holding them over the steam of a kettle for a few minutes, then pull them out into shape and shake them until they are quite dry. This treatment works wonders with velvet flowers.

BOWLING RECORD BROKEN

The record on the Lakeview bowling alley was broken the other evening by Paul Flanders, the well known employee of the Bay State street railway. Mr. Flanders, who is known to every bowler in the city, is a frequent visitor to the alleys at the park and on his last visit to the alleys he put up the magnificent score of 142, on duck pins. In the string he made four strikes and one spare. The string was the best ever put up on the alleys and the large crowd that was on hand to witness the fun accorded the bowler a great hand.

CLARK FAMILY

CHIEF OF BANGOR POLICE ANXIOUS TO LOCATE THEM

The following letter which is self-explanatory was received by Supt. Edmund Welch of the local police force:

Bangor, Me., August 3, 1912.

Dear Sir: I am asking you to do me a bit of a favor in assisting me to locate any of certain persons whose names follow, and who are believed to live or at least have lived in your city for several years.

I desire information of the whereabouts of either William Clark, or of his children, James Clark, Margaret Clark, Rose Clark and Mary Ella Clark.

William Clark is the nephew of Mrs. Catherine Mahoney, formerly Carney, deceased, late of this city. William Clark's mother was Mary Carney and came from County Lond, Ireland. Mrs. Mahoney died three months ago in Bangor, leaving some property. Her stepson, John Mahoney, executor of her will, is one of my officers, and although he has undertaken to get in touch with the Clark people in your city, he has been absolutely unable to get a line on them, and all his letters have been returned.

While this request involves a courtesy a bit out of the ordinary custom of police departments, I have felt that as a favor to me personally you might find your way clear to help me out in the matter. Be assured that the same will be appreciated, and I shall be happy to return the favor to you whenever possible.

Very truly yours,

Frank H. Davis,

Chief of Police.

DEPOT NEWS

There were 40 immigrants arrived at the Boston & Maine depot on the Fall River train this morning. This is the first party of its size that has come this way for some time and they were met at the depot by the usual large crowd. None remained here, however, as their baggage was transferred, they took trains for Berlin, Lincoln, No. Woodstock, Utica, Lawrence and Haverhill.

The baggage at the station today was exceptionally heavy and the employees in the room were kept on the jump all the time. The baggage of A. J. Abbott and family of Westford, who just returned from San Francisco, arrived today and was then shipped to Westford.

The trains were on good time today, and all carried their tonnage. The usual large number left for the beaches, and as heretofore, the greater number went to Old Orchard.

TWO STORES BURNED

CULPEPPER, Va., Aug. 6.—Fire early this morning burned two stores and a mill in the business section here and threatened the town. After three hours' hard work, the blaze was extinguished. The total damage was $20,000.

The judges to officiate tomorrow night are John O'Brien, A. Dayon, Chester Young, James Fitzgerald and James Dwyer.

LAKEVIEW TRIO

SELECT JUDGES FOR DANCING PARTY

The members of the Lakeview Trio held a meeting at the hall last evening and completed arrangements for their dancing party, which will be held at the hall tomorrow evening. They selected the officers for the affair and also selected those to act as judges for the prize dances.

The judges to officiate tomorrow night are John O'Brien, A. Dayon, Chester Young, James Fitzgerald and James Dwyer.

GOOD TO KNOW

Fruit stains should be carefully looked after at this season before the linen is put into the hot suns, which always set all stains. They are removed easily by boiling water or a little salts of lemon without damage to the fabric.

To wash white or old valuable lace that has grown yellow baste it carefully on a piece of flannel and wash it with white soap and warm water, rinse carefully, then wet with cold water and lay in the sun. Keep it wet until it bleaches as much as desired, and it may then be carefully pressed on the wrong side of the flannel.

At this season if clothing is damp with perspiration it should be carefully dried before putting it into the hamper, as it otherwise may cause the other things to mildew.

Well Known and Popular Woman

Wins Health By New Treatment

MRS. LEACH CLAIMS NEW REMEDY QUICKLY CURED HER LONG STANDING ILLNESS.

Mrs. Marietta Leach Who Has Become a Strong Supporter of Var-ne-sis.

The story of what appears to be another remarkable case cured by this remedy Var-ne-sis which is being introduced at Dows' drug store was related yesterday. Mrs. Leach is well known and is very enthusiastic about the remedy that has produced so many remarkable cures in this city and vicinity. She said:

"I can hardly believe that I am at last cured of a stomach trouble from which I suffered from infancy. What I have suffered no mortal can realize, unless affected in the same way. I was terribly constipated, nauseated at the sight of food, terrible headaches, fainting spells, acidity of the stomach and all the disagreeable symptoms that go with a disordered stomach."

"I spent money continually, endeavoring to find relief, but nothing helped me for any length of time until I tried Var-ne-sis. To my delight I got immediate relief and a permanent cure was effected. I can now eat anything I want to without distress, sleep well, bowels move regularly, and altogether I enjoy better health than I ever have before. My address is 121 Marianna street, Lynn, where anyone may write or call on me, for I think this medicine perfectly wonderful."

The tremendous demand for this remedy has compelled Mr. Varney to place the remedy in every drug store in the country, and if anyone is unable to secure it simply write to his headquarters here. The doctor will remain at Dows' drug store, Merrimack and Central streets to give advice free every day from 10 in the morning to 6 at night.

MISSING DAUGHTER MAY BE IN PLYMOUTH

Detectives at Work on the Case— Mother Has Not Seen Daughter for 38 Years

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—The wealthy Massachusetts woman of mystery, now in New York seeking the daughter she has never seen or heard of since the child was taken from her arms 38 years ago, may have to come back to Massachusetts to find her girl after all.

Although Major Thomas L. Walsh of the governor's staff, the woman's attorney, who has hired detectives to work on the case, said on his return from New York yesterday that he felt the child would be found somewhere about New York, he admitted a possibility in a letter he has just received from a North Plymouth woman.

Lost for 38 Years

The mother, now well to do, is consumed by the one desire to behold her lost child.

Thirty-eight years ago this mother was a poor, young girl. She went to the old Homeopathic hospital on Cumberland street, Brookline, when the child was born.

The mother recovered, but was too poor to bring up a child. The people at the hospital told her others would take the child.

The mother became the wife of a wealthy husband and had two other daughters of her own. Then the husband died, and six months after with one of the two daughters married and the other away from home, the mother found she had not forgotten, after 38 years, her first born. Now a woman nearing toward 60, she yearned to have this child with her in her lonely and declining years.

The woman, who is said to be known and held in the highest respect went to Major Walsh and cried: "Find my child and I will disclose my name."

Worcester County Woman

Until the child is found Major Walsh will not explain who this woman of mystery is. She lives, however, in Worcester county, it is believed, in the vicinity of Fitchburg.

Major Walsh issued last week in New York. The first definite clue came Sunday through Mrs. S. E. Stiles, whose grandmother, Mrs. Mary L. Dell, was mother of the old hospital, where the lost babe was born Dec. 11, 1874.

At that time Mrs. Stiles, who now lives at 320 Washington avenue, Brookline, was a child of 12 staying with her grandmother at the hospital.

board and who dined stockings and did housework in order to make some return for medical care, board and lodging.

"It was I," she said, "I signed the mother, 'But go on, go on.'"

"I remember that this poor young woman had a baby," Mrs. Stiles continued. "My grandmother told me it was the child who had been born in the hospital. As soon as the baby came."

"Yes, yes," interrupted the mother, eagerly. "What did they do with the baby, my baby?"

Went to Asylum

"The mother was so poor she could not care for it," Mrs. Stiles went on. "So two nurses took it right away to a Roman Catholic foundling asylum, on Sixth street, Brookline. Sister Greene was in charge of the asylum."

"Thank heaven, my baby was in good hands," the mother exclaimed.

Mrs. Stiles gave the mother—a large, handsome woman—some further information, which Major Walsh keeps to himself for the present.

May Be Teacher

Mrs. Stiles' information may give further probability that a certain New York school teacher, aged 38 and of name almost identical with that of the mother gave at the hospital, is the lost child. This teacher was raised by a priest, who once lived in 14th street, but Major Walsh has not yet been able to communicate with another foster parent who may know the whole story.

But none of these probabilities prevents the possibility that the North Plymouth woman, who wrote this letter Aug. 3, may be the missing daughter.

Major Thomas L. Walsh, Attorney-at-Law, Boston:

"Dear Sir:—Having read an article in the Boston Post, a clipping, I send herewith, I take the liberty to give you the circumstances of my case."

"My parents that my name, William P. Clarke and Louise Clarke of Providence, R. I., now both dead, informed me that my mother's name was Nettie Schell and that she had never known me, and that my name at the time of my adoption was changed to Fanny Mabel Clarke and that I was adopted from an institution on June 13, 1874, when about three years old."

"My mother's name given in the papers of my adoption was given as Nettie Schell."

"If there is any connection between my case and the one given in this clipping I should be glad to hear of it. If not, I ask your pardon for the trouble I have given you, which I hope you will excuse on account of the wish of a child to find the mother who has never had the happiness to know."

Major Walsh further said that a man telephoned from the Boston Pressman's Union yesterday that he believed he was the sought for child. The mother, however, remembers the child was a girl.

To the major a letter from a Brooklyn woman looks best. It says in part: "I was told by the party that adopted me that I was born in the Homeopathic hospital in Brooklyn, in the month of May, 1874. I was left in charge of the lady manager, as my mother was too poor to take care of me."

CHELMSFORD

The forest fire lookout post on Robin hill proves to be a point of interest to many and last Sunday it was the destination of visitors to the number of 150, the largest number recorded there in any one day thus far.

Mr. J. F. Hammond is in charge and besides having a thorough knowledge of the business of the department, is gifted with an entertaining brilliancy of manner that makes him an ideal host.

Mr. Hammond has traveled extensively throughout the globe and acquired a treasure of information and interesting experiences which he is ever ready to impart to tourists to the hill.

Sunday was especially favorable to the visitors, as the air was clear and distant points could be seen with the naked eye.

Miss Rose La Chance of Waterbury, Conn., is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. H. Pratt in Aston street.

W. C. Ward and family have returned from a vacation spent at the Adams Chalet on Pack Monadnock mountain, Greenfield, N. H.

J. L. Douglas recently lost a valuable hound. The dog was in all probability killed by an automobile, as the animal was found dead in the roadway on Aston street.

Mrs. Edward A. Kemp and daughters, Charlotte, Pearl and Gladys Viola, with Francis Leo De Kalb, of Chelmsford and Geraldine Beatrice Conans of Alkton, are spending their vacation at Bangor, Me.

Advised letter Mrs. Sarah Danforth, Mr. E. D. Bailey, Mr. George, Miss Florence Jewell, Alice Parsons, Fred A. Pierce, Mrs. C. H. Richardson, Mrs. Edna Spaulding.

BRITISH LION

ANGLES AND NOT ROUNDED SURFACES ARE NOW IN FAVOR

LONDON, Aug. 6.—The British public has not taken kindly to the two lions that guard the King Edward VII. galleries, the latest British museum extension. To begin with, it is felt that these lions are foreigners; they are not British lions. No British lion would wear the Egyptian head dress called "nemes," that has been assumed by these two massive and angular brutes.

Our own lion, our totem beast, who has come to be as fondly and familiarly a creature as a bulldog, has a certain frankness and kindness in his countenance. The real article, the Trafalgar square lion, wouldn't hurt a fly, if it were an English fly.

As a matter of fact these lions are another instance of the archaizing tendency that has lately been manifest in modern English sculpture. The figures on the Medical building in the Strand show a very strong tendency to get behind the classic period of Greek sculpture to the early beginnings of the art.

And the Oscar Wilde tomb, the work of the same sculptor, is far removed from the prettiness and roundness that were once in favor.

The new work is grim, but it is also powerful.

MESSANGER BOY

GOT AWAY WITH $500

He Took Money to Buy Shirts and Diamonds

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—A resplendent youngster of 15 years stepped off the steamer from Maine which landed at the foot of Market street last night and was promptly nabbed by a detective, who had for him a warrant charging grand larceny. He wore knee trousers and diamonds, flashy shirt and a gold watch, and his name is Earl Hubbard of Lynn, Mass.

Earl came here from Lynn eight months ago to become a bank president and was nothing daunted when he learned that the road to the presidency lay through the humble position of messenger boy. Instead, he took the job of messenger, and when he got a chance also took $500 from the banking firm for which he was working—William P. Bonbright of 24 Broad street. Then Earl's taste for finery was satisfied. He bought all sorts of things.

He was given $500 in cash one day to deposit in another bank and the cash did not reach the bank for which it was intended. Nor did Earl show up again in the neighborhood of Wall street. Instead, he blossomed like the green bay tree and hiked for Lynn.

With him he took all this: Two knee-length suits at $25 each; a gold watch, $50; gold chain, $25; a gold knife, $20; a tie clip, $12; a diamond stickpin, $30; diamond ring, $75; $13 went for a suitcase and $20 for a Kodak. Then there were shirts such as Solomon never wore, and ties to match.

When he landed in Lynn with all this, Earl did not dare to go to his home at 35 Cherry street. Instead, he drifted around the town for a time and then went to Belfast, Me., where a Burns detective found him. He told his tale, thinking they were "got-rich" persons too. After a time they persuaded him to start for New York with them, and all three took the boat for this city.

When they landed, Detective Foley of the Elizabeth street station was waiting with a warrant. It was explained that the warrant was obtained because it was supposed that Earl was 17 years old.

He was only 15 years old he was taken to the Children's society and will be arraigned in the children's court on a charge of juvenile delinquency.

DR. GALLIVAN

SAYS THAT 77,931 SCHOOL CHILDREN ARE DEFECTIVE

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—Mayor Fitzgerald yesterday made public the details of the report of Dr. William J. Gallivan, chief of the bureau of child hygiene, on the examination of the 118,731 school children, of whom 77,931 were found to have physical defects. Of the number with physical defects about 51 per cent are of diseases and imperfections which today there are ample hospital provisions in Boston for treatment.

All that is lacking, the mayor said, is the sending or making arrangements to send children needing hospital treatment to existing clinics. The mayor added:

"The physical examination of these children and finding these defects is of itself of value in that it gives the exact situation and enables the city scientifically to plan for the treatment and remedy. If the necessary treatment does not follow this examination, the money spent on it has been wasted."

It is expected that during the coming year the necessary steps will be taken to have all defective children treated either at the hospital or in homes, and that this is done the important step to reduce disease in the coming generation will have been made."

WISCONSIN WOMAN'S FORTUNE

Freed From Pain, Weakness, Terrible Backache and De-spair by Lydia E. Pink-ham's Compound.

Coloma, Wis.—"For three years I was troubled with female weakness, irregularities, backache and bearing down pains. I saw an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. After taking several bottles I found it was helping me, and I must say that I am perfectly well now and cannot thank you enough for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Mrs. JOHN WESTLAND, R.F.D., No. 3, Box 60, Coloma, Wis.

Women who are suffering from these distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

There are probably hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions of women in the United States who have been benefited by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over 20 years ago by a woman to relieve woman's suffering. If you are sick and need such a medicine, why don't you try it?

The testimonials which are constantly being published in these advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound are guaranteed to be absolutely genuine.

LOWELL MOTORBOAT CLUB

The members of the Lowell Motorboat club held a clubhouse at the new grounds above the Tyngsboro bridge Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. A number of boats brought their owners to the place, including the cruiser owned by Harvey Gamble, the Savages with their large boat and Dr. W. E. Knapp with his motorboat. When the craft departed down the river about 4 o'clock the hydroplane of Fred Holmes and Dr. Knapp's motorboat were prominent in the lead. The hydroplane seemed to reserve her energy for a time, content to breast the swells from the stern of its rival. The pace was too rapid, however, and the engine of the "bird boat" became overheated and soon the motor craft was leading by a good margin.

A great advance is noticeable in the construction of the motorboats seen on the river at present as contrasted with those of a year ago.

The clubhouse was such a success and the members so enthusiastic that it was voted to repeat the picnic each Sunday till the racing is over.

For Times Like This Keep Toiletine

Accidents in the kitchen and home happen frequently. You scald your arm with steam, cut your finger, burn your thumb, get your hand caught in a drawer or door.

These, and many other little things, cause painful injuries which, unless attended to at once, may result seriously.

Woman Tore Her Waist for a Rope

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—Hannah Connolly, 28 years old, of Bridgewater, made two attempts to hang herself in a cell at the Chelsea police station with strips of cloth, torn from her shirt waist, yesterday afternoon, after she had been arrested with two women companions while on a taxicab joy ride.

As soon as she was locked in the cell the woman removed her waist and knotted three strips from the garment and knotted them into a string. At one end she made a noose. This she placed about her neck and drew it tight by pulling the other end of the string, which she looped through the grating of the cell.

Patrolmen Keating and Elmore discovered her slowly strangling to death. She was unconscious when they unlocked the noose from her neck.

The officers left the cell for a moment after they had revived her, and when they returned they found that she again had tied the string about her neck and was drawing it tight. After her second attempt a guard was placed outside the cell.

The ending of the joy ride in front of the police station attracted considerable attention in the neighborhood. It was about 2 o'clock when the cab drew up at the door. Out of one window protruded a foot. Two other feet and an arm hung out on the other side. From the interior came sounds as of someone slapping.

When the chauffeur opened the door the officers asserted to the street first Miss Connolly, then Lizzie Smith of 517 Tremont street, and last Lillian O'Hearn of 266 Shawmut avenue.

The three were booked on charges of intoxication and evasion of the payment of a fare.

LOWELL MOTORBOAT CLUB

The members of the Lowell Motorboat club held a clubhouse at the new grounds above the Tyngsboro bridge Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. A number of boats brought their owners to the place, including the cruiser owned by Harvey Gamble, the Savages with their large boat and Dr. W. E. Knapp with his motorboat. When the craft departed down the river about 4 o'clock the hydroplane of Fred Holmes and Dr. Knapp's motorboat were prominent in the lead. The hydroplane seemed to reserve her energy for a time, content to breast the swells from the stern of its rival. The pace was too rapid, however, and the engine of the "bird boat" became overheated and soon the motor craft was leading by a good margin.

A great advance is noticeable in the construction of the motorboats seen on the river at present as contrasted with those of a year ago.

The clubhouse was such a success and the members so enthusiastic that it was voted to repeat the picnic each Sunday till the racing is over.

For Times Like This Keep Toiletine

Accidents in the kitchen and home happen frequently. You scald your arm with steam, cut your finger, burn your thumb, get your hand caught in a drawer or door.

These, and many other little things, cause painful injuries which, unless attended to at once, may result seriously.

SUIT FOR DIVORCE

BROUGHT BY MRS. SMOCK

Burns Detectives Worked Up the Case—Woman Also Sues for Alienation

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 6.—Papers were served on George A. Smock, the wealthy lumber dealer of Asbury Park, by Special Deputy Sheriff Francis J. Clancy Saturday night in a suit for divorce brought by Mrs. Susan Wakeley, who names Mrs. Wakeley, a married woman of this city, as the particular cause of the trouble.

Mr. Smock's alleged undue intimacy with Mrs. Wakeley is the base of the action which follows a sensational arrest of the latter by Burns detectives, who say Mr. Smock was a late visitor at her house and remained there until 2 o'clock in the morning.

Other papers were served on Mrs. Wakeley in a suit for alienation brought by Mrs. Smock, who says she is injured to the extent of $10,000. Mrs. Wakeley is not wealthy, and if judgment is recovered it will probably remain on file. Mr. Smock is quite wealthy.

Mrs. Smock is also wealthy and pending the result of her divorce proceedings is not likely to call on her husband for support.

The papers were served on Mr. Smock at his residence, 511 Asbury avenue.

Mrs. Wakeley accepted service of the papers in the alienation suit on advice of her husband, who arrived in Asbury Park three days ago after divorcing that Mrs. Wakeley was in trouble.

The papers in the divorce petition set forth that Mr. and Mrs. Smock lived happily until Mrs. Wakeley appeared on the scene and formed the acquaintance of Mr. Smock, who was an elder in the First Congregational church of Asbury Park and until a short time ago was superintendent of the Sunday school.

The appearance of Mrs. Wakeley on the scene is set back seven years. Mrs. Smock, it appears, was a long time in the dark regarding her husband's alleged dereliction. When she became convinced of his infidelity, as alleged, she determined to procure positive evidence and detectives were employed.

Mrs. Smock states in her petition that she left her husband on July 3 last. She is now living with her brother, Harry H. Wakeley, in Asbury Park. The citation served on Mr. Smock calls on him to answer in the court of chancery on September 3. Mrs. Wakeley has twenty days in which to file an answer in the alienation suit.

The only answer thus far made by Mr. Smock to inquiries for a statement is "I know nothing in it." He became the subject of a church investigation along with the court proceedings.

To all appeals for a statement on her side, Mrs. Wakeley turns a deaf ear. She has absolutely nothing to say. Her husband, who is a New York bank employee, has nothing to say.

All that Mrs. Smock has to say at the present is set forth in her preliminary divorce papers.

Mr. Smock is a member of the lumber firm of Buchanan & Smock. He is one of the original settlers in Asbury Park. His firm has sold lumber for the construction of many of the costly houses on the Jersey shore.

Mr. Smock stands high financially in Asbury Park. Until the present scandal he has stood high in the church which his money helped to build and has been looked upon as an exemplary citizen and business man.

Mrs. Smock is noted for her charitable work in the First Congregational church. She has given her service freely to the poor and is one of the officers of the Old People's Home in Asbury Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Smock were married about thirty years ago. They have no children.

SMALL DOCKET IN POLICE COURT

Peculiar Windup of an Assault Case

There were several drunken offenders in police court this morning and they were promptly disposed of by Judge Enright. Frank P. Donohoe, an old-timer who promised to reform, was given a suspended sentence of five months in jail with a probation term of six months. Dennis J. Kennedy was given a similar sentence. John Monahan, who was also arrested for drunkenness, was given a chance to do better by receiving a suspended sentence of three months in jail.

Octave Teller was fined $6 and three simple drunks were fined $2 each. Henri Laporte, who was charged with assault and battery on a seven-year-old girl, had his case placed on file on consent of his attorney and the chief of police.

Morris Stollhoff got into a little mixup with Max Levin, and the result was that Morris received a severe beating from the hand of his friend. Morris got a warrant out for the arrest of Max, but when the defendant appeared in court this morning Morris withdrew his complaint and Max was discharged. While the complainant was assessed the cost of court, $2.40, which he paid.

Christini Mouski, who was arraigned yesterday on a charge of larceny of an iron bar and saw valued at $2, the property of James J. McManmon, and whose case was continued till this morning, entered a plea of guilty and was fined $6.

MEXICAN TROOPS ARE SURROUNDED

By Band of Indians and May be Tortured

MEXICO, Aug. 6.—Revolting Sierra Juarez Indians in northern Oaxaca have surrounded a federal detachment near Italian, according to reports reaching here this afternoon. Unless the troops can cut their way out of the trap they probably will fall victims of torture because it is reported here that the Indians have suspended personal guarantees.

Two soldiers who were caught near Italian were terribly tortured. The Indians have been in revolt several weeks. They claim they were not properly treated while negotiating with the government for settlement of a land dispute.

THE KASINO

The popular "old timers" program will be repeated at The Kasino, Wednesday night, and among the numbers to be played are: "Katie O'Connor," "Alabama Coon," "Manhattan Beach," "Fatal Rose of Red," "Then You Wink the Other Eye," "My Pearl's a Bawdy Girl," "Just as the Sun Went Down," "Who's Your Friend?" "Sweet Marie," "The Girl I Loved in Sunny Tennessee," "Follow the Crowd," "Tip Your Hat to Nellie," "Dear Louise," "The Girl That I Left Behind," "They're After Me," "I Don't Want to Play in Your Yard" and "The Man in the Moon."

Afternoon and evening The Kasino is open, and free concert are followed by dancing to music by the big Kasino orchestra. There is no amusement resort in Lowell like The Kasino.

Torelli's Dog and Pony Show with a coterie of beautiful ponies, a troupe of knowing dogs, a funny baboon and an undrilled mule play to a full house. Besides being the prettiest troupe of ponies ever exhibited, they are likewise the most accomplished, for they perform what are almost inconceivable feats under the guidance of their trainers. The troupe of trained dogs are as capable and agile as ever seen and lend not a little fun to the performance. One of the funniest acts of the show was the act done by Bessie, Maud's sister, the undrilled mule. The management offers to give a cash prize to any person who can ride Bessie—one minute as a kitten and the next as wild as a broncho. The show should furnish one of the most amusing programs that could be devised for the entertainment of the ladies and the children, and should turn out to be a regular children's week for every afternoon special features will be introduced for the ladies and children. Added to this wonderful circus there are two vaudeville acts introducing the Lucifers in a comedy dramatic act which was well received, also Mr. John Trop, in negro melodies and musical novelties. The matinees will begin at 3 o'clock and the evenings at 8.30 sharp, owing to the length of this week's program.

JIMMY MORIARTY WON HIS BOUT

He Got Good Lead Over Henry

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 6.—Jimmy Moriarty, the Lowell blacksmith, had a good lead over Kid Henry, the Troy colored fighter, last night at the end of their 10-round bout. Moriarty made excellent use of a left jab from the fifth round on. Henry's whirling climax fell a little short of even making it a draw.

While the fight was not an exceptionally brilliant one, yet it pleased the big crowd of spectators. The crowd went wild at seeing Henry beaten, for nothing has come his way up to last night that he could not conquer with half trying. Henry fought like a demon, but from the fifth round, after Moriarty had taken his measure, he was not in it.

Moriarty was cool and Henry narrowly missed receiving half a dozen blows that would have knocked him out had they landed fairly.

FOUGHT A DRAW

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Luther McCarty, the cowboy from Springfield, Mo., and Jim Stewart of Brooklyn, weighing respectively 200 1-4 and 203 1-2 pounds fought a draw in a 10-round bout at the Garden A. C. last night.

Stewart evened the lead that McCarty had gained by fast, hard work in the last two rounds.

McCarty's debut in the east showed that he was a hard hitting man with plenty of courage and power to assimilate punishment but totally lacking in the finer points of the game.

EX-PRES. ELIOT

SAYS CHINESE REPUBLIC WILL BE SUCCESSFULLY ESTABLISHED

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—Conditions in China are hopeful for successful establishment of the Chinese republic on stable grounds, said Dr. Eliot, president-emeritus of Harvard university who reached here yesterday, returning from a tour of the world in the interest of universal peace. He said America should be the first to recognize the youngest republic and he explained historical analogies between the two countries.

"Conditions in China are astonishingly like those in the colonies but China is worse off than we were," he said. "We had the advantage that our people were for the most part trained in local government."

"The Manchu empire is left nothing—no army, no navy, no system of laws, no courts, no police, no roads, no uniform system of taxation, no sure revenue and what railroads there are are of different gauges. Everything that we understand by the name of government must be organized."

"The western powers must be patient but they should be helpful."

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

This is "Lowell Week" at the Merrimack Square theatre and indeed the bill is one worth seeing, for it is entirely given by Lowell people and the various features are all headliners and at both performances yesterday, which were very largely attended the performers were given a real ovation.

Of course the greatest interest prevails in the performances of scenes from Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" which are ably presented by Mortimer Snow and company. The scenes, which include the following, were all carefully rendered and were the topic of much comment from the many patrons of this popular house:

The four scenes given, the balcony scene, the street scene, and the scene at the apothecary's shop, the duel scene and the tomb scene.

"The New Junior," a comedy sketch presented by Joe Harrington and Lucella Miller, is winning the admiration of the audiences, for the play is very interesting and artistically rendered. There is a good laugh from the start to the finish of this playlet and it was thoroughly enjoyed.

Another act which is very entertaining is that of Prof. Galloway, ventriloquist. The act is cleverly rendered and everybody likes it.

"Ye Singers of 16" made a distinct hit and probably won the greatest applause of any of the features. All were handsomely costumed as colonial ladies with powdered hair and bodices of soft colors.

Miss Harriet Moran, gowned in blue, sang "Oh, Beautiful Night," as the opening number of their series of popular songs. Miss May Whitely, gowned in lavender, sang "I Must Have Been A Dreaming," and Mrs. Mary F. Fiske, gowned in pink, sang "Because I Am in Love With You," and the act closed with a medley of songs, among them being "My Todolo Man," "Love's Old Sweet Song," "Lady Anselme," "Sally in Our Alley," and "That's the Fellow I Love."

The entire act is under the direction of Frederick G. Bond, while the mimicry which is also successfully rendered, is under the direction of Mrs. L. B. Perrin.

Walter Davis, who is a singer of wide experience, gives several good selections and his dances are also cleverly given.

The photo-plays were all interesting, among them being some of the very prettiest and most interesting films ever shown in this theatre. The views of Lowell, too, were of considerable interest.

THEATRE VOYONS

The feature today at the Theatre Voyons is "Officer Murray," a Selig drama depicting a series of true incidents in a policeman's life. It is a novel and altogether pleasing picture full of thrills and surprises, and one that will create lots of comment. Little Mary Pickford in "The Narrow Road," a biograph drama, will be welcome and an Edison comedy, "When She Was About Sixteen," will bring plenty of smiles. The musical program is excellent.

KENDAL WESTON'S PLAYHOUSE

To state what Kendal Weston will do with the old Hathaway theatre before it opens its doors as "The Playhouse," is simply superfluous. It may not be so changed, but there will be an artistic touch here and there that will make it different from anything preceding its event in Lowell, but Mr. Weston is a man of experience and knows that to get the people who appreciate the real thing, you have to give them the performance and the plays. The actors and the music must be perfect and without taking any chance of harsh criticism, consequently, Mr. Emile Lavigne has been engaged as concert master and it is a foregone conclusion that his septette of musicians, individually and collectively, will be as perfect as can be found in these parts. Mr. Weston is determined to render the highest standard of classical and popular music. The 17 actors that form "The Drama Players" all come recommended by their former managers and stars as exceptionally clever, while the plays are selected to suit the stage and the company of "The Playhouse."

The first four plays will be: "The Lion and the Mouse," "When Knighthood Was in Flower," "The Charity Ball," and "Before and After."

The prices will be in the range of all and with only Thursday and Saturday afternoon performances (two matinees), the subscribers will have to hustle for first places, and even August 26 a subscribers card will be issued whereby patrons can fill in the desired number of seats for each week and for the performance preferred. Through this card seats will be reserved, and taken one week in advance.

The racing program includes the American Horse Breeder $10,000 futurity, bringing together the greatest colt trotters and pacers which the country produces. Then there is the $5000 stake for 210 trotters, the $3000 purse for 200 pacers, and twenty-five other rich racing events. All the noted

CYANIDE FOUND IN HER STOMACH

Prof. Balch Reports on Billar Case

WORCESTER, Aug. 6.—A report received yesterday from Prof. Alfred Balch of Tufts College by Associate Medical Examiner Ernest L. Hunt, to the effect that an analysis of the stomach of Mrs. Emma Billar, wife of Max Billar, who died suddenly at her home, 11 Walnut avenue, last week, showed traces of cyanide poisoning, started the police at work again in an effort to determine whether the poison was taken with suicidal intent or whether it was administered by some person desirous of getting the woman out of the way.

Inspectors Burke and Thayer were assigned to the case and they brought the husband of the dead woman and her daughter, Elizabeth, aged 11, to headquarters to submit to a questioning. The father and daughter were warned by the police against talking to outside parties, but the stories told to the police yesterday differ from those told on the day of Mrs. Billar's sudden death.

Yesterday, the police say, the daughter told them that her mother became ill while her uncle, Emil Billar, was at the house and went upstairs to her room, that she tried to close a window and fell unconscious, that the girl and Emil Billar tried to revive her, and then her uncle went away.

She called Dr. Walter D. Bieberbach, the family physician, but when he reached the house Mrs. Billar was dead. Dr. Bieberbach reports that the condition of the woman's body indicated she died from poison, and he took possession of a half cup of coffee he found in the room. He has turned this over to the medical examiner who is having it analyzed.

It was also learned that Mrs. Billar was a frequent user of powders as a headache cure, and some of these found in the house have also been taken for analysis.

TURKS AND ARABS

PUT UP STUBBORN RESISTANCE TO ITALIANS' ATTACK

TRIPOLI, Morocco, Aug. 6.—The Turks and their Arab allies are offering a more stubborn resistance than was expected to the combined military and naval operations of the Italians who are concentrating their forces upon the small port of Zuzara, about 60 miles along the coast to the west of this city.

Bluejackets were landed yesterday from the Italian fleet to the east of Zuzara, which is near the Tunisian frontier, while the Italian warships kept up a constant bombardment of the coast as well as of the numerous castles.

An adjacent extensive Mussulman monastery is a conspicuous object and it is believed this suffered during the bombardment.

NEGRO THEATRE

TO PASS INTO THE HANDS OF WHITE PEOPLE

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—The only theatre in Chicago conducted by negroes for negroes is to pass into the hands of whites. The playhouse, which is located in the heart of the black belt on the south side, was opened some years ago by the late Bob Mott, one of Chicago's picturesque negro characters.

Employing none but actors of his own race he gave programs varied in character ranging from vaudeville to grand opera.

The enterprise prospered until Mott's death a few months ago. His heirs were unable to agree in the management of the theatre and have leased it to a white syndicate for a moving picture show.

BOXING, GOLF
AND ATHLETICSLOWELL LOST TO WORCESTER
BY THE SCORE OF 3 TO 0Errors Did It—Maybohm and Van
Dyke Were in Great Form,
Each Allowing 4 Hits

WORCESTER, Aug. 6.—Worcester won yesterday's game from Lowell, principally through the misplays of the Gray. The score was 3 to 0, and despite the errors of the champs, the game was one of great interest.

Maybohm was on the mound for Lowell and he pitched good ball, and his work was easily good enough to win. Van Dyke was on the rubber for the Busters and he was in fine form. Each pitcher allowed four hits.

The offenders in the error column were Shorty Dee, Halstein and Maybohm, and all the slip-ups figured in the scoring.

The three runs that represent the scoring for the day came to Worcester in the second and third innings. The trouble was started by Dee, when after he stopped a grounder from Crum he shot the ball over Halstein's head. Hase singled to right and Clements raced to third. A double steal was then pulled off. As Maybohm pitched Hase ran to second and Lavigne threw to Miller and Clements came in from third with the run, beating Miller's throw by a hair. The others in the inning were easy.

In the third Nye hit to Dee, who threw rather high, and Halstein misused the ball. Shorty hit to Maybohm and he threw to Halstein, but the collegian muffed it and there were two on the bases who should be on the bench. Flaherty hit to Maybohm who batted the ball to the bleachers in right field and Nye and Shorty scored. McCune sacrificed and Flaherty took third. Flaherty took a lead off the third corner and a sharp throw by Lavigne to Boutler retired the Worcester man. Crum ended the comedy of errors, fanning.

While Lowell had several good opportunities to score, they didn't so let bygones be bygones and get out and win today. It is expected that Boehling and Pfeffer will appear on the firing line in today's game. The score:

The Montauks and Monhegans played an interesting game in the Camper's league series on the Lakeview 133 in the first string. The second went to the Monhegans by a good margin and the third was captured by the Montauks. When the three strings were added it was seen that both had the same total. An extra string was necessary to decide the winner, and the Monhegans won out by one pin. The match was one of the best of the season, and was witnessed by a large crowd. The score:

The Highlanders have not tied a string to Pitcher Jack Quinn, now wearing a Rochester uniform. Quinn has been sold outright and will not be repurchased, but the Hilltop club has first call on all the Rochester club's players. It is generally understood that negotiations soon will close by which Shortstop Tommy McMillan and Outfielder Leifeld will become the property of the Highlanders when the International league race ends. Manager Ganzl of the Rochester club refuses to discuss the matter, but the Hilltop management is known to have some kind of an understanding. Third Baseman Paddock will be kept on the payroll and his release from the Decatur club has been purchased.

Manager Chance of the Cubs has been examined by a nerve specialist in this city and will undergo a new course of treatment. It is said that an injury affecting the spine has been discovered and that Chance will be cured in due time. The noted manager has complained of severe headaches, extreme nervousness and stomach trouble since the opening of the season. The pains in the head, said to be due to injuries from pitched balls, exacted a retirement from active play last year. Chance, it is said, will practically turn over the management of the Cubs to Joe Tinker for the rest

For names of pitchers this season, Lowell takes the cake. While all are not with us at the present time, among those who shot 'em over during the 1912 season are the following: Young, Zeller, Wolfgang, Maybohm, Kelsch, Pfeifer, Owens, Apogate, Randolph, Smith, and a few more. At the present time the staff is composed of some of the more peculiar names in the games.

The New Bedford Times says: Count Lynn out of the race for the rag. Lynn and Brockton will fight it out for fourth place. Lowell should win the race with Worcester second and Lawrence third. Keep this in mind on Sept. 6.

Shorty Dee, the Lowell shortstop, who started out like a house afire, has taken a sudden drop. In the Lawrence double header Friday he was off and again Saturday he was not up to the standard of a short fielder for a pennant winner. Lowell would welcome Loneragan's return to the game, and the management should try and arrange matters with Jersey City and Providence to have the little fellow return to the team.

Owing to the fact that John O'Brien informed Manager Gray that he was willing to transfer the Friday and Saturday games from Fall River to Lowell, the Lowell manager is arranging for the games here. If matters are adjusted satisfactorily, Fall River will come here Wednesday and remain for the rest of the week.

The New Bedford played consistently well throughout last week. On Monday they lost a 10-inning game to Lowell. While Tuesday's contest was lost in the first inning, since their return to the home quarters, the New Bedfords have outplayed the visiting teams and have won all three games strictly on their merits.—Exchange.

Terry McGovern declares unhesitatingly and unblushingly that Ness is the best first baseman in the league. "I am some first baseman myself," stated the modest Terry, "but I take off my hat to Ness. At the beginning of the season I stated that Ness was the best of the bugs covering first base and my judgment has been justified. The only thing I'm sore against Ness for is that he beat me out for the first sacker's job on the 'Homey Players' team. His book beat me, and I bear him no ill will."—New Bedford Mercury.

Well, Jimmy Gray's champions have tossed their way right up to the heads of Pieper's gang. The pennant winners looked bad the first of the year, but the bean brummet manager can challenge anyone now to say that he hasn't assembled some ball team.—Exchange.

Hogg is redeeming himself splendidly for that slump he took.

Howard has been doing some good clowning since he came back to Brockton from the big city.

Joe Briggs has taken to hitting long ones. He got a homer in the first Lowell-Lawrence game Friday.

With McCune back catching and a heady shortstop, Burkett's lineup would come pretty near being airtight.

Just to see how it seemed, the Champs went into first place for an hour or two, Friday, but couldn't stand prosperity.

Ten men stranded on the sacks telling an impressive story of lost scoring opportunities by Lawrence in that first game Friday.

Worcester has a gap of 10 points to bridge in order to catch up with the top team. That isn't much in view of the way the Busters are plugging along.

Burkett has made good three successive times now as a pinch hitter, on one of these occasions making a run himself. Yes, that "crab" is going back—about as fast as Ilious Wagner is.

Big Jack Ness is putting the maximum pressure of steam into his hits these days. One of the three that he got Friday off Kessler of Haverhill belted over the right field fence at New Bedford, and he careered around the bases. What big league team is going to gobble him up?—Exchange.

Down in Providence the fans have soured on Bill Shine, the former New England league pitcher. The sport writer of the Journal of that city writes: "The fans are getting tired of seeing Bill Shine's name in the Providence box. It was expected that Shine would have a great season this year, but he has failed to deliver the goods."

It's a good bet that the sport writers in Worcester do not expect their team to win the New England league pennant this year, for if they did, they would not be yelling about the poor work of the umpires on the Worcester grounds. Tom Bannon was in charge of the game down there the other day and one of the writers has a big kick coming and stated that if the league secretary, Jake Morse, wished to have a close race, he should keep poor umpires out of the circuit. In the old days when Burkett's bunch used to have things pretty much their own way all the time, the scribes never stopped to kick over such a little thing as "poor" umpiring.—Manchester (N. H.) Union.

Cy Young, for more than 20 years a prominent figure in baseball, announced yesterday that he had played his first game. The veteran declared early in the present season that he was satisfied that his days in the major league were over, but he has pitched occasionally for a Boston semi-professional club. In a game in Boston yesterday afternoon Young was knocked out of the box by another player, and when he took off his uniform Young declared that he would never do another. Cy has a farm at Pacific, O., and also has a comfortable bank account. He announced that he would return to the farm and make no more attempts to "come back" in baseball.

Garry Hermann, chairman of the National commission, confirms the story that if the Giants and the Red Sox meet in the world's series they will leave here on October 25 for a four half way around the world. Hermann admits that John McGraw, who originated the plan, has asked for the sanction of the commission to go ahead. McGraw has been told that everything will be O. K. if, of course, the Giants and Red Sox under the major league pennants this year.

BOSTON BRAVES NEXT SEASONHis Place With Detroit Will be Taken by "Wild Bill"
Donovan

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—The threat of trait players this season over "Ty" Ban B. Johnson to force Hugh Jennings, manager of the Detroit Tigers, out of the American league, has become a reality. The season of 1913 sees the finish of the famous "Ebb" as a manager in the Johnson circuit of baseball clubs. He is now working out the last three months of his Detroit contract.

Next season Jennings will go to the Boston National League club to succeed Johnny Kling as manager. He will also be allowed to purchase a liberal slice of the club's stock. He will have absolute sway regarding all matters pertaining to the personnel of the club and a free hand to spend all the money necessary to place a winning club in the grounds made famous by the late Frank Selee and the old-time Boston champions.

"Wild Bill" Donovan, the veteran Detroit pitcher, now doing duty the greater part of the time as a scout for the club, will become the Detroit manager, with a two-year contract, at something like $10,000 a year. The work Donovan is doing this year, combing the bushes, is merely a preliminary training for his regular berth next season.

These statements can be made with the absolute authority of a high official in the Detroit club, as well as with the knowledge imparted by a number of Tiger players. The deals have been pending for the last few weeks, and as far back as three weeks ago the slate had been fixed. The fear of causing disorganization in both clubs to be affected has kept the Detroit and Boston owners from giving the usual publicity to a change of this character. Jennings is said to have volunteered the information to his cronies, among them Charles Comiskey, that he would depose Jennings. The strike of the Do-least one, Samuel Langford, Boston's Tar Baby, appears to have a right to proclaim himself Johnson's successor, and Langford will annex Lil' Arthur's title as sure as the sun shines. Langford again whipped Sam McVey in 20 games at Sydney, N. S. W. Saturday night. Cable reports say that McVey took a sound thrashing.

This was the fourth meeting between Langford and McVey. They fought a twenty round draw in Paris last year. In Australia later they clashed in another twenty round affair in which Langford appeared to be the master, although Referee Snowy Baker decided in McVey's favor and nearly caused a riot. The third fight resulted in a clean cut victory for Langford, but McVey is said to put up a more stubborn resistance than on Saturday.

Langford's claim to the heavyweight crown was recognized in England three years ago when Johnson refused to live up to articles of agreement to box him at the National Sporting Club, in fact the Lord Lansdale belt, emblematic of the British championship, was offered to Langford, but he declined it with thanks, saying that he didn't care to be beaten by a forfeit. Hugh McVey, who since then called the Tar Baby as the world's champion, especially in view of Johnson's refusal to fight him in Australia.

While Jeannette already has claimed Johnson's title, it is conceded that Langford has a better right to it. Langford and Jeannette have fought twice and the best of the latter ever was a draw in twelve rounds on two fifteen round bouts and a twelve round affair, each carrying a decision with it, while in the garden last fall Jeannette was on the verge of a knockout when the gong ended the tenth round.

Langford steadfastly refused to fight Jeannette after their only scrap in Chelsea, Mass., more than six years ago. Johnson learned in that affair how Langford, then weighing but 138 pounds, could hit and decided to give him a wide berth. It is certainly right now that you couldn't hire Johnson to get into the ring with the Tar Baby for any money not even $50,000 for ten rounds. With Langford, therefore, defending the title the white hopes will have their hands full. What would Langford do to Palmer? Or Luther McCarty? Or Bombardier Wells? The answer is left to your judgment, but it wouldn't be wise to bet against the dusky Boston slugger. One thing in Langford's favor, it might be well to remember, is the way he lives and conducts himself. He is married, has several little Tar Babies at his home in Massachusetts and refuses to associate with Johnson, who, Langford says is not a credit to the colored race.

Cobb's suspension and Jennings' pacific stand in the matter, together with his controversy, only tended to show Johnson that a man with the interest of the league more at heart should direct a team so popular as the Detroit aggregation.

Frank Navin, the president, was given a quiet tip to get rid of Jennings. Navin is a strong executive and a far-seeing baseball magnate. He saw that 15-year contract Johnson has as president of the American league starting him in the face, and quickly made up his mind to side with Bancroft.

Johnny Kling had failed in Boston, both as a manager and diplomat, as far as his players and the press was concerned. Jim Gaffney of New York has purchased John M. Ward's Boston stock, and now has absolute control of the club. He had Jennings in mind, having been tipped off to the change in American league affairs by Frank Farwell. Jennings was offered the place as soon as Ward was out of the club. When Gaffney gained control Jennings was told that the deal was closed.

"Wild Bill" Donovan, the new leader of the Fighting Tigers, has been a Detroit pitcher for the last nine years, coming from the Brooklyn club in the days of warfare between the American and National leagues. His early training was received around Philadelphia, and his first real minor league work was with Providence of the old Eastern, now the International league.

He has always been ranked as one of the really modern pitchers. In the three years Detroit won the pennant Donovan and George Mullin were the mainstays of the club in the box. Donovan has a wonderfully magnetic mannerism and is extremely popular with the players. He has marked executive ability, good baseball sense and is a shrewd business man. He is the logical man to be selected by President Navin as Jennings' successor.

KEEPING OUT THE PLAGUE

"The Cause of the Trouble"

The Old Town of San Juan, Porto Rico, Where the Plague Broke Out

SWAT the rat! That is to be the new slogan of all that portion of the American public that can be induced to enlist in the latest crusade in behalf of good health. Already it is the watchword of the officers and medical experts of Uncle Sam's Public Health Service and they are going after the rodents more energetically even than they have in the case of that other menace, the fever-laden mosquitoes. That the public is being appealed to to co-operate in the "Swat the Fly" campaign which has been in progress throughout the country these past few years. With that evidence of what the public can accomplish when it makes up its mind to really wage war on a pest, it is but natural that the officials should be anxious to secure civilian volunteers to help them exterminate the rats.

All this activity is the result of the reappearance of the bubonic plague as a menace to the people of the United States. Most of our readers no doubt remember what a wave of uneasiness swept over the entire country when the plague made its appearance in San Francisco about 10 years ago, and when it reappeared on the Pacific Coast several years later. However, in neither instance were the people of the whole country so stirred by the danger of the dread disease as when the plague monster stalked its head in Porto Rico a few weeks ago and shortly spread to Havana.

For one thing, this was the first appearance of the plague at points so near to the east coast of the United States. It having never previously been nearer to us than the Azores. But here we have an outbreak originating in Porto Rico, one of our new possessions, and a country regularly under the jurisdiction of resident officers of the United States Public

Dr. Rupert Blue, Surgeon General, who is leading the fight against the plague

U.S. Medical Officer Examining Natives in the West Indies

Health and Marine Hospital Service.

These circumstances are clearly sufficient to justify a declaration of war against all rats—for rats are primarily responsible for the plague—but there is another factor which was even more largely instrumental in bringing about the result. This was the recent appointment of Dr. Rupert Blue as Surgeon General of the Public Health Service. If the President could have foreseen exactly what has happened with reference to the plague his selection of Dr. Blue for this responsible post would have appeared nothing short of an inspiration, for Dr. Blue is perhaps the greatest living expert on the bubonic plague in its relation to the American people.

He had charge of the operations in the eradication of the plague in San Francisco in 1903-04 and was again placed in charge when the plague reappeared there, having in the meantime served through the most memorable epidemic of yellow fever in New Orleans. But even these experiences do not represent the sum total of the training of this expert, who is little more than forty-five years of age.

The last detail of Dr. Blue prior to his appointment this year as Surgeon General was a fitting prelude to the great work which he just now finds awaiting his hand. It was a term of service as special sanitary adviser to the Governor and Territorial Board of Health of Hawaii, the object being to so improve sanitary conditions as to minimize the possibility of the introduction of yellow fever and plague into Hawaii after the opening of the Panama Canal.

The methods which are employed today for keeping out the plague are virtually the same as those which were employed at San Francisco, but with such alterations and improvements as experience has suggested. Keeping out the plague is synonymous with keeping out rats, for it is the rats which travel on ships and which come ashore when a ship makes port that are responsible for the spread of the disease. This will explain why it was that Surgeon General Blue, as soon as the situation grew serious in Cuba and Porto Rico, issued an order to the medical officers and surgeons at all quarantine stations of our coast to fumigate throughout the destruction of rats not only vessels arriving from the two infected islands, but all vessels arriving from any South American ports (including the river ports) or from anywhere in the West Indies. The rats which act as spreaders of the plague do not, in most instances, communicate the disease directly to human beings. Rather it is communicated to fleas, which in turn carry the disease to human beings. However, the fact that the plague must be communicated second hand does not seem to retard its progress, once it has gained a foothold. Similarly, it is the brown rats which live on shipboard that are primarily the transmitters of disease, but once let any of these plague-infested brown rats come ashore and the disease will be quickly disseminated by the black rats—the familiar household pest—although under normal conditions the nomadic brown rats are the bitter enemies of the black rodents that will not go to sea. In California it was found that plague infection existed among the ground squirrels.

To some persons who do not fully realize the gravity of the menace from bubonic plague it may seem that heroic measures are resorted to by the Public Health Service, but a measure that killed 86,000 persons in India in three months last year is obviously not a danger to be treated lightly. Moreover, the government experts feel that should the plague ever gain a foothold in the southern part of the United States—the section to which it might naturally be expected to spread from the West Indies—the percentage of deaths among the colored population and the poor whites would be appalling.

Surgeon General Blue declares unqualifiedly that if rats be kept out and he is equally emphatic in the assertion that it is possible to rid a city of plague infection in a short time by the systematic destruction of rats. Of course, as has been explained, human cases of the plague usually result from the bites of infected fleas, but the situation is aptly expressed in the little rhyme:

First, plague in rats,
And then in fleas;
Then plague in man
And quick decease.
No rats, no fleas,
No plague disease.

The Federal rat hunters in their war of extermination employ traps and poisons on a large scale. At the same time they carry on attacks against the rats' food supply and habitations. Especial attention is bestowed upon ships because history shows that plague follows almost exclusively the lines of maritime commerce and with but few exceptions the prevalence of disease is restricted to coast regions. Many well-informed persons have been under the impression that rats do not come ashore from vessels, but one thing that has been definitely established by our latter-day patrol against the plague is that the rodents do come ashore in numbers from vessels engaged in foreign and domestic commerce.

Uncle Sam's experts who have lately been looking into the matter especially sharply say that the rat guards on the hawse and lines of ships can seldom be depended upon to do all that is claimed for them and there is also danger in fenders and gangplanks. Hence extra precautions are being taken to prevent the escape of rats from vessels. Ships coming to the United States from plague infected ports have to undergo a double fumigation—upon departure from the plague ridden country and upon arrival in the United States. This is deemed essential inasmuch as, with all due precaution, some of the rats on board are likely to elude the first onslaught. At plague ports, such as those in Porto Rico, where the American medical officers have authority, vessels are usually not permitted to lie at a dock, lie to the shore or anchor at any place where there would be a chance of rats getting aboard. Or, if lines are led to the shore, they must be freshly tarred and staked with inverted cones or other devices to prevent rats passing to the ship.

Not only the ships themselves, but all cargo and even the passengers and crew are subject to precautionary measures at all American ports in our present-day effort to bar out the plague. One of the most recent general orders issued from Washington instructed medical officers at our various quarantine stations to the effect that when vessels arriving from South American and West Indian ports carried perishable cargoes such cargoes should be removed to the wharf or transferred to lighters ere the ship was fumigated to exterminate rats. A medical inspection of every incoming ship is a feature of the arrival of every ocean-going craft at any of our ports. Indeed the governmental medical officer is the first man to board the ship after the pilot. Under ordinary conditions, if the officers of the ship are able to show a clean bill of health the medical inspection may be over in a comparatively short space of time and the ship allowed to proceed on her way to her dock. But if the craft is coming from a plague-infected port or a port that is under suspicion the situation is very different. Then the vessel is "held up" at quarantine (as the medical inspection outpost at the entrance to every harbor is termed) and passengers and crew who have been exposed to the infection of plague are not allowed to disembark until seven days have elapsed from the time of exposure. It was to avoid being thus held up in New York that many passengers from Cuba and Porto Rico went on board vessels at San Juan and Havana several days prior to the dates set for the sailing of the respective craft. Thus they were enabled to be "under observation" for the required seven days and yet avoid prolonged delay in landing after the arrival of the vessel in New York. If any suspicion attaches to the baggage of passengers from the plague zone it is disinfected before it is turned over to the owners when they land in this country.

Although the plague made its appearance in Cuba and Porto Rico in the early summer, the late summer and autumn is accounted by experts the season of greatest danger from bubonic plague. This is explained by the fact that the flea does not breed in the cold, wet months and it is at such seasons that there are fewest upon the rats. In January a score or more rats may be examined without, as a rule, discovering a single flea, but in September when the menace from the plague is supposed to be at its greatest an average of thirty fleas will be found on every rat ready to transfer the dread disease to human beings.

NINJI NOVGOROD is an important link between two great continents, a point of contact between Asiatic wealth and European industry, and where once a year these two meet at the great fair held there for their respective products—a fair which for novel and historic interest has, perhaps, no counterpart in the world. Long before Columbus discovered America Russia was holding her great market at Ninji Novgorod, for history tells us that the first fair was held there in 1366. Since that time each year men and women have gathered from all parts of Europe and Asia to offer their wares at this beautiful and semi-oriental place.

To understand just why this spot should be so favored as a world's market one need only study its remarkable location at the confluence of the Oka and Volga rivers—the two great waterways of Russia, the latter of which has a course of twenty-three hundred and twenty miles, and the former eight hundred and fifty miles. The market place is in the very center of that water communication which joins the Caspian and the Black Seas to the White Sea and the Baltic. Ninji is also the terminus of the railway from Moscow, and this railway brings the market in communication with all the lines of Russia and the Western world, while the Volga and its tributary, the Kama, leads to Perm and the pass of the Ural Mountains and the vast region of Asia. The city proper has about fifty thousand inhabitants and is most picturesquely located. The main part is on a high bluff overlooking the river, with a ridge of streets along the river banks and houses stuck here and there like swallows' nests against the hill. There is a Kremlin midway between the river and the top of the bluff, a citadel with battlemented walls and medieval towers and a score of Byzantine churches, whose gold cupolas stand in exquisite outlines against the clear, cloudless sky. On the slopes and in the wooded ravines are gardens with coffee houses and cafes where popular entertainments are given and thousands gather to enjoy themselves and forget the business cares of the day. The view from the walls of the Kremlin to the American is a happy blending of the curious with the magnificent, for the eye feasts upon miles upon miles of beautiful plains which stretch like a boundless ocean of green to the far distant horizon, forest and field dotted here and there with the clustered domes of the Russian churches. The two broad rivers bearing tribute from the wild regions of the North and South are covered with little steamers and numberless queer looking boats and lighters, while the fair—a perfect maze of streets—spreads out at your feet just beyond the great pontoon bridge. The townspeople themselves have little to do with the great market except to assist in feeding the overflow crowds who come to buy and sell.

The fair covers eight miles and is a town in itself as it has its own hotels and lodging houses, theatres, eating and gambling houses, its own bridge

RUSSIA'S GREAT FAIR—the Largest in the World

Fruit Vendory on the Outskirts of the Fair and even its own church and chapels. The church belonging to the fair is particularly beautiful and was built to mark the meeting place of the two great rivers. Its domes are heavily coated with gold and may be seen for miles, while the interior is exquisitely decorated. The ground occupied by the fair buildings is low and marshy, and the paving, for it consists of hard, sharp, uneven flint stones which stick up through the dust or mud and make travel uncomfortable for man and beast. The odor from these mud holes is nauseating, yet the fair with all its discomfort is worth traveling miles to see, for there is nothing like it on earth. The business is conducted on Eastern principles. There is no fixed price—everything is worth what it will fetch. A Tartar will ask twice as much as an article is worth, and there is a sort of fascination in bargaining with him even though in the end you pay him far more than the article is worth. The women vendors are even worse. They have a dozen different prices for each article, especially the Russian lace made by the girls from the Ural Mountain districts. Everywhere one hears the click of the abacus-wooden beads on wires, the instrument used in counting money in the Orient.

The cheaper goods are in the main bazaar and the poorly lighted buildings are filled with merchandise of every description—German toys, cotton goods of every variety, umbrellas, Turkish silks, Persian carpets, laundry jewelry and the famous Orenburg wool shawls, which are so soft they may be drawn through a lady's bracelet. Whole streets are devoted to samovars—the curious looking charcoal water heaters so common in Russian homes and used for keeping the water heated for tea. Samovar, which literally means "self-heater," is a vessel made of brass lined with tin with a tube in the center. In fact, it resembles the English one except that red hot clinders are placed in the center tube instead of the iron heater. The charcoal or brasse has to be lighted in a back kitchen or courtyard, for if lighted in a room the carbonic acid proceeding from it would be dangerous. It has no advantage over the English one except that it can be easily heated in the open air. As there is a samovar in every Russian home from hut to palace these articles are readily sold. It is the quantity more than the quality which attracts the visitor to Russia, and this is especially true of the big fair, for although there are expected for sale many fine and costly articles, what one really marvels at is the great variety of goods in enormous quantities spread out at a hundred different points to attract the attention of the passerby. You may walk for hours along yards and sheds filled with Siberian iron, you pass shop after shop filled with malachite and lapis-lazuli and various kinds of gold and silver work, precious stones from the Caucasus cut with exquisite taste, Russian boots and slippers fill a square or more, and a whole street is devoted to the sale of ikons—the curious religious emblem to be found at every turn in the Land of the Bear. Fruits are sold on the waterfront and hundreds of bags of raisins are piled up along the wharves ready to be sent to the far North by the river boats. There is a Chinese row where beautiful silks are displayed together with excellent specimens of carved ivory. During recent years the Chinese trade has fallen off, but there is still enough of it left to add color and beauty to the fair.

The greatest sight, however, is the display of furs, for no country produces such a wealth of furs as the Land of the Bear. Several acres are devoted to fur shops of every description. There are hundreds of bear skins, ranging in size and beauty from the huge polar and grizzlies to the soft, shiny coats of the culs of the small black bear. Leopard and tiger skins are plentiful, and there are thousands of lynx and wolf skins, cart loads of tiny ermine and Russian squirrels and bane upon bane of furs. In one place one may actually walk for three squares between piles of precious sable skins. Persian lamb skins are plentiful, too. The price of furs is like everything else—not fixed. Good furs, however, can be purchased at about half the price paid in the United States, but it is unwise to purchase made-up furs in Russia for wear in the United States, as they are entirely too heavy, as they must be interlined several thicknesses, the winters in Russia being long and severe. To buy curd skins to advantage one must be a good judge of the article, besides being compelled to pay twenty per cent. duty for the privilege of bringing them to the United States. Raw skins are admitted free, but these will change color and prove a disappointment. The fur display at Ninji is one long to be remembered, especially by the American. Thousands of dollars' worth of sables and Persian lamb skins come to the United States every year, being purchased by German agents of American furs.

Going from one part of the fair to the other the visitor wades through mire or rides in a rattling drogky and getting from place to place is no easy matter. There are few new patterns at Ninji and not a great show of Orientalism except in the wonderful carpets and rugs set out for inspection in the floor covering section. Occasionally there is a dash of the picturesque when a couple of Russian officers with their clanking swords and spurs walk through the bazaar. Aside from this the makeup and dress of the vendors and buyers at Ninji are commonplace. People come from all parts of Russia and often purchase supplies to last for the entire year, traveling by the filthy Russian trains or by the slow naphtha-driven Volga boats. The fair, too, is often the meeting place for families who see each other only once a year, while the market is in progress. Big Russian merchants gather in the public squares and in the cafes to discuss business and drink tea. This tea, by the way, is the best in the world and comes by caravan from Khabta, the city on the border between Asiatic Russia and the Celestial Empire. It is taken from glass tumblers, as the Russian rarely uses a cup for his tea. From fifteen to twenty of these glasses of tea are frequently consumed by a Russian merchant at Ninji in a day. Milk is not used, as it is claimed that milk spoils the flavor of the tea. A little lemon or sugar is used. Although many of our American physicians claim that the excessive use of tea produces rheumatism, the Russians rarely suffer from this ailment, yet they consume more tea than any other race. The Russian merchants are the really big men of the land and are seen at their best in Ninji. While the fair is at its height there is a continual noise—a perfect din of rattling drays and drogkies, the bumpy-bump of a rickety street car which runs on an uneven track, and the loud yelling of the stevedores as they load up the river boats. In the very heart of all this racket is the home of the Governor-General, who during the fair occupies rooms in the main bazaar building.

Police are plentiful and they are kept busy watching for aggressive beggars and pickpockets and settling disputes between drivers. Religious shrines are at every turn and it keeps the people busy bowing and crossing themselves as well as dropping a few kopeks into the little box to be found wherever there is an ikon. Frequently a driver who is swearing furiously at another will pause before one of these ikons, reverently cross himself and then begin swearing all over again. Good Russian cooking may be obtained at the Bazaar restaurant. The famous cabbage soup with its sour cream accompaniment is served every day as well as a fish known as "sturgeon." This fish is caught in the Volga river, and to be properly prepared must be alive when put in the cooking pot. The bones are soft and the meat of the fish delicious. It is regarded as a delicacy in Saint Petersburg owing to the difficulty of keeping it alive until it reaches there, and one fish will often bring eight dollars. Smoking is not allowed except in private homes and in a tent erected on the fair grounds for this purpose. Many of the buildings are wooden and the fear of fire has been the cause of this wise precaution. The fair opens the latter part of July, but very little business is done until the middle of August. The rush continues for about three weeks and the fair closes about the middle of September. After the unsold goods are stored up, tents are struck, flags are furled, hotels are barred up, the Governor-General goes back to his residence in the upper town, the pontoon bridge across the river is removed and the place is left to take care of itself. In early autumn the river rises and the fair ground is soon under water. This freeze by the first of November and Ninji's great market places become a vast field of ice.

GRAY CONFESSES HE KILLED GIRL

He Says That He Cut Child's Throat With a Knife and Wanted to Kill Himself

BANGOR, Me., Aug. 6.—A confession that he committed the murder of Naomi Elita Mitchell at North Carmel on the night of July 24 was made to Sheriff T. Herbert White in the presence of witnesses this afternoon by J. Sherman Gray, who earlier in the day was bound over to the grand jury on the charge of murder.

Gray told his story, apparently without emotion, his only feeling being seemingly for his aged mother. Gray told how he had followed little Naomi Mitchell after she left the Mason store on the night of July 24. He cut her into the woods and attempted to assault her. When she resisted he tied her hands behind her back, took his jack knife and cut her throat. He stated that he did not cut her body until after he had cut her throat. He threw the knife away after arriving in Monroe. He stated that he did not know how he happened to take his knife out of his pocket. After he cut the girl's throat he wanted to kill himself but did not know how to do it. He said he did not realize what he had done until afterward and had intended to go back to Carmel and give himself up as soon as the matter had quieted down a little. Gray wants to be confined in an insane asylum and said that he desires to tell the whole truth and get as light a sentence as possible. He concluded his statement by saying: "I killed Naomi Mitchell by cutting her throat with a jack knife on the night of July 24."

ACCUSED MAN HELD FOR THE GRAND JURY

He is Charged With Murder

Several Witnesses Were Heard Today

BANGOR, Me., Aug. 6.—J. Sherman Gray was bound over to await the action of the grand jury at the August term of the supreme court by Judge Harding in the municipal court here this morning on the charge of the murder of 14 year old Naomi Mitchell at North Carmel on the evening of July 24. Probable cause was found after the state had put in a purely formal case and the prisoner was remanded to jail without bail.

Charles C. Hayes told of Gray's working at his farm the day before the murder and not coming back. George C. Mason, proprietor of the store at the cross-roads testified that Naomi Mitchell left it on the evening of the murder and that Gray shortly afterward followed her. Henry Murphy told of finding the body, and Sheriff White of the arrest of Gray at Brooks. Gray had no questions to ask the witnesses and made no statement. He was not represented by counsel nor were any members of his family present at the hearing.

LOWELL RUNNER TRAINING HARD

G. H. Goddard Will Run at Lynn Saturday

George H. Goddard, Lowell's well known long distance runner who has a number of matches on for the near future is training hard for all the events. He will start at 5 o'clock tonight and circle the outside of the South common 12 times, which he says will make up 10 miles. He plans to repeat this stunt several times before his next race, which will be at Lynn on Saturday afternoon.

Young Goddard will also participate in the ten mile Marathon race at the Foresters field day, which will be held at Manchester on August 17. The latter affair will be held under the auspices of Court Grant, F. of A. and athletes from all over New England will be among the entrants. The race as well as all other athletic events will be held with the sanction of the N. E. A. U.

Another event in which the Lowell runner will appear is the Marathon to be run in connection with the Brockton fair. He is in excellent condition and is confident that he will be among the winners in several of the events.

Hearings on Petitions for Pole Locations

At a meeting of the municipal council held this afternoon Commissioner Barrett gave authority to contract for three combination hose and chemical automobiles for the fire department to be paid for out of the fire department appropriation, the contract or contracts to be made through the purchasing agent's office.

The meeting of the municipal council was called to order by Mayor O'Donnell at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. The roll was called and the first business taken up was the hearing on petitions for pole locations.

On the petition of the N. E. T. & T. Company for the location of four poles on Forest street, Samuel Johnson spoke in behalf of the petitioners and the remonstrants were C. F. Calnan, Wm. C. Farrell and Mrs. Lang, all residents of Forest street. The matter was discussed at some length and was referred to the commissioner of streets and licenses.

On the petition of the Lowell Electric Light Corp. for one pole on Blossom street, Percy J. Wilson, representing the petitioner, stated that the pole was to accommodate the Blossom Street Baptist church with lights. There were no remonstrants and the petition was referred to the commissioner.

It was brought out during Mr. Wilson's discussion that the company is removing wires from trees in all places where it is possible, in compliance with the request of the park commission.

A hearing on the petition of the N. E. T. & T. Company for the erection of more poles on Lexington avenue, between the boulevard and Varnum avenue, was held and the matter referred to the commissioner.

There were several remonstrants who objected to the location of two poles on Columbus avenue, between Walker street and 24 Columbus street, petitioned for by the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. Among those to remonstrate were Patrick D. McCaffrey, John Q. Adams, Frank Keedy, Eva M. Lombard, Mrs. K. E. Gardner, Edward D. Shattuck and others.

Several spoke against the erection of the poles, while others sent letters, notifying the commissioners of their opposition. The matter was subsequently referred to the proper commissioners.

On the petition of James W. Marshall for permission to move a house from 56 Swan street to 14 London street, the commissioners voted that the prayer of the petitioner be granted.

I. C. Gerard was voted the privilege of keeping and storing gasoline. J. N. Dows was also granted the right to keep gasoline.

The petition of J. T. Ashton that Orleans street be accepted was referred to the commissioner of streets and highways.

Permission was granted the Bay State Street Railway Company to relocate a pole on Beacon street.

A. F. Dragon was appointed a constable and the appointment was confirmed.

The mayor read a communication from the board of health relative to a sewer in the northern part of Dutton street. The board recommended the building or extension of the sewer. The communication was accepted.

An order for a pole location for the Lowell Electric Light corporation at the corner of Locke and Gorham streets was adopted.

The mayor read a communication from the commissioner of finance relative to Lowell's share in the expense of grade crossings in School, Walker and other streets and also communications from Deputy State Auditor Hawley in which it was stated that the city's share is ten per cent of the whole, or $20,123.54. The matter was referred to Commissioner Barrett.

The mayor then read opinions by the city solicitor as requested by the municipal council. The opinions appear elsewhere.

The board of the Lowell Electric Light corporation for conduct in East Merrimack, Fayette, Andover and other streets was accepted.

Automobiles for Fire Department. Alderman Barrett asked permission to purchasing, through the purchasing agent, three combination hose and chemical automobiles. He said there would be no loans connected with the purchase because, he said, he did not believe in paying for apparatus that would not live as long as the loan made for its purchase. He said, however, he said, would be paid out of the department revenue.

"In the water department, which is connected with the fire department," he said, "we have a fine repair shop and it is my intention to have the repairs on machines in both departments made at this repair shop."

"I intend to have automobile drivers on the machines, because I have found by investigation, a big percentage of cost is due to the fact that men operating the machines are not familiar with the mechanism of the machines."

DELEGATES MARCH TO THE HALL

All Awaited Col. Roosevelt's Speech

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Despite the fact that Col. Roosevelt was expected to reach the convention hall soon after noon, delegates to the national progressive gathering were slow again today in reaching their seats. At ten minutes to twelve there were not more than 250 delegates on the floor. The galleries also were slow in filling.

A great crowd of spectators and delegates had remained at the headquarters hotel to see the colonel start triumphantly to the convention or to accompany him on the trip.

The New York delegation marched in at 11:50 a. m. with a brass band in the lead playing the inevitable convention tune, "Everybody's Doing It." The delegates were armed with flags and handbills to make the demonstration on the colonel's arrival to deliver his Continued on page seven

"CONFESSION OF FAITH" MADE BY COL. ROOSEVELT

Former President Struck Into New Ground in Speech at Progressive's Convention

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Mr. Roosevelt's speech delivered at the progressive convention today, strikes a keynote for his followers and supporters in the new party. It lays down the plan of battle to be waged by the national progressive party. He discusses those principles under 12 sub-divisions, namely: The Right of the People to Rule; The Right of the People to Constructive Control of the Trusts; Rights of the Wage-Worker; The Farmer; The Tenant; The High Cost of Living; Currency Conservation; Alaska and International Affairs. "The two old parties," he said, "are husks, with no real soul within either, divided on artificial lines, based on privilege and control, each a jumble of incongruous elements, and neither daring to speak out wisely and fearlessly what should be said on the vital issues of the day." As opposed to this incongruity and insincerity of action he asserted that the national progressive platform will be "a contract with the people, with definite and concrete provisions to be carried out if the people ratify the contract on election day as exactly and honestly as if it were actually enforceable under the law."

No Help from Old Party. Neither the republican nor the democratic platforms or managers show any adequate recognition of the mighty fact that we are now in the midst of a great economic evolution. The irresistible movement for economic change and improvement must be guided by "both common sense and the highest ethical standards," in order to prevent reasonable evolution from becoming dangerous revolution. The democratic party, as is indicated by its present record in congress, lacks the common sense, and the republican party, by its record of stolen elections at the Chicago convention, lacks the ethical standards. "The men who presided over the Chicago and Baltimore conventions, and the great bosses who controlled the two conventions—Mr. Root and Mr. Parker, Mr. Barnes and Mr. Murphy, Mr. Penrose and Mr. Tamm, Mr. Gruening and Mr. Sullivan—differ from one another, of course, on certain points, but these are the differences which one corporation lawyer has with another corporation lawyer when acting for different corporations. They come together at once as against a common enemy when the dominion of both is threatened by the supremacy of the people of the United States."

If this country is really to go forward along a path of social and economic justice, there must be a new party of nation-wide and non-sectional principles, a party where the titular national chiefs and the real state leaders shall be in genuine accord, a party in whose councils the people shall be their promises to the people shall be supreme, a party that shall represent in the nation and the several states alike the same cause, the cause of human rights and of governmental efficiency. The reassertion of the states' rights doctrine of the democratic party cripples and forecloses any real or genuine relief to the people. It reduces their promises to hopeless and empty phrases. The mission and spirit of this progressive movement will thrill the republic from end to end.

The Right of the People to Rule. "The actions of the Chicago convention, and to an only less degree of the Baltimore convention, have shown in striking fashion how little the people do rule under our present conditions." In order to assure this popular rule Mr. Roosevelt urged the adoption of presidential primaries, popular election of senators, the short ballot, an efficient corrupt practices act, qualified use of the initiative, referendum, and recall. The recall should be applied to administrative officers. Mr. Roosevelt asserts that the adoption of these new methods of political administration is not antagonistic to representative government. "All I desire to do by securing more direct control of the government by the people is to give the people the chance to make their representatives really represent them, whenever the government becomes mischievous instead of representative. I have not come to this way of thinking from close study or as a mere matter of theory; I have been forced to it by a long experience with the actual conditions of our present life."

SAN JUAN DEL SUR, Nicaragua, Aug. 5.—The American bluejackets and marines who were landed from the United States gunboat Annapolis at Corinto on Saturday night and who are now in Managua, have ordered General Mena, former minister of war and now leader of the revolutionaries, to deliver up immediately the lake steamers owned by the railroads which are run by an American company.

George T. Wetzel, the United States minister, has sent a note to General Mena advising him that the United States government recognized only the government of President Diaz.

A large quantity of arms has been brought from Corinto to Managua to enable the government to take the offensive against the followers of General Mena.

SAVING OF $6000 IN CHARITY DEPT.

Statements Were Issued Today by Mayor O'Donnell and Commissioner Barrett

Mayor O'Donnell and Commissioner Barrett gave out statements today regarding to do with the receipts and expenses of their respective departments for the first six months of 1912 as compared with the corresponding months of last year.

The mayor's first figure had to do with the Chelmsford Street hospital. For the first six months of 1911 the expense of the hospital was $35,255.60 as compared with $29,441.64 for 1912. "This is a good showing on paper," said the mayor, "but I do not want you to call it a saving, for to save in the charity department is really out of the question. The expense of the Chelmsford Street hospital for the first six months this year was nearly $6000 less than last year, and it would look all right on paper to let it go at that, but it wouldn't be stating facts, just the same. It would be paper economy, nothing more nor less, for the fact is that we have not paid for the flour and coal this year, and these two items would eat up the $5,752.02. We have paid more for food stuffs and merchandise this year than last and I think we have made a very good showing."

Out Door Relief. The next set of figures read by the mayor had to do with out-door relief and his Honor again admonished the reporters not to use the word "saved," although the out-door relief for the first six months in 1912 was $3,200.55 less than in 1911.

"From the $2200.35," said the mayor, "the sum of $1000 for coal is to be deducted, for the coal has not been paid for. There is no particular credit due me for the showing that has been made because it has been governed by conditions. We probably haven't done the same volume of business, and all I would say about it is that I think the department is being run as well as it can be run," and the mayor wanted it understood that he was not throwing any bouquets at himself, either.

The Water Department. It will be remembered that Commissioner Barrett made a six months' report on the fire department and it was a report of progress. At the time he gave out the fire department report he said he would have a six months' report on the water department later on and he came out with the figures today.

The water department for 1911 opened up with a balance of $3517.53 brought over from 1910 and the department receipts for the first six months amounted to $109,965.66, making a total of $113,483.19. The expense for the first six months amounted to $104,137.97, leaving a balance June 30, 1911, of $4345.22. The water department for 1912 started in with a deficit of $1967 and the receipts for the first six months amounted to $103,333.90. The expenses for the first six months amounted to $90,566, leaving a balance June 30, 1912, of $12,767.94. A saving of $12,191.12 for the first six months of 1912 as compared with the corresponding months of last year.

The interest charges in 1911 amounted to $22,174 as against $22,535 for 1912. The coal bill in 1911 was $7874 as against $3581 for 1912. The increase in the coal bill for the present year, Mr. Barrett attributes to the fact that the Cook wells have been kept going almost constantly this year. The upkeep of pipes, gates and hydrants for 1911 was $7120.34 as against $15,146.68 in 1912, and Mr. Barrett says this increase is due to the fact that the department has had to pay twice as much for materials as was paid last year.

The water department pay roll for June, 1912, was $8390 as against $5000 in 1911. The amount spent on new wells up to July 1, 1912, was $25,350; new reservoir, $35,380; pumping station at the boulevard, $12,544. The interest charges for the month of June, this year, was $1549, as against $550 in 1911. The bills for supplies in June, 1912, amounted to $4300.81, and for 1911, $3457.92. The receipts in June, 1912, amounted to $4064.70, and for 1911, $4300.05.

of death or inefficiency."

In summing up the specific policies expounded in his address Mr. Roosevelt spoke as follows:

"Now, friends, this is my confession of faith. I have made it rather long because I wish you to know just what my deepest convictions are on the great questions of today, so that if you choose to make me your standard-bearer in the fight, you shall make your choice understanding exactly how I feel—and if, after weighing me, you think you ought to choose some one else, I shall loyally abide by your choice. The convictions to which I have come, however, were not arrived at as the result of study in the closet or the library, but from the knowledge I have gained through hard experience during the many years in which, under many and varied conditions, I have striven and toiled with men. I believe in a larger use of the governmental power to help remedy industrial wrongs, because it has been borne in on me by actual experience that without the exercise of such power many of the wrongs will go unremedied. I believe in a larger opportunity for the people themselves directly to participate in government and to control their governmental agents, because long experience has taught me that without such control many of their agents will represent them badly. By actual experience in office I have found that, as a rule, I could secure the triumph of the causes in which I most believed, not from the politicians and men who claim an expert's right to speak in business and government, but by going over their heads and appealing directly to the people themselves. I am not under the slightest delusion as to any power that during my political career I have at any time possessed. Whatever of power I at any time had, I obtained from the people. I could exert an exceptional right to speak in business and government, but by going over their heads and appealing directly to the people themselves. PARIS, Aug. 6.—One hundred and forty thousand dollars for a kiss, and for a kiss given unwillingly. Such is the price, the largest in history, paid by a young, beautiful and tremendously wealthy Parisienne, a widow, for a single embrace upon her lips by a bogus American banker. But she was blackmailed out of that great sum. Tricked into a compromising situation, she paid $140,000 for silence to a trio of international swindlers.

Arrest Leader

This astounding fact was revealed by the arrest Sunday night of the master blackmailer, who, at the moment, calls himself Pierre de Courvalles, but who has many aliases. Recently he has adopted the title Prince de Nagan, the secondary title of Duke de Nagan, and he has been using this name since he landed upon his ship, the Howard. When he was taken Sunday night de Courvalles had $100,000 in his possession; half a million francs, a great fortune in France.

Another member of the band is known to the police as Habris. He passed to the Parisian widow as an American millionaire, a banker, in carrying out their plot the third rascal masqueraded as a country policeman.

They Flirt in a Spa

Not long in her usual health, the young widow was ordered by her physician to take the cure at Chateaugay, a spa in the Department of Puy-de-Dôme, famous for its mineral waters. There, after a little flirtation, Habris made bold to introduce himself to the charming widow. He interested her very much with his stories about life in America and took pains to hint as delicately as possible that he was enormously wealthy and of the highest social standing. He became very attentive to the widow, took her to lunch, and dinner, sent her flowers and bouquets and his attentions did not seem discreditable to her.

Finally at dusk one evening the bogus banker proposed to madame that conduct against us; we must return to Chateaugay and appear in court."

More Money Quiets Him

"Will more money keep him quiet?" faltered the widow.

The men went into a corner and whispered.

"Yes, madame," said Habris, at last, "he reluctantly consents to be silent for $50,000 more."

The widow drew her check for $50,000 and with it the policeman departed.

BODY OF BOY MAY BE IN CLAY PIT, FATHER SAYS

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—William D'Arcy of 42 Chittenden street, Cambridge, whose seven-year-old son Richard disappeared from home Saturday afternoon, believes that the body of his child is lying in the treacherous quagmire of Gendreau's old clay pit, a short distance from the house. He demands that the city make search of that pit to recover his boy's body and to prevent another similar tragedy.

A search of the Gendreau clay pits, that lasted all yesterday afternoon, was unsuccessful, and Mr. D'Arcy is convinced that his son will be found in the abandoned pit, located in an open field at the foot of Fairweather street.

Mr. D'Arcy says that many boats of refuse have been thrown into this pit, making an apparently solid surface nearly on a level with the surrounding bank, but underneath there is a shifting, sticky mass of earth, water and clay, through which a solid body will sink rapidly.

It is his belief that the boy, deceived by the appearance of solidity, wandered out into the pit, stumbled and fell through into the mud.

"I shall demand that the city of Cambridge drain this pit, not only that I may recover the body of my boy, but in order that the menace to the lives of others be done away with," said Mr. D'Arcy last night.

"I long have known that this pit was dangerous. Today we experimented and found that rocks thrown onto the surface of the rubbish would sink right through. There is no doubt in my mind that Richard is in there."

The missing boy, has not been seen since Saturday afternoon. At that time a neighbor saw him leaning against a hydrant in the vicinity of his home. The lad had been in the habit of taking walks about the neighborhood.

A theory that he was kidnapped was advanced, but the police have been unable to discover a clue. His mother is prostrated.

THE MIRRORS

ARE TO BE REMOVED FROM ELEVATORS

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—There will be no more primping before mirrors in elevators, either in the Bellevue-Stratford hotel, the city hall or the Land Title building after this week. The order for the removal of mirrors from elevators was issued yesterday, and will be followed by similar orders at the leading hotels and office buildings here.

The mirrors are being done away with as the result of numerous complaints made. Conductors in the city hall elevators claim that nearly every girl who rides in the lifts becomes so engrossed in primping before the elevator glass that she forgets what floor they want to get out, and cause lots of trouble.

In the hotels and office buildings, the same kicks have been registered, with the additional one that the conductors of the elevators, who are instructed not to speak to the occupants, utter discourteous remarks to the passengers with the result that they pass by floors while clogging the girls.

Another reason the hotels will eliminate mirrors from the elevators is that occasionally a passenger from the roof gardens becomes too boisterous and puts his fist through the glass mirrors, cutting his hand, and afterwards suing the hotel company. So the death-knell of the elevator mirror in Philadelphia has been sounded.

WON 150 MILE RACE

KENOSHA, Wis., Aug. 6.—Miss Margaret Lawler, 15 years old, won the 150 mile endurance contest of the Kenosha Motor Cycle club yesterday. Although the early morning started, Miss Lawler carried off all of the honors against a field of 21 men. Five men finished with perfect scores but their time was not as fast as that made by Miss Lawler.

THE BIG WAR GAME OPENS SATURDAY

First Move Expected at Stratford, Conn.

STRATFORD, Conn., Aug. 6.—The first tactical move in the war game, which will open on Saturday hereabouts, was made today when Lieut. Col. Griferson, commanding the Tenth United States cavalry, which has been taking from Fort Mifflin, near Burlington, Vt., divided his forces, sending one troop from Meriden to Bridgeport, another to Orange which will be near the Cavalry headquarters of the Second brigade of the invading "Reds" and the third to this place for provost duty pending the arrival of other forces attached to the headquarters of General Bliss, who will command the maneuvers.

The advance guards of the regulars who will be with the "Blue" army are arriving here and at Bridgeport to complete preparations for the concentration of troops, which would be in full force early Saturday. Scouts of the Third United States Infantry are among the arrivals under the theory that they are to look over the land and see that the "Reds" have not swept this far in the westward invasion along the line of the sound.

Under the theory of the war problem the army of foreigners who will be distinguished by red bands on their hats has swept down on Providence and the first division has been sent forward by forced marches to beat the retreating "Blues" to the Housatonic river. It will be seen on Friday night, however, that the "Blues" have won the race for the latter will have crossed the river and will hold the bridges.

PRES. TAFT AT WORK

On the Vetoes of the Tariff Bills

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—President Taft today began preparing his veto message on the steel, wool and cotton tariff revision bills soon to come before him from congress. His veto will be based upon his understanding that the bills have been drawn almost regardless of the tariff board's reports on those schedules. The steel bill probably will be sent to the White House first. The president today had not decided which he would first disapprove.

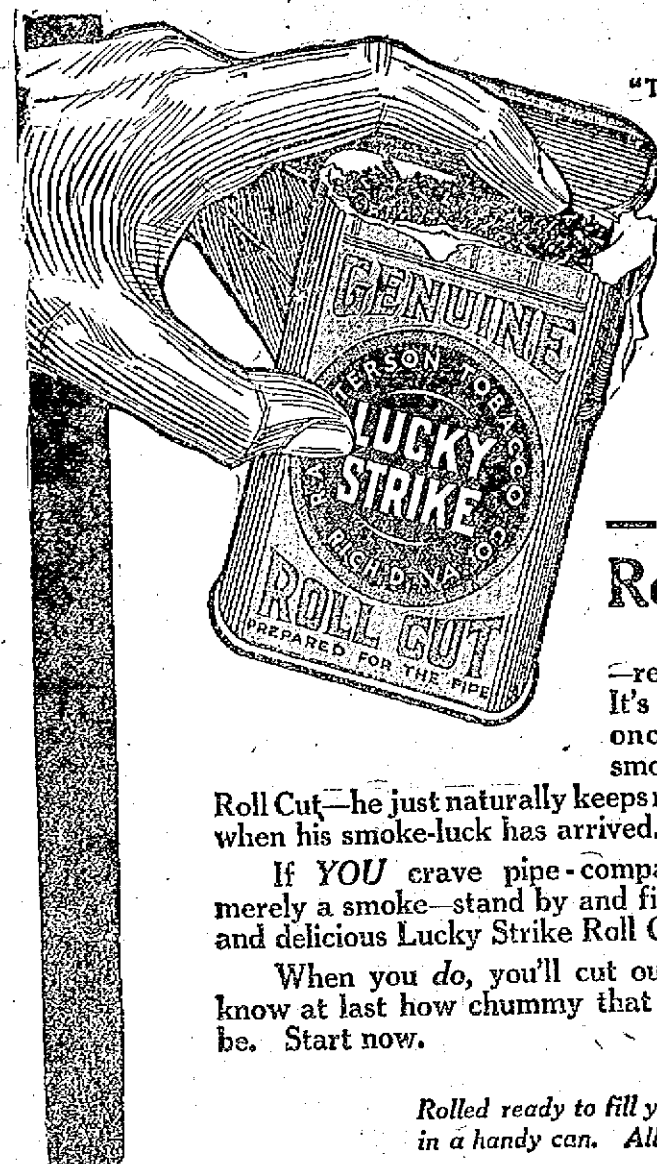

Chairman Henry C. Emery of the tariff board was at the White House today. He took there data which the president will use in condensed form in his veto messages. The iron and steel tariff bill today received the signatures of Speaker Clark and acting President Bacon of the senate, and went to President Taft for his inspection. "This is the first of the tariff revision bills passed by the Democratic-Progressive alliance in the senate to reach the chief executive, and close friends of the president express the conviction that he will veto it, because no investigation of the industry has been made by the tariff board upon which to base a scientific tariff revision. An attempt by the conferees on the excise tax bill, to reach an agreement on that measure, was not successful.

After a session of over an hour, the conference committee adjourned until tomorrow. It is understood that democrats of the house have not agreed with the plans of the senate alliance on this measure.

Senator La Follette had but five progressives behind him today when he forced through the senate the compromise wool tariff bill, representing the agreement with the house between the rates of the La Follette and Underwood bills. The measure, which had passed the house last week, passed the senate by a vote of 35 to 28; and as soon as it is signed by the proper officers it will follow the steel bill to the White House.

Senator Simmons, the democratic tariff leader in the senate, made an ineffectual attempt to secure a late Friday on the cotton bill passed by the house last week. Spurred on by the success of the democratic-progressive forces on the other bills, the house sent the cotton bill over at the end of the week.

Senator Penrose unfavorably reported it from the finance committee today. He did not oppose Senator Simmons' request for a vote on the measure Friday, but the plan failed because of the demand of other members that appropriation measures and the Panama canal bill be given the right of way.

NEW TEACHERS CHOSEN BY THE SCHOOL BOARD

Committee Decided Not to Use Rev. Dr. Kennigott's Book in the Schools

At an adjourned meeting of the school board, held last night, Miss Florence Masterson and Miss Margaret R. Cassidy were elected teachers in the high school, in place of Miss Mather and Miss Kelly, resigned, and Miss Susan Burbank, substitute teacher in the high school, was transferred to the grammar schools.

Joseph G. Pyne was elected a teacher in the high school to replace Elmer G. Brennan, who failed of election at the June meeting. Mr. Pyne is a Lowell boy. He is a graduate of the Butler and high schools, and holds the degree of bachelor of arts from Holy Cross college, from which college he was graduated a few years ago.

Lieut. Thomas W. Doyle was elected military instructor in the high school to replace Capt. Colby T. Kittredge.

Some changes were made in text books. It was voted to add McKeen and Rafter's series of grammars to the list of authorized text-books, for use in the grammar schools, to be supplied as the books now in use wear out. It was also voted to add the remaining numbers of the Gullik hygiene series; and Tar and McMurray's geographies were authorized as desk books for teachers.

At a recent meeting of the board Dr. Bagley gave notice that he would make a motion for the study of Irish history in the high school. He said last night he would defer the motion because he said he had not decided as to what text-book he would recommend.

Speaking of the introduction of Rev. Dr. Kennigott's book in the public schools, as suggested by the grammar masters, Dr. Bagley said the committee did not recommend the use of Dr. Kennigott's book either as a text-book or as a reference book. He said the committee decided it was not a fit book to place in the hands of school children or to be used by the teachers as a reference book. He said that the consensus of opinion, not only with the board but with the public, was that the book was a collection of statistics improperly tabulated. Dr. Bagley said he heard from a certain teacher that the city of Lowell intended to place copies of Dr. Kennigott's book in the Bartlett school and he gave notice that Mr. Durgin must not place one copy of the book in that school. "It may be a state school," he said, "but Mr. Durgin must remember that the children who go there are not state children."

Dr. O'Connor said he was in sympathy with the sentiments expressed by Dr. Bagley. "Dr. Kennigott's book," he said, "is unfit for teachers or children, and it is a reference book. He said the committee decided it was not a fit book to place in the hands of school children or to be used by the teachers as a reference book. He said that the consensus of opinion, not only with the board but with the public, was that the book was a collection of statistics improperly tabulated. Dr. Bagley said he heard from a certain teacher that the city of Lowell intended to place copies of Dr. Kennigott's book in the Bartlett school and he gave notice that Mr. Durgin must not place one copy of the book in that school. "It may be a state school," he said, "but Mr. Durgin must remember that the children who go there are not state children."

then modified his statement, saying "a majority of the committee" had so decided.

On all of the matters pertaining to the removal or changing of teachers Mr. Rogers voted no, and in the matter of the removal of Mr. Brennan, Mr. Rogers voted no. He said he considered Mr. Brennan a competent teacher, and though he had hoped to vote for Mr. Pyne at some time, he did not see his way clear to vote for him to replace Mr. Brennan.

Mr. Rogers called attention to the number of changes that had been made at the high school in one week and he said that not one word had been advanced to show incompetency on the part of those who had been superseded.

"It seems to me precious poor business, precious poor policy, and I might add precious poor politics," he said.

Dr. O'Connor reminded Mr. Rogers that the latter's vote had been recorded in favor of the removal of Mr. Coburn from the high school and that Miss Burbank had previously been transferred from her former position in the high school and made a teacher of delinquents.

Dr. O'Connor allowed that Mr. Rogers was a bit inconsistent in the matter.

Mr. Rogers said the reason he voted for the removal of Mr. Coburn was because of the fact that Mr. Coburn had told him, somewhat confidentially, that he wasn't very particular whether he remained or not, and Dr. O'Connor thought that was hardly a satisfactory explanation of Mr. Rogers' attitude.

Dr. Bagley said he had no criticism to make of Miss Westcott but he sticks to the slogan "Lowell schools for Lowell girls."

Dr. Bagley said: "Mr. Brennan has gone around and said he did not look to me and Dr. O'Connor to give him a fair show."

Mr. McKenize said he had no apology to offer for any action of his or any vote of his in regard to the removal of Mr. Brennan. He said that after Mr. Brennan had been two years in the high school Principal Cyrus Irish was asked what kind of a teacher he was and Mr. Irish answered that he had not made up his mind as to what kind of a teacher Mr. Brennan was. "I think Mr. Irish ought to be able to determine the teacher's capacity in two years and if Mr. Irish can't do it perhaps it would be well to make a change there too."

The board adjourned without settling a date for the next meeting.

101 YEARS OLD

BROOKLINE WOMAN OBSERVED HER BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—Enjoying the best of health and mental activity, Mrs. Frank Powell, known to her friends as

Aunt Myra, yesterday observed her 101st birthday at her home, 12 University road, Brookline, where she lives with her niece, Mrs. T. F. Hovey, and grandniece, Miss Clara Hovey. Mrs. Powell spent the day receiving her friends who came to wish her many more happy days. She declared that she had never felt better in her life, and that during the past year she had not been ill a single day.

Flowers, letters and congratulatory postal cards were sent to her from all sides, and though the observance was a very quiet matter, the house was thronged with visitors.

Mrs. Powell is a great reader, reading the daily papers, current literature and the classics. She always keeps attractive, and every day takes a long walk. She declares that old age has troubled her only in one way—that she cannot enjoy a church service, owing to a slight deafness.

Milady's Toilet Table

By Miss D'VILLE
"Face powders now offer inadequate protection. The hot sun burns and the shine of perspiration causes annoyance. Dissolve an original package of Mayonette in a half-pint of which hazard and rub a little on the face each morning. You will have a complexion protector and beautifier far superior to anything else. Mayonette will not clog pores nor show like powder, leaving the skin soft, fair and girlish looking."

"Many suffer from itching scalps in warm weather. A dry shampoo removes dust, dirt and excess oil; leaves the scalp clean, cool and refreshed, and the hair light, wavy and beautiful. To make a perfect shampoo, powder, mix four ounces of powdered aris root with an original package of Mayonette. Just sift a teaspoonful of this mixture on the head and brush it out thoroughly."

"Wild hairs are a disgusting blemish to a beautiful face. They can be easily, quickly and safely removed by the use of delicate paste. Mix powdered delonix with enough water to cover the hair, apply and after a minute or two rub off, wash the skin and the hairs will be gone."

"If the eyebrows are thin and straggly, pyroxin should be applied with finger-tips, and they should be brushed gently each day to train them to grow into an arch. Pyroxin will also make the lashes grow long and silky."

SOME BEAUTY HELPS YOU SHOULD KNOW

The woman who prizes her hair shines it frequently in summer months with canthrox and in this way keeps it clean, bright and fluffy. A teaspoonful of canthrox dissolved in a cup of hot water is ample for a good shampoo, and after canthrox has been used, the scalp and hair are immaculately clean, while the hair dries quickly and evenly. Canthrox is especially fine to restore the color and fluff to faded, "stringy" hair, and overcomes that "matty" look so common in hot weather.

Many complexion-upsets would never happen if women discarded greasy, pore-clogging creams and used a plain lotion, made by putting a teaspoonful of glycerine into 1-2 pint witch hazel (or hot water), then adding 4 ounces spirumax. This lotion is invisible when on—protects the skin from tan and freckles, banishes the oily, shiny condition, and other unnatural impurities, and keeps it smooth, velvety and youthful-looking.

Resinol

heals baby's skin-humor

THERE is no need of baby suffering from eczema, ringworm, milk-crust or other itching, burning, unsightly eruption. With the first use of Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment, the itching and burning stop and healing begins. After Resinol has quickly removed the last trace of the trouble, Resinol Soap for baby's bath will usually keep his skin clear and healthy.

Sample free: Resinol Ointment (5c) and Resinol Soap (2c) are invaluable household remedies. Year-drozzet sets them, for free samples of each, address Dept. 214, Resinol Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.

What one mother says: Baltimore, Md., June 3, 1912. "My little girl's face was terrible to look at. She had such a bad case of eczema. At first she started to break out with pimples around her nose and mouth, and then they would open and run, and get into large sores. They would burn and itch and made her cry herself to sleep. I tried several remedies, but the sores did not heal, but got worse. I washed the sores with Resinol Soap and then put on Resinol Ointment. The first time I used it, it gave relief, and by a week's time you could hardly tell that she had a sore on her face. She is now completely cured." (Signed) Mrs. J. Heenan, 2011 Wilkins St.

OLIVE OIL IN THE HOUSEHOLD

Next to bread, there is no other article of food which has so much value as pure olive oil. It is so easily digested that it can and should be used with nearly all our foods. Pompeian Olive Oil, from the finest groves in Italy, not chemically treated or adulterated in any way, has such a sweet, nutty taste that it improves the taste of foods and at the same time gives to the body health and strength.

Pompeian Olive Oil when mixed with the flour used in clam soup, cream of tomato, or other thick soups, imparts a most delicious flavor. In making fish cakes, or frying fish of any kind, use Pompeian Olive Oil instead of butter or lard, and the taste will be improved one hundred per cent. Sweet potato croquettes, cold slaw, macaroni and other dishes are likewise made tastier when this oil is used. By reason of its sweet, nutty flavor, it should be used in preference to any other kind for salad dressings, especially where fruit salads are served. In scrambling eggs, a little cream and olive oil put in the frying pan gives you a dish better than anything you ever tried before. Ask your dealer for a book of Pompeian recipes, and when once you try this oil in cooking, you will never do without it.

Pompeian Olive Oil is sold by druggists and grocers. Full one-half pint cans, 25 cents; full pint cans, 50 cents; full quart cans, 90 cents.

IN GREEK CHEMISE STYLE

FROCK OF DOTTED VOILE

On a tall figure this short tunic style is charming, but it would be trying to a more dumpy shape. The loose peasant bodice and short "chemise," as these abbreviated tunics are styled, are of gray voile, dotted with coral, a handsome Persian trimming in white, gray and coral colors forming a border pattern on the voile.

The petticoat is black satin, as is the sash with its flat pump bow at the back of the waist. The sleeves are hemmed with black satin.

FOR THE SMALL BOY

MIDDY SUIT.

A regulation middy suit, with flowing sailor trousers, embroidered chevrons, loose blouse and boy's sun's white, completes the white duck suit seen in the illustration. An up to date yachting cap completes the costume.

WEAVERS REMAIN OUT

ADAMS, Aug. 6.—Fifteen hundred weavers and loomfixers remained away from the mills of the Berkshire Cotton Manufacturing Company here today because of the refusal of four operatives to join the weavers' union. About 800 operatives went to work as usual and the company continued operations in the department not affected by the strike. There has been no disorder in connection with the strike.

THE THIRD PARTY CONVENTION

To Housekeepers Who Practice Economy

Always buy soap, both for household and toilet purposes, in large quantities if you possibly can and store it away until required. This allows it to harden, and you will find that it will last almost as long again as it would otherwise do. Store candles in the same way, as they last much longer than if used when new.

To Dry Clean Gloves

White kid gloves that are not very badly soiled can be quite well cleaned at home with a mixture of finely powdered Fuller's earth and alum. It should be rubbed well in with a clean piece of flannel and then thoroughly brushed off with a soft, clean brush.

White Cloth

Ground rice is excellent for cleaning white cloth. It should be applied with a piece of clean, white flannel, left on for two or three hours, and then well brushed and shaken out.

To Save the Linen

If you want your linen to wear well try this plan: Instead of folding in bleached sheets and towels, as is usually done, fold them the other way occasionally, as they last far longer if the folds are sometimes changed in this way than if always folded in the same place.

New Stockings

New stockings will last almost twice as long without wearing into holes if they are shaken before being worn. Wash them in warm water to which a little ammonia has been added, then wring out and dry and you will be delighted with the result. Silk or lisle should be treated in the same way.

Gas Mantles

Don't throw away broken incandescent mantles. Crush them up into a powder, store in a small box and use for cleaning jewelry. It gives a splendid polish and does not scratch the surface of the gold or silver.

Artificial Flowers

Crumpled artificial flowers may be made to look quite fresh again by holding them over the steam of a kettle for a few minutes, then pull them out into shape and shake them until they are quite dry. This treatment works wonders with velvet flowers.

BOWLING RECORD BROKEN

The record on the Lakeview bowling alleys was broken the other evening by Paul Flanders, the well known employee of the Bay State street railway. Mr. Flanders, who is known to every bowler in the city, is a frequent visitor to the alleys at the park and on his last visit to the alleys he put up the magnificent score of 142, on duck pins. In the string he made four strikes and one spare. The string was the best ever put up on the alleys and the large crowd that was on hand to witness the fun accorded the bowler a great hand.

CLARK FAMILY

CHIEF OF BANGOR POLICE ANXIOUS TO LOCATE THEM

The following letter which is self-explanatory was received by Supt. Raymond Welch of the local police force: Bangor, Me., August 3, 1912. Chief of Police, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir: I am asking you to do me a bit of a favor in assisting me to locate any of certain persons whose names follow, and who are believed to live or at least have lived in your city for several years.

I desire information of the whereabouts of either William Clark, or of his children, James Clark, Margaret Clark, Rose Clark and Mary Ella Clark.

William Clark is the nephew of Mrs. Catherine Mahoney, formerly Carney, deceased, late of this city. William Clark's mother was Mary Carney and came from County Lond, Ireland. Mrs. Mahoney died three months ago in Bangor, leaving some property. Her stepson, John Mahoney, executor of her will, is one of my officers, and although he has undertaken to get in touch with the Clark people in your city, he has been absolutely unable to get a line on them, and all his letters have been returned.

While this request involves a courtesy a bit out of the ordinary custom of police departments, I have felt that as a favor to me personally you might in your way clear to help me out in the matter. Be assured that the same will be appreciated, and I shall be happy to return the favor to you whenever possible.

SELECT JUDGES FOR DANCING PARTY

The members of the Lakeview Trio held a meeting at the hall last evening and completed arrangements for their dancing party, which will be held at the hall tomorrow evening. They selected the officers for the affair and also selected those to act as judges for the prize dances.

The judges to officiate tomorrow night are John O'Brien, A. Dayon, Chester Young, James Fitzgerald and James Dwyer.

GOOD TO KNOW

Fruit stains should be carefully looked after at this season before the linen is put into the hot suds, which always set all stains. They are removed easily by boiling water or a little salts of lemon without damage to the fabric.

To wash white or old valuable lace that has grown yellow baste it carefully on a piece of flannel and wash it with white soap and warm water, rinse carefully, then wet with cold water and lay in the sun. Keep it wet until it bleaches as much as desired, and it may then be carefully pressed on the wrong side of the flannel.

At this season if clothing is damp with perspiration it should be carefully dried before putting it into the hamper, as it otherwise may cause the other things to mildew.

Well Known and Popular Woman Wins Health By New Treatment

MRS. LEACH CLAIMS NEW REMEDY QUICKLY CURED HER LONG STANDING ILLNESS.

Mrs. Marietta Leach Who Has Become a Strong Supporter of Var-ne-sis.

The story of what appears to be another remarkable case cured by this remedy Var-ne-sis which is being introduced at Dows' drug store was related yesterday. Mrs. Leach is well known and is very enthusiastic about the remedy that has produced so many remarkable cures in this city and vicinity. She said:

"I can hardly believe that I am at last cured of a stomach trouble from which I suffered from infancy. What I have suffered no mortal can realize, unless affected in the same way. I was terribly constipated, nauseated at the sight of food, terrible headaches, fainting spells, acidity of the stomach and all the disagreeable symptoms that go with a disordered stomach."

"I spent money continually, endeavoring to find relief, but nothing helped me for any length of time until I tried Var-ne-sis. To my delight I got immediate relief and a permanent cure was effected. I can now eat anything I want to without distress, sleep well, bowels move regularly, and altogether I enjoy better health than I ever have before. My address is 121 Marianna street, Lynn, where anyone may write or call on me, for I think this medicine perfectly wonderful."

The tremendous demand for this remedy has compelled Mr. Varney to place the remedy in every drug store in the country, and if anyone is unable to secure it simply write to his headquarters here. The doctor will remain at Dows' drug store, Merrimack and Central streets to give advice free every day from 10 in the morning to 6 at night.

MISSING DAUGHTER MAY BE IN PLYMOUTH

Detectives at Work on the Case— Mother Has Not Seen Daughter for 38 Years

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—The wealthy Massachusetts woman of mystery, now in New York seeking the daughter she has never seen or heard of since the child was taken from her arms 38 years ago, may have to come back to Massachusetts to find her girl after all.

Although Major Thomas L. Walsh of the governor's staff, the woman's attorney, who has hired detectives to work on the case, said on his return from New York yesterday that he felt the child would be found somewhere about New York, he admitted a possibility in a letter he has just received from a North Plymouth woman.

Lost for 38 Years

The mother, now well to do, is consumed by the one desire to behold her lost child.

Thirty-eight years ago this mother was a poor, young girl. She went to the old Homeopathic hospital on Cambridge street, Brookline, when the child was born.

The mother recovered, but was too poor to keep up a child. The people at the hospital told her others would take the child.

The mother became the wife of a wealthy husband and had two other daughters of her own. Then the husband died, and six months ago with one of the two daughters married and the other away from home, the mother found she had not forgotten, after 38 years, her first born. Now a woman getting toward 60, she yearned to have this child with her in her lonely and declining years.

The woman, who is said to be known and held in the highest respect even to Major Walsh and called: "Find my child and I will disclose my name."

Worcester County Woman

Until the child is found Major Walsh will not explain who this woman of mystery is. She lives, however, in Worcester county, it is believed, in the vicinity of Fitchburg.

Major Walsh barred last week in New York. The first definite clue came Sunday through Mrs. S. E. Stiles, whose grandmother, Mrs. Mary LaDell, was mother of the old hospital, where the lost babe was born Dec. 11, 1874.

At that time Mrs. Stiles, who now lives at 520 Washington avenue, Brookline, was a child of 12 staying with her grandmother at the hospital. The searching mother and Mrs. Stiles passed hours together in New York on Sunday. Mr. Stiles yesterday told the mother, who eagerly drank in every word, that she remembered a young woman in the hospital years ago who was so poor that she could not pay her child to find the mother who has never had the happiness to know.

Major Walsh further said that a man telephoned from the Boston Pressmen's Union yesterday that he believed he was the sought-for child. The mother, however, remembers the child was a girl.

To the major a letter from a Brooklyn woman looks best. It says in part: "I was told by the party that adopted me that I was born in the Homeopathic hospital in Brooklyn, in the month of May, 1874. I was left in charge of the lady manager, as my mother was too poor to take care of me."

CHELMSFORD

The forest fire lookout post on Robin hill proves to be a point of interest to many and last Sunday it was the destination of visitors to the number of 150, the largest number received there in any one day thus far.

Mr. J. F. Hammond is in charge and besides having a thorough knowledge of the history of the department, is gifted with an entertaining brilliancy of manner that makes him an ideal host. Mr. Hammond has traveled extensively throughout the globe and acquired a treasure of information and interesting experiences which he is ever ready to impart to tourists to the hill.

Sunday was exceedingly favorable to the visitors, as the air was clear and distant points could be seen with the naked eye.

Miss Rose La Chance of Waterbury, Conn., is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. H. Pratt in Acton street.

W. C. Ward and family have returned from a vacation spent at the Adams Club on Park Mountain, Greenfield, N. H.

J. L. Douglas recently lost a valuable horse. The dog was in all probability killed by an automobile, as the animal was found dead in the roadway on Acton street.

Mrs. Edward A. Kemp and daughters Charlotte, Pearl and Gladys Viola, with Francis Leo De Kalb, of Chelmsford and Gertrude Beatrice Combs of Allston, are spending their vacation at Bangor, Me.

Advised letters: Mrs. Sarah Danforth, Mr. S. Dudley, Mr. Garstang, Miss Florence Jewell, Alice Parsons, Fred A. Pierce, Mrs. C. H. Richardson, Mrs. Eva Spaulding.

BRITISH LION

ANGLES AND NOT ROUNDED SURFACES ARE NOW IN FAVOR

LONDON, Aug. 6.—The British public has not taken kindly to the two lions that guard the King Edward VII. galleries, the latest British museum extension. To begin with, it is felt that these lions are foreigners; they are not British lions. No British lion would wear the Egyptian head dress called "nemes," that has been assumed by these two massive and angular beasts.

Our own lion, our totem beast, who has come to be as homely and familiar a creature as a bulldog, has a certain frankness and kindness in his countenance. The real article, the Trafalgar square lion, wouldn't hurt a fly, if it were an English fly.

As a matter of fact these lions are another instance of the archaizing tendency that has lately been manifest in modern English sculpture. The figures on the Medical building in the Strand show a very strong tendency to get behind the classic period of Greek sculpture to the early beginnings of the art.

And the Oscar Wilde tomb, the work of the same sculptor, is far removed from the prettiness and roundness that were once in favor.

The new work is grim, but it is also powerful.

Freed From Pain, Weakness, Terrible Backache and De- spair by Lydia E. Pink- ham's Compound.

Coloma, Wis.—"For three years I was troubled with female weakness, irregularities, backache and bearing down pains. I saw an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. After taking several bottles I found it was helping me, and I must say that I am perfectly well now and cannot thank you enough for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."

—Mrs. JOHN WENLAND, R.F.D., No. 3, Box 60, Coloma, Wis.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

There are probably hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions of women in the United States who have been benefited by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over 30 years ago by a woman to relieve woman's suffering. If you are sick and need such a medicine, why don't you try it?

The testimonials which are constantly being published in these advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound are guaranteed to be absolutely genuine.

MESSANGER BOY GOT AWAY WITH $500

He Took Money to Buy Shirts and Diamonds

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—A resplendent youngster of 15 years stepped off the steamer from Maine which landed at the foot of Market street last night and was promptly nabbed by a detective, who had for him a warrant charging grand larceny. He wore knee trousers and diamonds, flashy shirt and a gold watch, and his name is Earl Hubbard of Lynn, Mass.

Earl came here from Lynn eight months ago to become a bank president, and has nothing daunted when he learned that the road to the presidency lay through the humble position of messenger boy. Instead, he took the job of messenger, and when he got a chance also took $500 from the bank for which he was working—William P. Bonbright of 24 Broad street. Then Earl's taste for finery was satisfied. He bought all sorts of things. He was given $500 in cash one day to deposit in another bank and he went for a suit and $20 for a watch. Then there were shirts such as Solomon never wore, and ties to match.

When he landed in Lynn with all this, Earl did not dare to go to his home at 25 Cherry street. Instead, he drifted around the town for a time and then went to Belfast, Me., where a Burns detective found him. He told his tale, thinking they were "get-rich-quick" persons. After a time they persuaded him to start for New York with them, and all three took the boat for this city.

When they landed, Detective Foley of the Elizabeth street station was waiting with a warrant. It was explained that it was supposed that Earl was 17 years old. When it was found that he was only 15 years old he was taken to the Children's society and will be arraigned in the children's court on a charge of juvenile delinquency.

SAYS THAT 77,931 SCHOOL CHILDREN ARE DEFECTIVE

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—Mayor Fitzgerald yesterday made public the details of the report of Dr. William J. Gallivan, chief of the bureau of child hygiene, on the examination of the 117,931 school children, of whom 77,931 were found to have physical defects. Of the number with physical defects about 39 per cent are of diseases and imperfections which centre in the mouth and throat, which today there are ample hospital provisions in Boston for treatment.

All that is lacking, the mayor said, is the sending or making arrangements to send children needing hospital treatment to existing clinics. The mayor added:

"The physical examination of these children and finding these defects is of itself only valuable in that it gives the exact situation and enables the city scientifically to plan for the treatment and remedy. If the necessary treatment does not follow this examination, the money spent on it has been wasted. It is expected that during the coming year the necessary steps will be taken to have all defective children treated either at home or in hospitals, and once this is done the most important step to reduce disease in the coming generation will have been made."

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE IN PRISON CELL

Woman Tore Her Waist for a Rope

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—Hannah Connolly, 58 years old, of Bridgewater, made two attempts to hang herself in a cell at the Chelsea police station with strips of cloth torn from her shirt waist, yesterday afternoon, after she had been arrested with two women companions while on a taxicab joy ride.

As soon as she was locked in the cell the woman removed her waist. She tore three strips from the garment and knotted them into a string. At one end she made a noose. This she placed about her neck and drew it tight by pulling the other end of the string, which she looped through the grating of the cell.

Patrolmen Keating and Elmore discovered her slowly strangling to death. She was unconscious when they unlocked the noose from her neck.

The officers left the cell for a moment after they had revived her, and when they returned they found that she again had tied the string about her neck and was drawing it tight. After her second attempt a guard was placed outside the cell.

The ending of the joy ride in front of the police station attracted considerable attention in the neighborhood.

It was about 3 o'clock when the cab drew up at the door. Out of one window protruded a foot. Two other feet and an arm hung out on the other side. From the interior came sounds as of someone singing.

When the chauffeur opened the door the officers assisted to the street first Miss Connolly, then Lizzie Smith of 617 Tremont street, and last William O'Hearn of 256 Shawmut avenue.

The three were booked on charges of intoxication and evasion of the payment of a fare.

LOWELL MOTORBOAT CLUB

The members of the Lowell Motorboat club held a clam bake at the new grounds above the Tyngsboro bridge Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. A number of boats brought their owners to the place, including the cruiser owned by Harvey Gamble, the Savages with their large boat and Dr. W. E. Knapp with his motorboat. When the craft parted down the river about 4 o'clock the hydroplane of Fred Holmes and Dr. Knapp's motorboat were prominent in the lead. The hydroplane seemed to reserve her energy for a time, content to breast the swells from the stern of its rival. The pace was too rapid, however, and the engine of the "bird boat" became overheated and soon the motor craft was speeding by a good margin.

A great advance is noticeable in the construction of the motorboats seen on the river at present as contrasted with those of a year ago.

The clam bake was such a success and the members so enthusiastic that it was voted to repeat the picnic each Sunday (W) the racing is over.

SUIT FOR DIVORCE BROUGHT BY MRS. SMOCK

Burns Detectives Worked Up the Case—Woman Also Sues for Alienation

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 6.—Papers were served on George A. Smock, the wealthy lumber dealer of Asbury Park, by Special Deputy Sheriff Francis J. Clancy Saturday night in a suit for divorce brought by Mrs. Susan Smock, who names Mrs. Wakeley, a married woman of this city, as the particular cause of the trouble.

Mr. Smock's alleged undue intimacy with Mrs. Wakeley is the base of the action which follows a sensational arrest of the latter by Burns detectives, who say Mr. Smock was a late visitor at her house and remained there until 2 o'clock in the morning.

Other papers were served on Mrs. Wakeley in a suit for alienation brought by Mrs. Smock, who says she is injured to the extent of $10,000. Mrs. Wakeley is not wealthy and if judgment is recovered it will probably remain on file. Mr. Smock is quite wealthy.

Mrs. Smock is also wealthy and pending the result of her divorce proceedings is not likely to call on her husband for support.

The papers were served on Mr. Smock at his residence, 511 Asbury avenue.

Mrs. Wakeley accepted service of the papers in the alienation suit on advice of her husband, who arrived in Asbury Park three days ago after discovering that Mrs. Wakeley was in trouble.

The papers in the divorce petition set forth that Mr. and Mrs. Smock lived happily until Mrs. Wakeley appeared on the scene and formed the acquaintance of Mr. Smock, who was an elder in the First Congregational church of Asbury Park, and until a short time ago was superintendent of the Sunday school.

The appearance of Mrs. Wakeley on the scene is set back seven years. Mrs. Smock, it appears, was a long time in the dark regarding her husband's alleged devotion. When she became convinced of his infidelity, as alleged, she determined to procure positive evidence and detectives were employed.

Mrs. Smock states in her petition that she left her husband on July 3 last. She is now living with her brother, Harry H. Wardell, in Asbury Park. The citation served on Mr. Smock calls on him to answer in the court of chancery on September 2. Mrs. Wakeley has twenty days in which to file an answer in the alienation suit.

The only answer thus far made by Mr. Smock to inquiries for a statement is "There's nothing in it."

This was what he said when the papers were served. He has expressed a desire to let the matter die, but there is no disposition in the social circles of Asbury Park, where both Mr. and Mrs. Smock are prominent, to let it die. As a matter of fact the scandal is very much alive and threatens to become the subject of a church investigation along with the court proceedings.

To all appeals for a statement on her side, Mrs. Wakeley turns a deaf ear. She has absolutely nothing to say. Her husband, who is a New York bank employee, has nothing to say.

All that Mrs. Smock has to say at the present is set forth in her preliminary divorce papers.

Mr. Smock is a member of the lumber firm of Buchanan & Smock. He is one of the original settlers in Asbury Park. His firm has sold lumber for the construction of many of the costly houses on the Jersey shore.

Mr. Smock stands high financially in Asbury Park. Until the present scandal he has stood high in the church which his money helped to build and has been looked upon as an exemplary citizen and business man.

Mrs. Smock is noted for her charitable work in the First Congregational church. She has given her service freely to the poor and is one of the officers of the Old People's Home in Asbury Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Smock were married about thirty years ago. They have no children.

Make Your Outing a Grand Tour of the West

Few people realize the immensity of the west. You travel more than 8,000 miles to make a circle of this wonderful territory. Think of swinging out through the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Great Northern over the Dakotas, stopping at Yellowstone Park if you like, traveling on among majestic mountains and mile-deep valleys, lingering in the wealthy fruit lands, and on to Seattle and Portland to smell the rose-laden air of the cool north coast summer. Stay there awhile and then take your train again—southward this time—viewing the mighty forests of Washington and Oregon, craning your neck at Shasta and the wild beauties of the Sierras until you have breathed the welcome spirit of San Francisco and Los Angeles. Then turning homeward, stopping at Salt Lake City and continuing through the magnificent Colorado Rockies to Denver and a safe arrival at home.

Can you think of a grander outing to clear the cobwebs from your brain? The cost is comparatively moderate. I'm employed by the Burlington Route to answer your questions, deliver your railroad and sleeping car tickets to you, help you select other routes going or coming back if you desire, arrange for stop overs etc., and I'll also send you our latest illustrated folders. ## SMALL DOCKET IN POLICE COURT

Peculiar Windup of an Assault Case

There were several drunken offenders in police court this morning and they were promptly disposed of by Judge Berlight. Frank P. Donohoe, an old-timer who promised to reform, was given a suspended sentence of five months in jail with a probation term of six months. Dennis J. Kennedy was given a similar sentence. John Monahan, who was also arrested for drunkenness, was given a chance to do better by receiving a suspended sentence of three months in jail.

Octave Teller was fined $6 and three simple drinks were fined $2 each. Henri Laporte, who was charged with assault and battery on a seven-year-old girl, had his case placed on file on consent of his attorney and the chief of police.

Morris Stollon got into a little mixup with Max Levin, and the result was that Morris received a severe beating from the hand of his friend. Morris got a warrant out for the arrest of Max but when the defendant appeared in court this morning Morris withdrew his complaint and Max was discharged while the complainant was assessed the cost of court, $2.40, which he paid.

Christini Monaki, who was arraigned yesterday on a charge of larceny of an iron bar and saw valued at $2, the property of James J. McManmon, and whose case was continued till this morning, entered a plea of guilty and was fined $8.

MEXICAN TROOPS ARE SURROUNDED

By Band of Indians and May be Tortured

MEXICO, Aug. 6.—Revolted Sierra Juarez Indians in northern Oaxaca have surrounded a federal detachment near Itlian, according to reports reaching here this afternoon. Unless the troops can cut their way out of the trap they probably will fall victims of torture because it is reported here that the Indians have suspended personal guarantees.

Two soldiers who were caught near Itlian were terribly tortured. The Indians have been in revolt several weeks. They claim they were not properly treated while negotiating with the government for settlement of a land dispute.

THE KASINO

The popular "old timers" program will be repeated at The Kasino, Wednesday night, and among the numbers to be played are: "Katie O'Connor," "Alabama Coo," "Manhattan Beach," "Fatal Rose of Red," "Then You Wink the Other Eye," "My Pearl's a Bowery Girl," "Just as the Sun Went Down," "Who's Your Friend?" "Sweet Marie," "The Girl I Loved in Sunny Tennessee," "Follow the Crowd," "Tip Your Hat to Nellie," "Dear Louise," "The Girl That I Left Behind," "They're After Me," "I Don't Want to Play in Your Yard" and "The Man in the Moon."

Afternoon and evening The Kasino is open, and free concerts are followed by dancing to music by the big Kasino orchestra. There is no amusement resort in Lowell like The Kasino.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE

Torrell's Dog and Pony Show with a coterie of beautiful ponies, a troupe of knowing dogs, a funny baboon and an unruly mule play to a full house. Besides being the prettiest troupe of ponies ever exhibited, they are likewise the most accomplished, for they perform what are almost inconceivable feats under the guidance of their trainers. The troupe of trained dogs are as capable and agile as ever seen and lend not a little fun to the performance. One of the funniest acts of the show was the act done by Bessie, Maud's sister, the unruly mule. The management offers to give a cash prize to any person who can ride Bessie—one minute as a kitten and the next as wild as a broncho. The show should furnish one of the most amusing programs that could be devised for the entertainment of the ladies and the children, and should turn out to be a regular child's week for every afternoon special feature will be introduced for the ladies and children. Added to this wonderful little circus there are two vaudeville acts introducing the Lucifers in a comedy acrobatic act which was well received, also Mr. John Trop, in negro melodies and musical novelties. The matinee will begin at 3 o'clock and the evening at 8:30 sharp, owing to the length of this week's program.

JIMMY MORIARTY WON HIS BOUT

He Got Good Lead Over Henry

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 6.—Jimmy Moriarty, the Lowell blacksmith, had a good lead over Kid Henry, the Troy colored fighter, last night at the end of their 10-round bout. Moriarty made excellent use of a left jab from the fifth round on. Henry's whirlwind climax fell a little short of even making it a draw.

While the fight was not an exceptionally brilliant one, yet it pleased the big crowd of spectators. The crowd went wild at seeing Henry beaten, for nothing has come his way up to last night that he could not conquer without half trying. Henry fought like a demon, but from the fifth round, after Moriarty had taken his measure, he was not in it.

Moriarty was cool and Henry narrowly missed receiving half a dozen blows that would have knocked him out had they landed fairly.

FOUGHT A DRAW

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Luther McCarty, the cowboy from Springfield, Mo., and Jim Stewart of Brooklyn, weighing respectively 290 1-4 and 203 1-2 pounds fought a draw in a 10-round bout at the Garden A. C. last night.

Stewart evened the lead that McCarty had gained by fast, hard work in the last two rounds. McCarty's debut in the east showed that he was a hard hitting man with plenty of courage and power to assimilate punishment but totally lacking in the finer points of the game.

EX-PRES. ELIOT

SAYS CHINESE REPUBLIC WILL BE SUCCESSFULLY ESTABLISHED

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—Conditions in China are hopeful of successful establishment of the Chinese republic on stable grounds, said Dr. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard university, who reached here yesterday, returning from a tour of the world in the interest of universal peace. He said America should be the first to recognize the youngest republic and he explained historical analogies between the two countries.

"Conditions in China are astonishingly like those in the colonies but China is worse off than we were," he said. "We had the advantage that our people were for the most part trained in local government."

"The Manchu empire is left nothing—no army, no navy, no system of laws, no courts, no police, no roads, no uniform system of taxation, no sure revenue and what railroads there are are of different gauges. Everything that we understand by the name of government must be organized."

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

This is "Lowell Week" at the Merrimack Square theatre and indeed the bill is one worth seeing, for it is entirely given by Lowell people and the various features are all headliners and at both performances yesterday, which were very largely attended the performers were given a real ovation.

Of course the greatest interest prevails in the performances of scenes from Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet," which are ably presented by Mortimer Snow and company. The scenes, which include the following, were all carefully rendered and were the topic of much comment from the many patrons of this popular house.

The four scenes given, the balcony scene, the street scene, and the scene at the apothecary's shop, the duel scene and the tomb scene.

"The New Jantion," a comedy sketch presented by Joe Harrington and Mel Miller, is winning the admiration of the audiences, for the play is very interesting and artistically rendered. There is a good laugh from the start to the finish of this playlet and it was thoroughly enjoyed.

Another act which is very entertaining is that of Prof. Galloway, ventriloquist. The act is cleverly rendered and everybody likes it.

"The Singers of '66" made a distinct hit and probably won the greatest applause of any of the features. All were handsomely costumed as colonial ladies with powdered hair and bodices of soft colors.

Miss Harriet Moran, gowned in blue, sang "Oh, Beautiful Night," as the opening number of their series of popular songs. Miss May Whitley, gowned in lavender, sang "I Must Have Been A Dreaming," and Mrs. Mary F. Fiske, gowned in pink, sang "Because I Am in Love With You," and the act closed with a medley of songs, among them being "My Toodle Man," "Love's Old Sweet Song," "Lady Angelina," "Sally in Our Alley," and "That's the Fellow I Could Love."

The entire act is under the direction of Frederick G. Bond, while the dainty minut which is also successfully rendered, is under the direction of Mrs. L. B. Perrin.

Walter Davis, who is a singer of wide experience, gives several good selections and his dances are also cleverly given.

THEATRE VOYONS

The feature today at the Theatre Voyons is "Officer Murray," a Selig drama depicting a series of true incidents in a policeman's life. It is a novel and altogether pleasing picture full of thrills and surprises and one that will create lots of comment. Little Mary Pickford in "The Narrow Road," a biograph drama, will be welcome and an Edison comedy, "When She Was About Sixteen," will bring plenty of smiles. The musical program is excellent.

KENDAL WESTON'S PLAYHOUSE

To state what Kendal Weston will do with the old Hathaway theatre before it opens its doors as "The Playhouse," is simply superfluous. It may not be so changed, but there will be an artistic touch here and there that will make it different from anything preceding its event in Lowell, but Mr. Weston is a man of experience and knows that to get the people who appreciate the real thing, you have to give them the performance and the place. The actors and the music must be perfect and without taking any chance of harsh criticism, consequently Mr. Emil Lavigne has been engaged as concert master and it is a foregone conclusion that his repertoire of musicians, individually and collectively, will be as perfect as can be found in these parts. Mr. Lavigne is to render the highest standard of classical and popular music. The 17 actors that form "The Drama Players" all come recommended by their former managers and stars as exceptionally clever, while the plays are selected to suit the stage and the company of "The Playhouse."

The first four plays will be: "The Lion and the Mouse," "When Knight-hood Was in Flower," "The Charity Ball," and "Before and After."

The prices will be in the range of all and with only Thursday and Saturday afternoon performances (two matinees), the subscribers will have to hustle for first places, and after Aug. 23 a subscribers' card will be issued whereby patrons can fill in the desired number of seats for each week and for the performance preferred. Through this card seats will be reserved, and taken one week in advance.

ROCKINGHAM FAIR RACES

The trotting and pacing races at Rockingham fair, August 20 to 21, mark the first appearance of the great Grand Circuit horses in the Granite state. All of the world's fastest trotters and pacers will be there to battle for the $12,000 in stakes and purses. The racing program includes the American Horse Breeder $11,000 futurity, bringing together the greatest colt trotters and pacers which the country produces. Then there is the $3000 stake for 210 trotters, the $3000 purse for 205 pacers, and twenty-five other rich racing events. All the noted

Prof. Balch Reports on Billar Case

WORCESTER, Aug. 6.—A report received yesterday from Prof. Alfred Balch of Tufts College by Associate Medical Examiner Ernest L. Hunt, to the effect that an analysis of the stomach of Mrs. Emma Billar, wife of Max Billar, who died suddenly at her home, 14 Walnut street, last week, showed traces of cyanide poisoning, started the police at work again in an effort to determine whether the poison was taken with suicidal intent or whether it was administered by some person desirous of getting the woman out of the way.

Inspectors Burke and Thayer were assigned to the case and they brought the husband of the dead woman and her daughter, Elizabeth, aged 14, to headquarters to submit to a questioning.

The father and daughter were warned by the police against talking to outside parties, but the stories told to the police yesterday after from those told on the day of Mrs. Billar's sudden death.

Yesterday, the police say, the daughter told them that her mother became ill while her uncle, Emil Billar, was at the house and went upstairs to her room, that she tried to close a window and fell unconscious, that the girl and Emil Billar tried to revive her, and then her uncle went away.

She called Dr. Walter D. Bieberbach, the family physician, but when he reached the house Mrs. Billar was dead. Dr. Bieberbach reports that the condition of the woman's body indicated she died from poison, and he took possession of a half cup of coffee he found in the room. He has turned this over to the medical examiner who is having it analyzed.

It was also learned that Mrs. Billar was a frequent user of powders as a headache cure, and some of these found in the house have also been taken for analysis.

TURKS AND ARABS PUT UP STUBBORN RESISTANCE TO ITALIANS' ATTACK

TRIPOLI, Morocco, Aug. 6.—The Turks and the Arab allies are offering a more stubborn resistance than was expected to the combined military and naval operations of the Italians who are concentrating their forces upon the small port of Zuara, about 60 miles along the coast to the west of this city.

Bluejackets were landed yesterday from the Italian fleet to the east of Zuara, which is near the Tunisian frontier, while the Italian warships kept up a constant bombardment of the coast as well as of the numerous oases. An adjacent extensive Mussulman monastery is a conspicuous object and it is believed this suffered during the bombardment.

NEGRO THEATRE TO PASS INTO THE HANDS OF WHITE PEOPLE

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—The only theatre in Chicago conducted by negroes for negroes is to pass into the hands of whites. The playhouse, which is located in the heart of the black belt on the south side, was opened some years ago by the late Bob Mot, one of Chicago's picturesque negro characters.

Employing none but actors of his own race he gave programs varied in character ranging from vaudeville to grand opera.

The enterprise prospered until Mot's death a few months ago. His heirs were unable to agree in the management of the theatre and have leased it to a white syndicate for a moving picture show.

BOXING, GOLF
AND ATHLETICSLOWELL LOST TO WORCESTER
BY THE SCORE OF 3 TO 0Errors Did it—Maybohm and Van
Dyke Were in Great Form,
Each Allowing 4 Hits

WORCESTER, Aug. 6.—Worcester won yesterday's game from Lowell, principally through the misplays of the Grays. The score was 3 to 0, and despite the errors of the champions, the game was one of great interest.

Maybohm was on the mound for Lowell and he pitched good ball, and his work was easily good enough to win. Van Dyke was on the rubber for the Dusters and he was in fine form. Each pitcher allowed four hits.

The offenders in the error column were Shorty Dee, Halstein and Maybohm, and all the slips-up figured in the scoring.

The three runs that represent the scoring for the day came to Worcester in the second and third innings. The trouble was started by Dee, when after he stopped a grounder from Crum he shot the pillow Halstein's head. Hays singled to right and Clements raced to third. A double steal was pulled off. As Maybohm pitched Hays ran in second and Lavigne threw to Miller and Clements came in from third with the run, beating Miller's throw by a hair. The others in the inning were easy.

In the third Nye hit to Dee, who threw rather high and Halstein missed the ball. Shorten hit to Maybohm and he threw to Halstein, but the collection muffed it and there were two on the bases who should be on the bench. Flaherty hit to Maybohm who langed the ball to the bleachers in right field and Nye and Shorten scored. McCune sacrificed and Flaherty took third. Flaherty took a lead off the third corner and a sharp throw by Lavigne to Bonites retired the Worcester man. Crum ended the comedy of errors, fanning.

While Lowell had several good opportunities to score, they didn't, so let bygones be bygones and get out and win today. It is expected that Boehling and Pfeiffer will appear on the firing line in today's game. The score:

THE MONTAUKS
AND MONHEGANSRolled Great Game in Camper's League

The Montauks and Monhegans played an interesting game in the Camper's league series on the Lake-view alleys last evening. Both teams rolled 433 in the first string. The second went to the Monhegans by a good margin and the third was captured by the Montauks. When the three strings were added it was seen that both had the same total. An extra string was necessary to decide the winner, and the Monhegans won out by one pin. The match was one of the best of the season, and was witnessed by a large crowd. The score:

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—The cat is out of the bag, according to rumor here, player declares that some time ago as to why Fred Clarke, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, traded Tommy Leach and "Lefty" Leifeld to Chicago, in exchange for King Cole and Solly Hoffman. According to a member of the Pirates, this trade or some other trade by which Tommy Leach would get out of the Pirate ranks was absolutely necessary to prevent constant internal dissensions in the club and save the scalp of President Barney Dreyfuss. Also it had to be done in order that Hans Wagner may be manager of the Pirates next season. This Browns, which is as good as the Red Sox did. Therefore the Highlanders are playing as well as the Red Sox.

"The Athletics, it is true, have just an edge on the games played with my club to date," says Griffith. A series which stands 11 to 5 in several edges.

The Cubs have won eight games out of nine since they came east and it remains to be seen whether the Boston and Phillies can reduce that proportion.

There hasn't been any better third base and shortstop work than has been put up lately by Herzog and Fletcher respectively. The harder they come and the meaner they bound the better they like them.

They are all slow coaches on the bases this season compared to Milan. The Washingtonian has fifty-nine steals to his credit, and even one so proficient at larceny as Eddie Collins is eighteen behind him.

The Boston Nationals have just finished a crowded week. They played one fourteen inning game, one of nine, were shut out twice in succession and broke even on a double header, and all that in five playing days.

The real Reds are not the Cincinnati, but a team composed of the following scoundrels: Dooin, Wingo, Ames, O'Dool, Kiffner, Downs, Smith, Murray and Carrigan. A team of any other one brevitue pigmentation would have to do some battling to beat them.

The latest batting averages show that the lowest five in the National league are all Phillies and that the lowest five in the American are all Athletics, the combined Quaker ten being Alexander, Walsh, Moran, Chalmers, Moore, Thomas, Egan, Brown, Bender and Houck.

The Highlanders have not tied a string to Pitcher Jack Quinn, now wearing a Rochester uniform. Quinn has been sold outright and will not be repurchased, but the Hilltop club has first call on all the Rochester club's players. It is generally understood that negotiations will close by which Sportstop Tommy McMillan and Outfielder Leifeld will become the property of the Highlanders when the International league race ends. Manager Ganzl of the Rochester club refuses to discuss "the matter, but the Hilltop management is known to have some kind of an understanding. Third Baseman Padlock will be kept on the payroll and his release from the Dacatur club has been purchased.

Manager Chance of the Cubs has been examined by a nerve specialist in this city and will undergo a new course of treatment. It is said that an injury affecting the spine has been discovered and that Chance will be cured in due time. The noted manager has complained of severe headaches, extreme nervousness and stomach trouble since the opening of the season. The pains in the head, said to be due to injuries from pitching, have caused Chance's retirement from active play last year. Chance, it is said, will practically turn over the management of the Cubs to Joe Tinker for the rest of the season, although he will try to travel with the team and help the players with his advice and moral support. When President C. W. Murphy left here for Chicago last week he declared that the cause of Chance's illness had been discovered and that a specialist had guaranteed a cure.

A ball player, name not necessary, walked out of the Polo Grounds recently and bought an afternoon paper in which was printed a score of the game just finished. His eyes came across the line:

"Umpires, Messrs. Rigler and Finerman."

His forehead became ruffled in deep thought for a moment. Then, turning to a fan, he remarked:

"I see Rigler and Finerman on the job, all right. But this guy, Messrs. where did he come in as an umpire?"

Baseball fans in Cincinnati and Pittsburgh are in mourning for several reasons. As the Reds continue to tumble down the ladder, in spite of all that Hank O'Day can do to save them, Porkville rooters are trying to find out the identity of the person who first suggested to Garry Herrmann the release of Clark Griffith. With Griffith making a fight for the American league pennant with the Washingtons, Herrmann too is looking about him for the best of the same time declaring that nobody can persuade him to turn O'Day loose.

Smokeville bugs are grieving over the alleged trade by E. Dreyfuss by which the Pirates let Tommy Leach and Lefty Leifeld go to the Cubs for Artie Hoffman and King Cole. Leach and Leifeld are big factors in the winning streak of the Cubs, while Cole and Hoffman are useless. No doubt that C. W. Murphy will smile sweetly when next he meets the usually shrewd Mr. Dreyfuss.

The Brooklyn have unearthed another Rucker in young Allen, the $5000 southpaw. Allen has shown enough already to make this assertion safe. With the experience to be gained this year he'll be a world beater next season. At least that is the prediction of Tinker, Evers & Co.

Garry Herrmann, chairman of the National commission, confirms the story that if the Giants and the Red Sox meet in the world's series they will leave here on October 25 for a tour half way around the world. Herrmann admits that John McGraw, who originated the plan, has asked for the sanction of the commission to go ahead. McGraw too has been told that everything will be O. K. if, of course, the Giants and Red Sox win the major league pennants this year.

He Won't Limp Now
No more limping for Tom Moore of Cochran, Ga. "I had a bad sore on my instep that nothing seemed to help till I used Buckle's Arnica Salve," he writes. "This wonderful healing ointment cured me. Heals old, running sores, ulcers, burns, cuts, blisters, zema or piles. Try it. Only 25 cents at A. W. Dows & Co."

CRUMBS OF BASEBALL

Cullied by "Sul" From Circuit Dope Sheets

For names of pitchers this season, Lowell takes the cake. While all are not with us at the present time, among those who shot 'em over during the 1912 season are the following: Young, Zeiser, Wolfgang, Maybohm, Kolsh, Pfeiffer, Owens, Applegate, Randolph, Smith, and a few more. At the present time the staff is composed of some of the most peculiar names in the games.

The New Bedford Times says: Count Lynn out of the race for the rag, Lynn and Brockton will fight it out for fourth place. Lowell should win the flag with Worcester second and Lawrence third. Keep this in mind on Sept. 6.

Shorty Dee, the Lowell shortstop, who started out like a house afire, has taken a sudden drop. In the Lawrence double header Friday he was off and again Saturday he was not up to the standard of a short fielder for a pennant winner. Lowell would welcome Loneragan's return to the game, and the management should try and arrange matters with Jersey City and Providence to have the little fellow return to the team.

Owing to the fact that John O'Brien informed Manager Gray that he was willing to transfer the Friday and Saturday games from Fall River to Lowell, the Lowell manager is arranging for the games here. If matters are adjusted satisfactorily, Fall River will come here Wednesday and remain for the rest of the week.

The New Bedforders played consistent ball throughout last week. On Monday they lost a 10-inning game to Lowell. While Tuesday's contest was lost in the first inning. Since their return to the home quarters, the New Bedforders have outplayed the visiting teams and have won all three games strictly on their merits.—Exchange.

Terry McGovern declares unhesitatingly and unobscuringly that Ness is the best first baseman in the league. "I am some first baseman myself," stated the modest Terry, "but I take off my hat to Ness. At the beginning of the season I stated that Ness was the best of the bugs covering first base and my judgment has been justified. The only thing I am sure against Ness for is that he beat me out for the first sacker's job on the 'Homely Players' team. His hook beat me, and I bear him no ill will."—New Bedford Mercury.

Well, Jimmy Gray's champions have noded their way right up to the heels of Player's gang. The pennant winners looked bad the first of the year, but the heavy brummal manager can challenge anyone now to say that he hasn't assembled some ball team.—Exchange.

Hogg is redeeming himself splendidly for that slump he took.

Howard has been doing some good clotting since he came back to Brockton from the big city.

Joe Briggs has taken to hitting long ones. He got a homer in the first Lowell-Lawrence game Friday.

With McCune back catching and a heavy shortstop, Burkett's lineup would come pretty near being airtight.

Just to see how it seemed, the Champs went into first place for an hour or two, Friday, but couldn't stand prosperity.

Ten men stranded on the sacks tells an impressive story of lost scoring opportunities by Lawrence in that first game Friday.

Worcester has a gap of 40 points to bridge in order to catch up with the top team. That's not much in view of the way the Busters are plugging along.

Burkett has made good three successive times now as a pinch hitter, on one of these occasions making a run himself. Yes, that "crub" is going to be about as fast as Honus Wagner is.

Big Jack Ness is putting the maximum pressure of steam into his hits. One of the three that he got Friday off Kessler of Haverhill, picked over the right field fence at New Bedford, and he careered around the bases. What big league team is going to gobble him up?—Exchange.

Down in Providence the fans have scoured on Bill Sline, the former New England league pitcher. The sport writer of the Journal of that city writes: "The fans are getting tired of seeing Bill Sline's name in the Providence box. It was expected that Sline would have a great season this year, but he has failed to deliver the goods."

It's a good bet that the sport writers in Worcester do not expect their team to win the New England league pennant this year, for if they did, they would not be yelling about the poor work of the umpires on the Worcester grounds. Tom Egan was in charge of the game down there the other day and one of the writers has a big kick coming and stated that if the league secretary, Jake Morse, wished to have a close race, he should keep poor umpires out of the circuit. In the old days when Burkett's bunch used to have things pretty much their own way all the time, the scribes never stopped to kick over such a little thing as "poor" umpiring.—Manchester (N. H.) Union.

Cy Young, for more than 20 years a prominent figure in baseball, announced yesterday that he had played his final game. The veteran declared early in the present season that he was satisfied that his days in the major league were over, but he has pitched occasionally for a Boston semi-professional club. In a game in Boston yesterday afternoon Young was knocked out of the box by another team made up of semi-professional players, and when he took off his uniform Young declared that he would never don another Cy has a farm at Paoli, O., and also has a comfortable bank account. He announced that he would return to the farm and make no more attempts to "come back" in baseball.

JENNINGS WILL MANAGE THE
Donovan

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—The threat of Cobb's suspension and Jennings' pacific stand in the matter, together with his leanings toward the players' side of the controversy, only tended to show Johnson that a man with the interest of the league more at heart should direct a team so popular as the Detroit aggregation.

Frank Navin, the president, was given a quiet tip to get rid of Jennings. Navin is a strong executive and a far-sighted baseball magnate. He saw that 18-year contract Johnson has as president of the American league starting him in the face, and quickly made up his mind to side with Hancock.

Johnny Kling had failed in Boston, both as a manager and diplomat, as far as his players and the press was concerned. Jim Gaffney of New York has purchased John M. Ward's Boston stock, and now has absolute control of the club. He had Jennings in mind, having been tipped off to the change in American league affairs by Frank Farrel. Jennings was offered the place as soon as Ward was out of the club. When Gaffney gained control Jennings was told that the deal was closed.

"Wild Bill" Donovan, the new leader of the Fighting Tigers, has been a Detroit pitcher for the last nine years, coming from the Brooklyn club in the days of warfare between the American and National leagues. His early training was received around Philadelphia, and his first real minor league work was with Providence of the old Eastern, now the International league.

He has always been ranked as one of the really modern pitchers. In the three years Detroit won the pennant, Donovan and George Mullin were the mainstays of the club in the box. Donovan has a wonderfully magnetic mannerism and is extremely popular with the players. He has marked executive ability, good baseball sense and is a shrewd business man. He is the logical man to be selected by President Navin as Jennings' successor.

least one, Samuel Langford, Boston's Tar Baby, agreed to have a night to preclude himself. Johnson's suggestion and Langford will annex L. Arthur's title as sure as the sun shines. Langford again whipped Sam McVey in 20 rounds at Sydney, N. S. W., Saturday night. Cable reports say that McVey took a sound thrashing.

This was the fourth meeting between Langford and McVey. They fought a twenty round draw in Paris last year. In Australia lately they clashed in another twenty round affair in which Langford appeared to be the master, although Referee Snowey Baker decided in McVey's favor and nearly caused a riot. The third fight resulted in a clean cut victory for Langford, but McVey, it is said, put up a more stubborn resistance than on Saturday.

Langford's claim to the heavyweight crown was recognized in England three years ago when Johnson refused to live up to articles of agreement to box him at the National Sporting club, in the Lord Louisa belt emblematic of the British championship, was offered to Langford, but he declined it, with thanks, saying that he didn't care about winning by a forfeit. Hugh McIntosh since then called the Tar Baby as the world's champion, especially in view of Johnson's refusal to fight him in Australia.

While Langford already has claimed Johnson's title, it is conceded that Langford has a better ring record. Langford and Jeannette have fought six times and the best the latter ever got was a draw in twelve rounds on two fifteen round bouts and a decision on a twenty round affair, each carrying with it a while in the garden last fall. Jeannette was on the verge of a knockout when the gong ended the tenth round.

Johnson steadfastly refused to fight Langford after their only scrap in Chelsea, Mass., more than six years ago. Johnson learned in that affair that Langford, then weighing but 133 pounds, could hit and decided to give him a wide berth. It is certainly right now that you couldn't hire Johnson to get into the ring with the Tar Baby for any money not even $30,000 for ten rounds. With Langford, therefore, defending the title the white hopes have their hands full. What would Langford do to Palzer? Or Luther McCarty? Or Bombardier Wells? The answer is left to your judgment, but it wouldn't be wise to bet against the dusky Boston slugger. One thing in Langford's favor, it might be well to remember, is the way he lives and conducts himself. He is married, has a family, and is a very respectable man. He has a farm at Paoli, O., and also has a comfortable bank account. He announced that he would return to the farm and make no more attempts to "come back" in baseball.

The Highland ball club, newly organized, would like to arrange a game with either the T. R. & T. S. C. M. A. C. or Graniteville for Saturday, Aug. 10.

THE CITY SOLICITOR IS VERY BUSY MAN

He Handed Down Three Opinions Today—One for the License Commission Tonight.

It is now generally conceded that City Solicitor J. Joseph Hennessy is the busiest city solicitor that Lowell has ever had, and there's a reason. This is the first year of a new form of government and there are a great many legal points to be settled this year that never will show their heads again.

The city solicitor's hopper is never without an opinion. He is "grinding them out at the average of three and four a day and the end is not yet. He had three ready for the municipal council this afternoon and another that will go to the license commissioners at their meeting to be held this evening.

One of the opinions handed the municipal council today had to do with Lowell's share of the cost of constructing the river road, $501.57, and the solicitor says there is nothing left for the city to do but to pay the demand made by the county treasurer.

Another opinion has to do with the right of the city of Lowell to supply metered water to a resident of Tyngsboro. The solicitor holds that the city has no authority under the law, to do so. Commissioner Barrett has the tenacity to question the soundness of the solicitor's opinion in this particular case. Mr. Barrett claims that the city has nothing to do with the water beyond the meter, that the city's authority stops at the meter and that the consumer can carry the water any place he pleases. It is only back of the meter, he says, that the city can exercise its authority.

The third opinion handed the municipal council this afternoon answers the question: "Who has the appointing power of precinct officers?" The city solicitor says that the commissioner of finance has the power to appoint them. The opinions are as follows:

Office of City Solicitor,
Lowell, Mass.

August 5, 1912.
To the Municipal Council of the City of Lowell:
Gentlemen:

In response to a request for an opinion from the city solicitor relative to the legal propriety of the demand for payment by the city of the sum of $509.57, said sum having been demanded by the treasurer of Middlesex county as the proportionate assessment charged to the city of Lowell for the cost of constructing and building of the road on the north side of the Merrimack river in Dracut, the city solicitor is of the opinion that the city of Lowell is obliged to pay the sum stated, it being legally obligated in pursuance to section 4 of chapter 391 of the acts of 1910, which is as follows:

"And the city of Lowell and the town of Dracut shall pay into the treasury of the county of Middlesex 50 per cent. of the said cost and damages of that part of the way which lies in the county of Middlesex, 35 per cent. by the city of Lowell and 15 per cent. by the town of Dracut."

Since, therefore, the county commissioners, by their report, a copy of which is on file with the city clerk, said copy being duly certified by the clerk of courts for Middlesex county, declares that the work on the road mentioned is completed and the cost stated, and I find from such report that the proportions are correctly calculated, there is nothing left for the city to do but to pay the same.

Respectfully submitted,
J. Joseph Hennessy,
City Solicitor.

To the Municipal Council of the City of Lowell:

Gentlemen—The city solicitor is requested by your letter of Aug. 1, 1912, to render his opinion relative to the right of the city of Lowell to supply metered water to a resident of Tyngsboro. The city solicitor is of the opinion that the city of Lowell has no such right, and his conclusion is reached after a careful review of Chapter 432 of the Laws and Resolves of Massachusetts for the year 1855, under which the city of Lowell was authorized "to take hold and convey sufficient water for the use of said city and the inhabitants thereof for the extinguishment of fires, domestic and other purposes." There lies the limitation and restriction of law. And by section 5 of said act, the rights and powers and authorities are to be exercised by the city subject to the restrictions, duties, liabilities contained therein.

The city solicitor cannot find any other authority given to the city to furnish water to other than inhabitants of the city of Lowell.

It would be an act "ultra vires" for the city of Lowell to furnish water to anyone beyond the confines of the city. In other words it would be an act in contravention of law.

Respectfully submitted,
J. Joseph Hennessy,
City Solicitor.

To the Municipal Council of the City of Lowell:

Gentlemen—Your communication of July 29, 1912, requires the opinion of the city solicitor upon the following question: "Who has the appointing power of precinct officers?"

The city solicitor is of the opinion that the exercise of that power vests in the commissioner of finance, who is the administrative head of the sub-department of elections under which the precinct officers are subordinated.

The underlying principle of the charter seems to be evolved from the provisions contained in section 25 of the charter, wherein it is stated that "The municipal council shall determine the policies to be pursued and the work to be undertaken in each department but each commissioner shall have full power to carry out the policy or to have the work performed in his department as directed by the municipal council; moreover, it will be observed by the provisions of section 41 of the charter that the administrative heads of their respective departments shall have the power to appoint, employ, suspend, remove or discharge all subordinate officers and employees in their respective departments."

Hence, since the sub-department of elections comes under the authority of the commissioner of finance, and since the precinct officers are employed under that sub-department, it seems, therefore, to be quite clear from the language expressed in the sections just quoted that none other than the commissioner of finance has the power to appoint precinct officers, who in the prosecution of their employment are subordinated only to the direction of the commissioner of finance.

MARKET STEADY

AT THE CLOSING HOUR THIS AFTERNOON

Pieces Fell Back in Fluid Dealings—There Was Weakness in Canadian Pacific—Sugar Issues Did Not Show Strength

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—An irregular tendency was noted on some of the early dealings on the stock exchange today. In no case were changes more than fractional, heaviness being most marked in Canadian Pacific and Atchafalpa.

Prices were inclined to react during the first hour. St. Paul was the heaviest of the standard shares; its one point decline following the publication of June earnings showing a large net loss.

Politics entered into the calculations of the professional element in the general list. Another feature was St. Paul's unfavorable earnings for June with a one point decline in the stock. Rock Island, on the other hand made no response to excellent returns for that month but the Hill issues were well supported on Great Northern's showing. U. P. and the coalers were inclined to drop. Steel again reflected more pressure than other favorites regardless of information that another upward revision in prices had been expected. Trading slackened after the moderately active opening.

Local traction stocks were more active with Interborough Metropolitan pfd. making a substantial rise. Elsewhere business was light and the general undertone was better.

Traders who sold stocks in the morning covered to some extent in the afternoon and the lists made some progress upwards, especially St. Paul and Reading.

The market closed steady. Prices again fell back in the final dealings on weakness in Canadian Pacific. Northern Pacific, Union Pacific and the sugar issues.

THE GRADING SYSTEM MUST BE ABOLISHED

Before the New Bedford Weavers
Will Return to Work—Action Taken Last Night

NEW BEDFORD, Aug. 6.—It is a fight to a finish between the strikers and the mills that have refused to take down the grading notices. The executive committee of the weavers union, which is handling the strike in this city, tonight held a session, at which this policy was adopted.

The weavers have thrown over all peaceful methods and announced that they stand just where they did at the beginning of the strike, namely, for the total abolition of the grading system. "We are willing to meet the manufacturers upon equal terms and under no other conditions," was the statement given out after this evening's meeting of the executive committee of the weavers' union at which the report of the sub-committee appointed Saturday night, and which held a meeting Sunday, was made.

None of the plans for settlement that were suggested to the weavers' executive committee were thought feasible and all were thrown aside and it was voted tonight to stand alone on the first and single issue, "abolish the grading system."

Fall River Promised Aid

The executive committee heard most favorable reports at the meeting last night from President Samuel Conners and Treasurer Wearing, who went to Fall River to get the $1000 that the executive committee of the Federation of Cloth Weavers voted to them Sunday with promises of more.

While in Fall River some other funds were turned over to the officials of the Weavers Union, and a call at the weavers' hall in Fall River was most gratifying to the Fall River union. There is $25,000 in the treasury of the Fall River union, and the New Bedford weavers could have it all, every cent of it, they were told, and if necessary the Fall River union would mortgage its building to raise additional funds for the New Bedford union to fight the grading system. Local contributions have commenced to pour in to the weavers' union, and the collections from the outside made by the committees that have been sent out turned out beyond expectation. The executive committee took all these things as evidence that the strike was justified.

Pleased With State of Fight

"We do not doubt that with the large number of weavers sent out of town to get work, and with the contributions we are receiving and that have been poured in by other unions, that our money will be as great as our expenses," said a member of the executive board after the meeting this evening.

"It must be remembered that we do not have to pay all our members. Many of them are working in the mills that are running, while a great many of our members have gone out of town, and as they have not reported since they left the city we suppose they are working. Then, the members who are working in the city will pay an extra assessment each week, and taking all things together the weavers are pretty well pleased with the situation as it stands at present."

Report Work in Fall River

From now on it is proposed to have the strike run on just as good a system as possible and all the weavers who are members of the union will be required to report each day at either the North or South End headquarters so that it can be determined how many are working and who are entitled to strike pay.

At weavers' headquarters yesterday it was reported that a Fall River over-seer, who saw a New Bedford collector at one of the mill gates, said to the collector: "Throw away that box and go tell all your striking weavers to go to Fall River and we will find work for them."

CONSIDERABLE ACTIVITY IN THE AUTOMOBILE BUSINESS

Many Sales Have Been Made and Numerous Prospects Are Waiting for Next Year Cars

Although this is considered the dull season, there have been many sales of cars during July and August, and while some patrons are waiting for the next year models others are purchasing the 1912 cars, for there is little or no difference between them. A ride in one of the cars will demonstrate the fact.

The two new Oakland cars for the deputy chiefs of the fire department have arrived and will soon be delivered. They are excellent looking cars, with their "fire-red" body and running gear. Although they are of the same construction as the model 33 roadster, they are equipped with a 22-horse-power gasoline tank and a 14-inch box in the rear of the tank. There are fire extinguishers on either side of the machine and the siren horn attached to the machine will make enough noise to warn people that the operator of the car is in a hurry.

That the high priced motor car is surely gaining prestige and gradually creating an increased clientele is evident by the healthy condition of the high priced car market in this country today.

Those familiar with motor car conditions have often heard the remarks, "Will there always be a market for high priced cars," or have read the advertising phrase, "The car that has made the high priced car a fact." To those who are familiar with the relative features of the low, medium and high priced automobiles such remarks generally bring forth a smile.

Automobile buyers will continue to purchase expensive cars just as long as they will pay excess railroad fares to ride in a Pullman car instead of riding in an every day dusty coach. Just so long as they have their clothes made by an exclusive tailor, or, in fact, just so long as men and women spend money on the comfortable things of life instead of being satisfied with these things which can be made to serve.

The Lowell Motorcycle club was organized Sunday at a meeting held at the Oxford camp. Twenty-seven local riders were present and about 15 others are expected to join next Sunday. The members were very enthusiastic over the prospects of a live club and promised their best efforts to get every rider in the city to join. Mark J. McCann was chosen temporary chairman of the meeting. It was decided to hold the first club run next Sunday, August 11th to Concord, N. H. Arthur Backler and Henry DeLong were appointed a committee to make necessary arrangements for a banquet there. Every rider in the city is invited to take part in this run, starting from Postoffice square at 9:30 sharp. Permanent officers are to be elected at the next meeting August 15th, at the Oxford camp. The meeting will be called at 7:30 p. m. All those wishing to join the club may do so at this meeting.

If the automobile buying public was wise to their best interests they would demand that manufacturers stop now and forever this foolish system of every 12 months bringing out what they call a yearly model.

This 1912 and 1913 model system is an artificial benefit. It may lead the public on the face of it to believe that they are being benefited, but when you get underneath the surface you can see where in fact this method of building cars is both expensive, inefficient, wasteful and in fact actually retards automobile progress.

To build what is commonly understood as a yearly model, and bring it out on clock work schedule at a specified time, a manufacturer disorganizes his whole manufacturing processes. New gigs, patterns, materials, and what not must be marshaled into being in a hurry, and the workmen must change their methods over night as it were. This is all done because the public thinks the manufacturer who does it is giving them the best bargain, merely because it has the yearly numeral tagged to it. This is not so. Other companies are stopping this system.

A manufacturer who grows, expands and improves as he naturally learns and develops, gives you a finished product, not a "thrown together" job. The series system permits perfection. It allows accumulative value throughout the entire organization. Workmen become expert, materials, patterns, and everything becomes perfect. Progress is even faster and far more satisfactory. A look at the cars that are built on the series system shows that they are even more advanced than the yearly models.

"If you want to get an idea of the amount of business I am doing on Ajax-Greub tires, just gaze at this," said Harry Pitts, of the Pitts Auto Supply in Hurd street, when in suiting action to the expression he produced a card-system, which contained all data as to record of sales, the speedometer reading at the time of the purchase of a tire and divers other notations by which he computes the allowance to an owner of an Ajax tire when it fails to live out the 5000-mile guarantee; and it is a guarantee of this kind and not one for a tenure of 200 days that the Ajax manufacturers give. Harry is a hustler who gets a lot of enjoyment out of satisfying everyone else, and this is one of the reasons why his mightiest efforts are being directed to persuading local motorists who have held to other makes of tires, to at least give the Ajax a trial if only to "see the difference."

Just to show that his business is not confined to this city and the immediate towns, Harry showed the writer two the orders which were to leave today for distant parts of New Hampshire.

GENERAL OROZCO

SERVES WARNING ON RESIDENTS OF JUAREZ

JUAREZ, Mexico, Aug. 6.—General Orozco has served notice on the residents of Juarez that he is not responsible for the safety of the city and that all who do not go with him had better cross the border to El Paso. This is the first definite move in the long delayed evacuation of the Mexican border city by rebel troops.

THE AUTO BUSINESS Is Growing Very Rapidly in This Country

While the growth of the automobile in America is universally regarded as one of the most remarkable features of the world's commercial progress, few persons have any definite idea of the exact figures which represent this amazing industry.

Each successive year seems to astound not only the public but the manufacturers themselves. At the beginning of the present year, the United States government, and many commercial bodies allied with the industry, announced figures that would almost seem to have marked the zenith of production and use of the motor car; but it appears that from a very exhaustive and comprehensive article published in The Automobile we have, even as yet, only scratched the surface.

The average percentage of increase in the registration of cars in the United States for the past six months, according to "The Automobile," was 21.6 per cent, as compared with 39.8 per cent for the entire year preceding January, 1911. At this rate, the percentage for the 12 months between Jan. 1st and Dec. 1, 1912, would be 42.2 per cent, or an increase over the 12 months preceding Jan. 1st, 1912, of nearly 10 per cent.

The total registration of gasoline passenger cars between January and July this year has been $29,453 for the entire United States. This is a 15.5 per cent increase over 1911. Between July 1st, 1911, and July of this year, the American manufacturers produced 232,569 cars of all sorts. An estimate based on the most conservative and accurate figures obtainable indicates that there are at present in use in the United States 550,000 automobiles in service, allowing $858 as registered in duplicate. During the last six months there have been registered in all of the states 13,741 commercial gasoline vehicles and 32,000 electric vehicles, at a total registration fee of $1,759,813.

Among the states, New York still retains the lead in the number of registrations, with a total to date of 92,407, a gain of 5138 cars since the first of the year.

California is the next in line, showing the tremendous increase of 19,101 between January and July this year, and a total of 73,602.

New Jersey, by reason of her rectifying bill, dropped this year from third to seventh place, and Ohio moved to third place, with a total to July 1st of 58,000, an increase from the preceding year of 10,000.

Pennsylvania moved to the fourth place with a registration of 52,251; an increase of 7950.

Illinois took the fifth place, succeeding Massachusetts, which dropped back to eighth. The total registration in Illinois to July 1st was 47,104; a gain of 9500 during the year.

Indiana succeeded to sixth place with 46,296; a gain of 10,000.

New Jersey took seventh place with a total to July 1st of 42,622 which, in comparison with figures of last year (48,265), shows that 5233 cars belonging to non-residents were not registered this year in New Jersey.

Massachusetts occupies the eighth place with a registration of 42,000; a gain of 3023 compared with last year.

Iowa retains ninth place with a registration of 38,002 cars; an increase of 10,000.

FIRE DAMAGE

PREVENTIVE SYSTEM INTRODUCED BY BOSTON & MAINE

An appreciable diminution in the number of fires this season along the lines of the Boston & Maine railroad, the result of a system of fire prevention which was put into effect on March 1, is reported by E. A. Ryder, claim agent of that road.

The preventive work, centralized and systematized under the department of fire claims, has included putting into operation rules against bonfires on the company's property, the emptying of ashes into wooden boxes or barrels and the use of certain kinds of matches; prohibition of smoking where inflammable materials are used and the requirement of immediate reports of all fires.

Spark arresters, having a mesh of 3-16, have been placed on all locomotives and are examined once a week. Greater care is exercised with the ash pans of locomotives.

To guard against the carelessness of passengers, signs are posted in smoking, baggage, mail and express cars reading: "Do not throw lighted matches, cigars or cigarettes from the cars."

To supplement the road's work, it is understood, legislation will be sought in the states through which it passes to establish a doctrine of contributory negligence on individual owners who allow their property to become a menace to their neighbors.

A law similar to that of New Jersey is suggested which would allow the railroad company to enter upon unimproved land outside of its right of way at all points where fires are likely to start from locomotive sparks, clear up and burn combustible underbrush, cut out the dead and dying trees and establish a fire line about 100 feet outside its location.

If the railroad and the owner of the property cannot agree, the forest fire commission is to decide upon the necessity of the work.

LOWELL MAN GOES TO MONTREAL

To Convention of Les Artisans Canadiens
Francais

Mr. Tancred Blanchette, secretary-treasurer of Branch St. Joseph, No. 267, A. C. F., will leave Wednesday for Montreal, Que., where he will attend the annual national convention of Les Artisans Canadiens Francais, a fraternal organization which counts nearly 400 branches in the states and Canada, and several thousand members.

Mr. Blanchette, who resides at 32 Decatur street, was chosen delegate to represent the Artisans of Lowell, Haverhill and Forge Village at the last convention, which was held last June in Fall River. He has the distinction of being the youngest delegate to attend the national convention of this large organization, as he is but 22 years of age. This will be his second visit to Canada in the interest of the society, as he represented the Lowell Artisans at the Rochester congress which was held in Montreal two years ago.

There will be a large number of delegates present at the convention, and Mr. Blanchette was notified yesterday that he was chosen as one of the committee on legislation which will meet a few days before the convention.

The delegates will assemble on Sunday, Aug. 18, for the patronage feast of the society, at which time a large edifice recently erected by the society will be dedicated. The ceremony will be preceded by a large parade and a banquet in the afternoon, at which Mr. Blanchette will be one of the speakers. The building is situated at 20 St. Denis street and is a splendid brick edifice. The dedication will be public for the members and their families and it is expected several thousand people will attend this ceremony.

T. L. BLANCHETTE

The convention will open on Monday, Aug. 19, and the main point of interest will be the election of the general board of officers and the question of raising the rates on Oct. 1.

There are five branches of the Artisans in this city, namely: Branch St. Andre, Henri Hamilton, president; Branch St. Louis, Gaudet Caron, president; Branch St. Joseph Alfred Levesque, president; Branch Pawtucketville, Joseph E. Lambert, president, and Branch St. Marie, Albert Morin, president.

WANT MORE PAY

CARPENTERS AT THE B. & M. SHOPS QUIT WORK

Twenty-five carpenters who have been engaged at the Boston & Maine Co.'s car shops in Billerica, erecting wood forms for the new cement walls, were ordered to strike this morning, the orders having been issued by Michael A. Lee.

The men quit work early this morning, their demand being that they receive the uniform wage of 45 cents per hour.

A meeting was held in Carpenters hall at which the men voted to remain away until the company conceded their demands. At present there are a few carpenters still working at the shops but they are for the most part non-union employees. The majority of the strikers are residents of Lawrence, though there are a few Lowell men among them.

It is not yet known what attitude the Pike company will assume in this affair. Thus far the officials of the concern have made no statement. The men absolutely refuse to return to work unless the wage, demanded by them is granted.

CHILDREN'S DAY

Wednesday, Aug. 7th, will be children's day at Canobie lake park. Every child passing through the gates between 10 a. m. and 1 p. m. will receive in free ride on both the merry-go-round and roller coaster. At 2 p. m. there will be fancy dancing for valuable prizes at the dance hall, followed by an hour of free dancing for the children only. In case of rain, children's day will be postponed to the following day, Thursday, Aug. 8th.

WINNIPEG, MAN., AUG. 6.—

Freddie Weir, English and Grover Hayes of Philadelphia, fought 12 rounds to a draw here last night. The rounds were fast but there was but little hard hitting by either man.

THE SPORTING JACKET

Not to own a sporting jacket is to acknowledge oneself far behind the times this summer, and surely there is nothing prettier, especially for a young girl, than the tennis coat made in twenty-six inch length box style, with coat sleeves of medium size and three capacious pockets, one at the left breast and two on the hips. This type of coat is very fetching in dark red or flame with a narrower turn over collar of hunter's green with a bright red collar.

The same rule applies to the Norfolk style of blazer, which, oftentimes has a patent leather belt, although the self belt is equally smart. The fabrics employed are tiber, knicker, homespun and French flannel. In these materials some of the girls favor tan and gray tones rather than red, green and the brighter colors, while for very warm weather nothing is daintier than white. Norfolk models may be duplicated in khaki and crash in white, relieved with a bright color.

Called a Draw

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 6.—Freddie Weir, English and Grover Hayes of Philadelphia, fought 12 rounds to a draw here last night. The rounds were fast but there was but little hard hitting by either man.

NEGRO KILLED

CLARKSVILLE, TENN., Aug. 6.—Leonard Pitts, negro, for whom hundreds of citizens have been searching for over a week, was shot and killed by a posse near Detroit, Texas, yesterday. Pitts killed Sheriff Charles Stephens in Clarksville when the officer sought to arrest him. In Dallas a few days later he shot Policeman Tedford to death.

ANNUAL OUTING HELD TODAY

By the A. G. Cadets at Canobie Lake
Park

The annual outing of the A. G. Cadets was held today at Canobie Lake park and was very largely attended. The weather was ideal for such an outing and many relatives and friends of the young soldiers took occasion to accompany them on their trolley ride. The affair consisted of a basket picnic and over four hundred people boarded the special electric cars which left Merrimack street at the corner of Alken at 8 o'clock this morning.

The trip to the park was a most pleasant one as everyone in the party joined in the singing which was started by the younger element. Upon arriving at the grounds baseball was soon in order, the bigger boys playing at one end of the park, while the little ones enjoyed themselves at the other. A long list of sports was carried out in a very amusing and satisfactory manner in charge of Sergeant William Giron, and at 1:30 o'clock, immediately after the dinner which was enjoyed on the green, a competitive drill among the different companies of the Cadets was held, the prize being a gold medal.

At 2:30 outdoor amusements were renewed and later a fine exhibition drill was given by the members of the guard. Among the large attendance were several of the Oblate Fathers of St. Joseph's parish who materially helped in the success of the event. The various committees in charge were as follows: Major Lamoureux, Organization; Major Lamoureux, Lakeview Dance Hall.

There was a large attendance at both sessions at the Lakeview dance hall yesterday and all greatly enjoyed the dancing. The hall at the present time is one of the best in New England, the floor being in perfect condition and the surroundings in harmony with the dancing surface. Of the number of enjoyable features at the hall this week the duets on the piccolo and xylophone, by Messrs. Pool and Dissenonette, are among the leading numbers. In all the dances that these talented performers play the accompaniment the floor space is crowded, for all appreciate the fact that the musicians are experts at their respective instruments. The orchestra of eight pieces is one of the best playing at a summer resort. Several new numbers are being given this week that must be seen to be appreciated. Sessions are held every afternoon and evening, and an excellent concert precedes each session.

DARROW EVIDENCE

WILL BE ALL IN TWO DAYS MORE

LOS ANGELES, CAL., Aug. 6.—Two more days may end the taking of evidence in the bribery trial of Clarence Darrow.

Although the defense practically closed yesterday when Darrow left the stand, the formal ending of the defendant's case was expected today with the calling to the stand of Lincoln Steffens for further cross examination. It was expected that John H. Haney, Port Franklin, would be called and recalled in rebuttal by the state.

PAVING WORK PROGRESSING

The work on the paving of Gorham street, between Union and Walnut closed yesterday when Darrow left the stand, the formal ending of the defendant's case was expected today with the calling to the stand of Lincoln Steffens for further cross examination. It was expected that John H. Haney, Port Franklin, would be called and recalled in rebuttal by the state.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Joseph Jean Letourneau and Miss Marie Amanda Tessier were united in the bonds of matrimony, the ceremony being performed this morning at a private nuptial mass celebrated at 7 o'clock in the chapel of St. Joseph's rectory by Rev. Guilbaume Joseph, M. L. The young couple were attended by Messrs. Thomas Lambert and Philippe H. Tessier. After the ceremony the bride party repaired to the home of the bride's parents, 21 Cambridge street, where a dainty wedding breakfast was served. A reception will be tendered Mr. and Mrs. Letourneau at the same address this evening.

INTERSTATE DECISION

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The interstate commerce commission in a case that an interstate carrier is forbidden a shipment over any available and reasonable route, which complied with the routing instructions and via which the lowest lawful rate was applicable cannot be charged with discriminating. The commission also held that "no presumption of unreasonableness attaches to a joint through rate applicable over a particular route because of the fact that intermediate rates via another route would make a lower charge."

THREE NEW TROTTERS JOIN THE 2.10 LIST

The Matron Stakes Were Captured by Maiden Three-Year-Old

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 6.—The Grand Circuit horses opened their first engagement in 20 years on Pennsylvania soil yesterday afternoon, and the popular belief that pool selling is necessary for first-class racing was shown to be a fallacy.

The circuit is now in the "betters' belt," but the sport was as interesting as any seen down the line this summer.

Three new 2.10 trotters were flashed, one of them being a maiden three-year-old, Bally McGregor, who, greatly to the surprise of the regular turf followers, romped off with the rich Matron stake, beating Adon and Graham Bellini in 2:16, 2:08.

This latest colt sensational was not an unknown before the start, for he trotted such a good race at Cleveland last week that John E. Madden paid $7500 to George B. Dougan of Richmond, Ind., to become his owner. Still not even the shrewd Kentuckian thought he could win this, the first big Futurity event of the season. The favorite was never dangerous, however, and the inbred McGregor whirled away off, Graham Bellini would do nothing but pace and was discarded, while Adon refused to keep a trot, making a bad break in both miles.

Bally McGregor is a son of Jay McGregor, 2:07 1-4, out of a Bonnie McGregor mare second dam by Smuggler, 2:15 3-4, the stallion king of 30 years ago. Some idea of his ability can be gathered from the fact that he stepped the last half of his 2:08 mile in 1:01. He is a handsome stallion of good size and wears only a pair of bell quarter boots forward.

Thirty Eligibles For $6500 Plum
There were 30 eligibles for the $6500 plum, but only four appeared for the word, the splendid race fought out between Adon and Graham Bellini last week making owners afraid.

Junior Watts, driven by Ed Geers, was fast enough yesterday to get second money, which is simply another proof of the uncertainty of the racing game.

Professional Drivers' Stakes was split into two preliminaries, Queen Worthing finishing first in one, Ruth McGregor, Ernest Astell and the Newton, Mass. entry, Annie Kohl, qualifying with her. Geers won the other trial with Dorset Medium in 2:04 1-4, 2:10, Victor Star snipping the second heat in 2:10.

Queen Worthing demonstrated that the M. & M. was not won by any second rate trotter, as many have imagined, as she marched her second mile yesterday afternoon in 2:07 1-4, last half in 1:02 1-4, with something left.

Walter Cox continued his winning career by getting the Boston mare, Arona McKinney over in the 2:22 trot. Sanford Small's big colt daughter of McKinney was in no soft spot and to win she had to go a sparkling race, her fifth heat being in 2:09 1-4.

Geers with Eva Cord had a Cox on a hard drive in every heat and got the decision in the fifth.

Chester Lassell of Whitinsville, Mass., won the first heat in 2:10 1-4, with Wenzell rushing off at the word and taking such a lead that neither Cord nor McKinney could quite reach.

Cox Makes a Wrong Guess
The 2:35 pace, won by Peter the Second, was one of those unsatisfactory two-horse races. Branham Baughman should have won, but Cox guessed wrongly. He set the pace in the first heat and Peter was able to outburst Baughman, the mile being in 2:05. The next heat was in 2:15 1-4, the Boston horse winning by rushing through the stretch in 22 seconds. Cox decided to trail again in the third heat, and in taking Baughman back going away the horse broke.

The attendance was very good for an opening day, but the management is not greatly pleased with the support horsemen have given its efforts to put this city back in the circuit. Many trainers have gone to the Great Western Circuit, where it does not take such a fast horse to win, while others who have been racing in the Grand Circuit for a month have departed for the half-mile rings. TRIED SUICIDE
HAVERHILL WOMAN ATTEMPTED TO END LIFE
HAVERHILL, Aug. 6.—Mrs. Joseph M. Freer attempted suicide by gas at her home on Winter street last evening. She was discovered shortly after she had lain down on her bed by Israel Endler, a roomer, who entered her room to give her his key, as he was leaving the house. Despondency was the cause of her act.

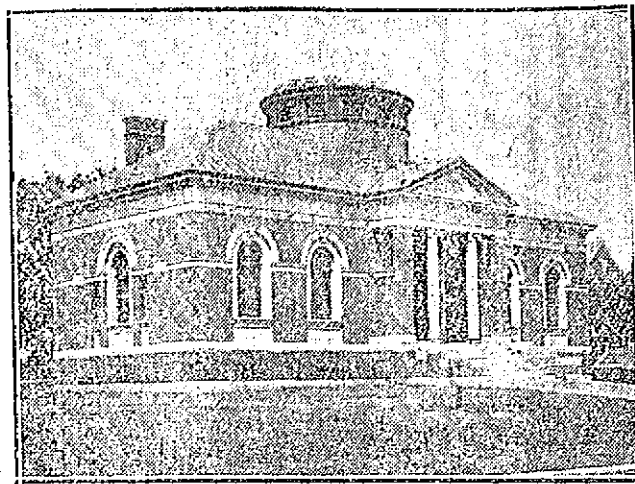

Mrs. Freer achieved considerable notoriety last June, when she assisted the federal detectives in capturing a trio of local men who had conducted a grocery store here and departed leaving many bills unpaid. They played the same game in several other cities.

Mrs. Freer was bookkeeper for the concern here and went to Pittsburg, where she identified two of the party. They were tried in Boston. Mrs. Freer's husband is in England, and it is believed that his absence led to despondency.

THE ADAMS LIBRARY STRIKING MONUMENT

THE ADAMS LIBRARY AT CHELMSFORD

Was Presented by Amos Adams
—There is a Great Demand for Books

One of the most striking monuments to the characteristic loyalty of the New Englander for the town of his birth and the home of his early life is the Adams Library, situated in Chelmsford Centre, which is one of the first 44 towns incorporated in Massachusetts.

Following the Revolution, which had so depressing an effect on business and social life, there came a period of unbroken prosperity and social advance. Quite naturally such a relief from gloomy and unsettled conditions of affairs was joyously welcomed, and fired by the spirit of eagerness for progress and social elevation, the people entered heart and soul into what was for them a new life and aim. The result was that the town of Chelmsford received a very noticeable impetus, intellectually as well as in a commercial way.

In January of the year 1794 the first library was established by the Rev. Mr. Packard. It was but a modest affair, but it was a step onward. This institution, which was known as the Chelmsford Social Library, persevered in its work for the literary and educational advancement of the town, until but a short time ago, when in the year 1856 it was succeeded by the more modern structure known as the Adams library.

The Adams Library, situated on the Boston road at the corner of Adams street, was a gift of Amos Adams and was erected about the year 1858. Mr. Adams, who was later engaged in business in Boston, was born in Chelmsford and received his early education there. However, when he departed to take up his activities in a wider sphere, he did not reject the memory of old associations. The Adams Library is a literary monument to his loyalty.

beyond her depth and went under. Miss Bethel, who is learning to swim, had gone out farther than she thought and when she noticed how far she was from the shore, it is believed she lost confidence in herself and sank.

After she had gone down once, her screams attracted the attention of a 14-year-old sister, Ruth, who is a better swimmer. She hurried to her drowning sister, grasping Hazel as she was about to sink for the third time. Hazel, who was almost unconscious, grabbed her sister frantically and both were in danger of drowning when Miss Doris Bryant, 15 years of age, also of Woonsocket, who is one of the best swimmers at the grove, reached them just in time, loosened Ruth from her sister's grasp and succeeded in keeping Hazel above the surface until she was rescued by persons in a rowboat.

They were saved from drowning by girl.

WEBSTER, Aug. 6.—Miss Hazel Bethel, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bethel of Woonsocket, R. I., who are spending the summer at Bates' grove, Webster lake, narrowly escaped drowning yesterday. When in bathing with other girls, she swam out

Some of the Men Who Are Running the Progressive Convention in Chicago

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Though many politicians and admirers of Colonel Roosevelt were in the city several days before the arrival of the ex-president, they did little but talk pending his appearance. A. P. Moore, noted partly because he was booming Roosevelt in his Pittsburgh paper before the colonel threw his hat into the ring and partly because he is the husband of Lillian Russell, was one of the first men on the

Mr. Adams died about two years ago. Since its founding, the library has flourished. Its circulation and resources are increasing constantly. The land upon which it was erected was donated by Mr. J. A. Bartlett. His brother, Charles E. A. Bartlett did the grading. At its opening Thomas P. Proctor, now a Boston lawyer, and Minot Adams each donated $500 worth of books.

Since then there have been a large number of other gifts and the literary resources of the library are now quite extensive.

The report of the trustees for the year ending February 29, 1912, furnishes the following figures: The total circulation for the year was 12,114 volumes. The character of this circulation was: Fiction, 68.4; general literature, 15.1; history, 2.3; travel and description, 2.4; literature, 2.2; natural science, 1.7; biography, 1.6; fine arts, 1.1; useful arts, 1.7; religion and philosophy, 1.6; education, 1.8.

The library building itself and grounds might well be classed among Massachusetts' quaintly beautiful spots. A rich lawn, studded with well-trimmed hedges and flower beds, surrounds the entire structure. A concrete walk forms the approach to the front entrance. The interior is of generous space and is tastefully furnished and decorated. Upon entering the door, a large room may be seen on the left. This is used for a reading room and the latest periodicals and reviews are arranged on a large table. At one end is a huge fireplace and directly over the mantle is hung a large portrait of Amos Adams, donor of the library building and after whom it was named. Opposite this on the further wall there is a large metal plate upon which the following is inscribed: "To the memory of Charles E. A. Bartlett, 1836-1900, captain of the 6th Massachusetts Infantry, a faithful officer in the war which preserved the Union and destroyed slavery. His companions in arms of the commandery of the state of Massachusetts of the military order of the Loyal Legion of the United States have placed this tablet, Lex Reipublice Armis Functura."

The library contains many old documents relating to history. The desk is on the right as one enters and behind it are the shelves containing the books.

DANVERS MAN WAS HELD UP BY QUARTET AT WORCESTER

WORCESTER, Aug. 6.—William J. Murray of Danvers, a traveling salesman for a machine company in Brighton, near Springfield, reported last night to the police that he was held up at the point of a revolver by four men on Hamilton street and robbed of a diamond ring valued at $50, a diamond stickpin valued at $10, a watch and chain valued at $20 and $16 in cash.

Mr. Murray said he was enjoying a trolley ride and left the car at the end of the line on Hamilton street near Lake Park, when four men jumped out from a dark place in the road, pulled a revolver into his face and made him give up his valuables.

Business is very good at Moore's mill and all but one department is running full blast. The one department that is the wash room. In the latter the employees are out for a short time waiting for repairs. All other branches are rushing.

Crops Are Good
The crops throughout the town are exceptionally good, but the harvest will be late. The corn has been held back owing to the cold evenings. The supply of the latter is very heavy though, and the farmers are expecting good returns. The supply of cucumbers has been unusually good, and other vegetables are turning out very satisfactory to the raisers.

Repairs on Schools
During the week a number of men have been at work touching up the town schools, getting them in readiness for the opening of the term on Sept. 6. While no extensive changes have been made, many small jobs were necessary, before the opening day.

New Telephone Poles
The old telephone poles along Middlesex street, out to North Chelmsford, are being replaced by larger ones. The "hospital" auto with its crew was on the job yesterday. During the past few months many new subscribers have been added to the list, and the company is replacing all poles that are at all dilapidated.

At the Post Office
The North Chelmsford post office is one of the busiest places in the town. At the little store of Charles F. Scribner, where the post office is located, there is a corps of capable and courteous clerks, who are popular with all residents of the town. All come to the office for their mail, as no carriers are employed. There are twelve deliveries each day, that is six in and six out. While at the present time the mail is quite heavy owing to the number of vacation cards being exchanged by vacationists, the greatest rush is at Christmas time, when several extra clerks are pressed into service.

The business at the office has increased wonderfully during the past year, and the postmaster may soon request that carriers be placed to work.

"Poison Signs"
Owing to the fact that practically all the large trees in the town have been sprayed with arsenic to suppress the moth pest, all are labeled with large placards, notifying the public of the danger, and owing to their large numbers they are very noticeable to the passerby.

Seats For Common
The residents of the town are up in arms because of the fact that one of the town officials is reported as saying that no seats were needed on the common in the center of the town. The residents are discussing the matter at every opportunity, and in the event of the park commissioners not complying with the desire of many of the voters, an article to the effect that benches be provided will undoubtedly be inserted in the next town warrant.

New Enterprise
A new enterprise is about to be started in the town, and the latter will be a success. It is to be a "young restaurant" will be conducted by a resident of the town who recently purchased the wagon and is having it remodeled.

Many Vacationists
Many North Chelmsford people are at the beaches and summer resorts at the present time, enjoying vacations. Mr. and Mrs. Myron Queen and daughter have returned from Nantucket.

Misses Katherine Daly and Minnie McManimon were at Lynn for a few days.

Miss Ella Ward has returned after spending a two weeks' vacation. Miss Mildred Ward has gone to Worcester on a vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Seymour are registered at the Minot in North Chelmsford.

Miss Margaret McManimon is enjoying the breezes on the North Shore at Seaside.

The batters for the new car barn of the Bay State Street Railway company are up and the excavation work has started. The barn is to be used to store some of the cars, for, owing to recent additions to the division, the old power house is inadequate to accommodate all cars that are "stabled" there. The repairing will be done as at present in the old place. The work will be rushed along and will be completed in the near future.

One of Largest Divisions
Division two of the Bay State Street Railway Co., Lawrence, includes Lowell and Andover, is one of the largest divisions on the entire system. Several of the above pieces were taken into the division recently and the increase makes much more work for the local men, especially at the power station. The station station includes the needs of the sub-stations in the cities in the division and also repairs a good many of the cars. The store room at the local station at the present time has one of the largest stocks that was ever on hand. The stock is of great variety, owing to the fact that parts of all the equipment of the many different styles of cars are on hand. The man in charge says that every year new devices are being brought forward, and while the company secures the latest inventions the old ones are always on hand.

One interesting article now being used by the local company is a new trolley wheel. Heretofore, the wheel was made of a composition, principally of copper. It was very expensive and when worn out, it would be consigned to the scrap heap. Now a new wheel is being placed on the trolleys. The latter has a centre of the expensive composition like the old one. The composition is inserted in a case of aluminum and when the inside is worn out, it may be removed and a new centre piece installed. This is not only a money saver, but a time saver as well.

Great Power From Station
It is not generally known, but it is nevertheless a fact, that Lowell station supplies power for all places on its division. There is one engine that furnishes Nashua with the "juice," while the other places are also supplied through the station. The engines there are among the best and the largest in these parts and are in charge of a most proficient corps of men. So careful are they at the station, that even the small wires for supplying light are enclosed in pipes.

The boilers, nine in number, are run practically all the time and are very spacious ones. There is a crew of firemen on duty at all times, and the amount of coal consumed in a day is enormous.

The Paint Shop
In the paint shop the painters are busy working on the winter cars. All that are in need of touching up just like new. The painters are also quite busy at the present time owing to the fact that the Lowell men are painting all the signs for the new cars that were recently purchased by the company. While the new conveyances will not all remain in Lowell, they are here for repairs. The painters are kept going about all the time, for when one set of cars is in the station the other is generally in the shed.

Yesterday the barn was filled to its capacity, and many others were out in the yard. The latter reason is why plans for a new place were adopted.

New Sims
Fourteen of the thirty new semis have been all equipped and are now ready for use on the different lines. The remaining number will be fixed up as soon as possible, and all will be ready long before the snow flies.

BUSINESS IS BOOMING IN NORTH CHELMSFORD

Mills Running on Full Time and There is a General Air of Prosperity

The residents of upper Middlesex street and North Chelmsford are elated over the progress being made by the employees of the Bay State Street Railway company in replacing the old rails. The latter have been in use for many years and were in bad condition. Riding to and from the town was rather inconvenient, not only on account of the shaking that the passengers would receive, but many times during the past five or six months mishaps were reported. The cars were leaving the tracks, and while there were no serious accidents many narrow escapes were experienced.

About four weeks ago the railway company started pulling up the tracks and laying the new ones, and large crews of men have been kept going steadily since. The new rails are of a very heavy material and will last many years.

The cause of the elation among the residents there is not only due to the better rails that they are to ride on, but also to the fact that better service will be provided, and it is expected that twenty minutes will be the running time from Merrimack square to the mills. While the work is progressing with unusual rapidity, it will be some time before it is completed.

Rushing at Silesia Mills
"While we employ about 1000 people, we still have room for more," said an official of the Silesia Worsted mills to a Sun reporter yesterday, when asked about conditions at the mill. He said that while they are working day and night in several of the departments, the night crew is still inadequate.

The night work, which has been in progress for a long time, is confined to the carding, combing and drawing rooms, and with the exception of the lunch hours the machines are on the go all the time.

There are about 1000 people employed at the mill at the present time, and of the number 75 per cent come from Lowell. They ride in the cars and are also well pleased with the promise of better service on the line.

"The long ride," said the mill man, "is responsible in a large measure for many men wanting to come here to work, and that is why we find difficulty in keeping our night crew filled up. It is much harder to engage people to work nights, and they are of course better paid. While we are filling all our orders, and have no complaints, we anticipate that after the new rails are laid all rooms will be filled up."

The Silesia mills manufacture a fine grade of yarn, and the greater part of the material is shipped out west. Very little is sold in this vicinity, but the company has a sufficient number of orders to keep all departments running for some time.

Moore's Mill
Business is very good at Moore's mill and all but one department is running full blast. The one department that is the wash room. In the latter the employees are out for a short time waiting for repairs. All other branches are rushing.

FOR A UNIFORM SYSTEM OF SHORTHAND

The government of Germany has appointed a commission to select from the various systems of shorthand one that will be suitable for general adoption to the exclusion of all others, so that all writers of the system may be able to read one another's writing. That will be a great relief and a great benefit to Germany for that country at the present time is sorely troubled with a great number of systems, each claiming some special superiority over the others; but the fact is that the majority are based upon one or two original systems, the changes having been made by plagiarists rather than inventors, who change the names and sometimes the forms of certain characters and then call the whole a new system.

Most of our systems of shorthand are based upon the Pitmanic and a French system; but it is safe to say that there is not a single one in which the proper balance between speed and legibility is so admirably preserved as in the Isaac Pitman system. Pitman was the pioneer. His centenary will soon be celebrated all over the world. His system is still the standard, still the leader in simplicity, facility of expression and the highest possibilities of speed without arbitrarily taxing the memory.

The German commission from all the leading systems may adopt an entirely new system or they may slightly improve that which is now regarded as the best and order its general adoption. If the same were done in this country a great many people would be saved from deception by the mercenary advocates of new and too often worthless systems. Shorthand is of no use to anybody unless it can be written fast enough to record spoken language. In the inferior systems, the learner is often told that the attainment of speed is easy, but the test of this statement is the teacher's ability to follow a rapid speaker and report his address correctly.

We presume that an attempt to bring about uniformity in shorthand in this country would be as great a failure as is the movement to simplify the English spelling. For many years before his death, Sir Isaac Pitman published a journal advocating phonetic spelling; but his appeals while they have convinced the world of its necessity did not move public opinion to order the change.

The Pitman system has a character for each sound in the language, and this was the fundamental principle of the author's phonetic spelling system. The time may come when this easy form of spelling will be adopted and thus remove one of the greatest difficulties encountered in learning the English language.

RAILROAD MEN MUST BE TOTAL ABSTAINERS

As a sequel to a recent fatal disaster on its lines, the Lackawanna railroad company has issued an order to its employees proscribing the use of intoxicating liquors among its employees either during, before or after working hours. In view of the fact that a disaster in which many lives were lost was found to be due to the intoxication of the engineer on a locomotive, it is not surprising that the company should use the following notice to its employees:

"The use of intoxicants while on or off duty, or visiting saloons or places where liquor is sold, incapacitates men for railroad service and is absolutely prohibited. Any violations of this rule by employees in the engine, train, yard or station service, will be sufficient cause for dismissal."

If the company announces that it will insist upon its employees being total abstainers, it will get men enough to fill all the more responsible places, all pledged teetotalers. Yet were such a rule enforced we presume a great proportion of the company's employees would be discharged. It is well, however, to have railroad employees understand that if they use intoxicants their value to the company is greatly reduced and that the man on whose shoulders rests the responsibility for the safety of the passengers must be perfectly sober at all times and that intoxication in such an employee would jeopardize the lives of the passengers.

HE REPUDIATES THE NEGRO

Col. Roosevelt reads the negro out of his new party, and yet he says he is being consumed by his deep love for the negro. But he classifies the negroes with the prohibited ones in the make-up of his new party. The bosses are also barred—if they are not openly for the Bull Moose party. He has a weakness, however, for the white bosses of the south who lord it over the negroes. In this attitude he repudiates the position he held in regard to the negroes while he occupied the White House and when he invited Booker Washington to have tea with him. Roosevelt has repudiated a good many things he formerly held to be just and right, and among them is his promise not to seek a third term.

He will also of course repudiate the following lines as applying to his present course:

"At six a. m. he shoots the bear,
At eight he schools the restive horse.
From ten to four he takes the air—
He does not take it all, of course,
And then, at five o'clock, maybe,
Some colored man drops in to tea."

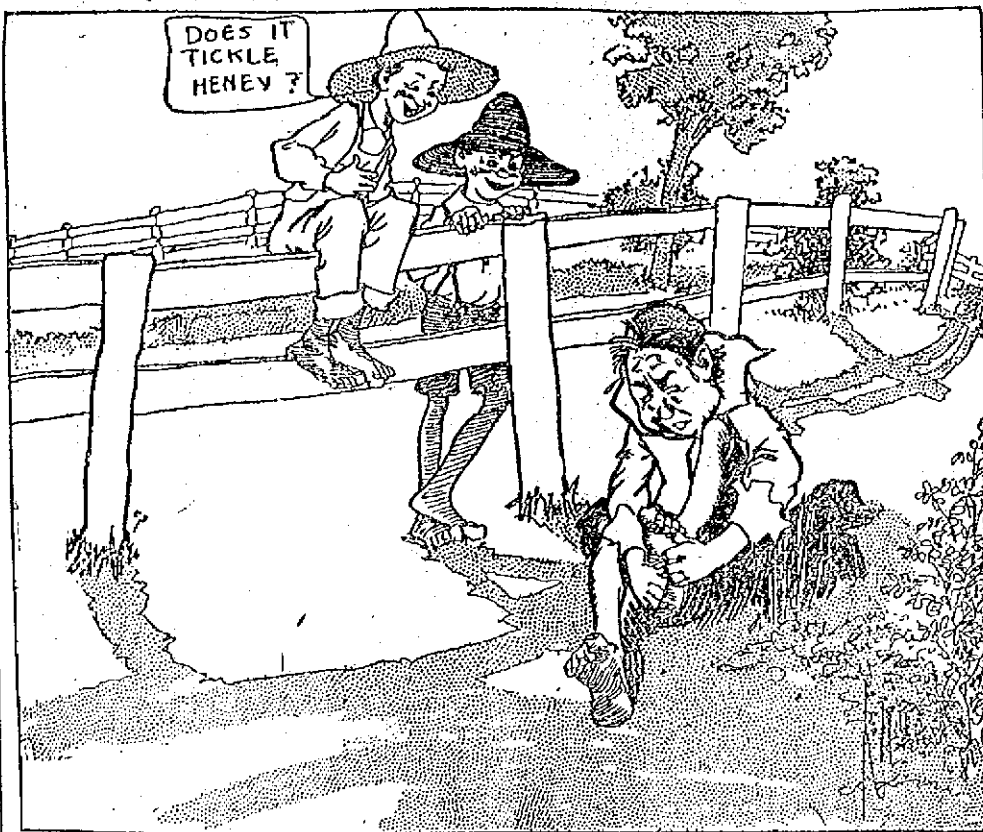

The school board did the right thing in voting not to allow Rev. Mr. Kenogott's book to be placed in the public schools for the use of either teachers or pupils. As The Sun pointed out some weeks ago, the book misrepresents the city and its people, and has statistics of crime among the racial groups that are incorrect, unfair to some and generally misleading. The action of the school board was further justified by the fact that certain phases of the book deal with immorality in a manner that should not be brought to the attention of children.

Mayor Fitzgerald wants to lead a strike against buying meat. The mayor of Boston can eat the most expensive fish but the laborer needs meat to sustain him during his day's toil. If Mayor Fitzgerald worked in a sewer he would not be so ready to forego the use of meat.

How to prevent ex-convicts and burglars from getting licensed as chauffeurs is a problem that troubles the New York authorities. It seems that applicants should be required to furnish proof of their previous good character.

With the addition of the Bull Moose party candidates the republican party will have a sufficient variety to select from. The honest voters will naturally cry, "A plague on both your houses" and vote for Wilson.

SEEN AND HEARD

The following story is told of Col. George W. Goethals, who at the time it took place was an instructor in engineering at West Point.

One day, in a recitation, he gave out this question to a class of cadets: "The post flagpole, 60 feet high, has fallen down. You are ordered by your commanding officer to put it up again. You have under your command a sergeant and 10 privates of the engineer corps. How would you get the pole back into place?"

Each cadet, after long consideration and much figuring over derricks, blocks, tackle and so on, evolved a different method. "No," said Goethals, "you are all wrong. You would simply say, 'Sergeant, put up that flagpole!'—Saturday Evening Post.

Rose rust, more popularly known as orange or red rust, is a disease attacking both the foliage and the wood of roses, causing considerable disfigurement, to say nothing of harm to the trees.

In its early stage the disease is of a clear yellow, changing later to a reddish hue, and lastly to a dark or black color, this toward the autumn, when its final development is accomplished. During this period three forms of spore are produced, the two, former reproducing during the same season, the latter resting. This last passes the winter within the tissues of the wood or among the decaying foliage, by which means the disease becomes perpetuated. Though appearing only as minute specks on the wood or foliage in the first instance, it quickly spreads and becomes difficult to eradicate.

Repression consists in handpicking the affected foliage, coupled with the complete removal of attacked wood, and the application at frequent intervals of a good fungicide, sprayed, not syringed, upon the trees. Bordeaux mixture and sulphide of potassium solution are excellent for the purpose.

Lately the first performance of a new symphony was given in New York. Seated back of two people who knew very much about music, technically, but who were profoundly moved and delighted by the symphony, were two ladies who made very audible comments.

"I should like to hear this played by another orchestra with more strings and not so many vacant brasses." "That last movement was greatly marred by rhythmic monotony."

"There is some thematic beauty, but the whole work lacks freshness." "The usual Elgar mannerisms—too free a use of thirds and sixths."

The poor, innocent, shallow creatures didn't know they were annoying every one within earshot—and there were many—and advertising the smallness of their own souls.

When you hear people talk like the two ladies in the concert, you may be sure that the knowledge are formulas, that they have no real delight or enjoyment in music beyond vanity—the

FOR THE NECK AND SHOULDERS

A Free Prescription That Instantly Removes Blemishes, Tan, Freckles and the Wrinkles and Marks Left by High Collars.

The Dutch neck and the evening gown too often expose the discolorations and blemishes of high collars or the effects of tan and freckles. It is easy to overcome these conditions and make the neck beautiful and white and soft and smooth—to remove, in other words, every blemish and to make the Dutch collar as attractive as it is comfortable. This prescription can also be used on the shoulders, and it is marvelously effective to beautify the hands and arms.

If you want to try it go to your druggist, get an empty two-ounce bottle, also a one-ounce bottle of Kulus Compound. Pour the entire bottle of Kulus into the two-ounce bottle, add a quarter of an ounce of witch hazel, then fill with water. Prepare this at your own home and then you know what you have. One application will astonish you. It is deliciously cool and soothing and is not affected by perspiration. If you put it on one hand only, or on one side of the neck, and note the difference you will see the wonderful change it makes instantly. The results are permanent, and continued use of this prescription will result in a skin as soft and smooth as a child's, a skin from which redness and roughness and freckles have been entirely removed.

THE HEATH-CLAD HILLS AT HOME

Sweet blows the bracing breeze along each brown old heathery knove, Rich-laden with a hundred scents from flowery heights and howe!

Bright smiles the spring-time sun adown on moor, and marsh, and bawn.

And comes bloom to heather-bell, and spotless eucanabian.

'Tis bliss, 'tis bliss to close my eyes and fancy that I roam

Once more a joyous youth upon the heath-clad hills at home!

I feel the odor-laden breeze blow fresh upon my brow.

And the warm, young heart of days long gone beats high within me now;

By pathless ways where my steps on many a happy day—

By fields of furze all golden, by soft brown knoves, I stray;

I see, beyond the mountains tower, the wide Atlantic foun-

Wide earth has not one spot more fair 'than the heath-clad hills at home!

The honeyed breath from off those hills was that which first I drew.

Their shades my childhood's wonder were—their rich, gold brown and blue;

Out o'er their heights, adown their glens, my travels long had been.

And well for me the world beyond I'd never known or seen!

Were I so possessed, I'd barter all the wealth of kingly Rome

For a day of youth and a careless heart on the heath-clad hills at home!

True, I was poor in those far days when tales to me were told

Of distant lands whose grand resplendent shone with gold.

I quitted home, I found the wealth and cities gay I sought.

But at the cost of heart-content those things were dearly bought.

Take, take away this gaudy life, take glittering spire and dome,

And give me back my guileless youth on the heath-clad hills at home!

Oh, give me back those fresh young days when I knew not of care,

Nor the false desires and greed of gold that blinds man in a snare.

Oh, give me back the innocence that blessed my home with joy.

And give me back the sunshine shone on me when a boy!

It cannot be! Then, but a grave—not in their foreign loam,

But laid to sleep where bluebells weep on the heath-clad hills at home!

The Ordinary Man walked into a florist's shop, and, pointing to a beautiful flowering plant, asked the price.

"That duodecimium floriatum" asked the florist, as nearly as the Ordinary Man understood him. "It is worth a dollar."

He dropped in at his physician's office and requested that gentleman to tell what was the matter with him.

"O, you've just got a slight manifestation of nasopharyngeal comblemmure," the doctor said, or words to that apparent effect.

The Ordinary Man stopped to look at an automobile, and the agent said:

"You see, the differential is set at a tangent to the assimilator, and that brings the obloid paralleling chute in diametric connection with the swivel."

TUBERCULOSIS DAY

IS TO BE OBSERVED ON OCTOBER 27TH

Churches and religious societies, to the number of at least 100,000, will be urged to give special attention to the prevention of tuberculosis on Sunday, October 27th, or on some day during the week preceding or the week following that date.

This season has been set apart and designated as the third national tuberculosis day by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, which makes this announcement today.

Tuberculosis day was originally set on April 23rd, but was postponed because of a conflict with Conservation Sunday of the Men and Religion Movement, which was held on that date.

The observance of tuberculosis day in the fall this year will be utilized by anti-tuberculosis workers not only for the general education of churchgoers on consumption, but also for the purpose of interesting them in the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals.

Every one of the 600 and more anti-tuberculosis associations allied with the National association, will be urged to promote tuberculosis day in their respective communities.

While last year over 50,000 churches observed this occasion, it is expected this year that this number will be doubled. Millions of circulars and other forms of literature will be distributed. The support of every religious denomination will be asked for.

That tuberculosis is a serious problem among church congregations is evidenced by statistics which the National association gathered last year, which show that 10 per cent of all deaths among church members are caused by tuberculosis. Based on these figures and on the mortality statistics of the census bureau, over 52,000 of the 33,000,000 communicants in churches in the United States die from tuberculosis every year. This figure assumes that the death rate of 1.50 per 1000 population in the registration area applies to all churchgoers, when, as a matter of fact, the rate would probably be higher.

NEW CATHOLIC CHAPEL

At Canobie Lake Dedicated on Sunday

The dedication of the Church of the Immaculate Conception at Canobie lake, and the blessing of the bell took place on Sunday. A pleasing and impressive incident was the tolling of the bell, each one of the largest congregation present, who was constituted a sponsor of the bell, striking it once and then returning to his or her pew. The ceremony of dedication began at 10:30 o'clock. Bishop George Albert Guertin of Manchester, N. H., led the procession both within and without the sacred edifice.

After the ceremony of dedication the public was admitted to and completely filled the church. Solemn high mass was then celebrated. The pastor, Rev. John J. McNamara, was celebrant. Rev. Daniel Keeler, Ph. D., of St. Peter's church, this city, was deacon; Rev. John J. Shaw of St. Michael's church, sub-deacon; Rev. James O'Reilly of Lawrence was master of ceremonies, and Rev. J. S. ## BOY SCOUT SHOES

A BIG BARGAIN... $1.55

We had a chance to get another lot of Genuine Boy Scout Shoes and took the lot—230 pairs of Boy Scout Shoes—all sizes from 10 to 13 1-2 and 1 to 5, are put on sale today for $1.55.

Each pair bears the Official Seal of the Boy Scouts of America. Made from brown calf skin—elk hide soles—easy, comfortable, durable, perfect athletic shoes. These are just the shoes for camp, seashore or country wear—or in fact for wear anywhere. Instead of the regular price, $2.50, we offer these Genuine Boy Scout Shoes, all sizes, for.....

master of ceremonies. Bishop Guertin was assisted by Rev. Daniel Dunn of St. Thomas' church, Dover, Josephine Curran of Dorchester directed the choir of 25 voices, and Alysé Wiley of Charlestown was organist.

The altar boys were: John Ryan, cross bearer; Leo Hickey, censor bearer; and Edward Hickey, assistant censor bearer; James Provencier and Leo Flynn, acolytes; J. Watts, carrier of holy water; James Walsh and J. Patterson, torch bearers; with Augustus Murphy, James Forest, George Kittredge, William Caffrey, Nelson Hamilton and John Conley.

After the mass the blessing and tolling of the bell which had been placed before the altar occupied a half hour. Bishop Guertin then delivered a sermon in which he referred gratefully to the gift of the bell which will summon to worship people who have come away from the cares and pleasures of city life for rest and recreation by the side of a beautiful lake. He emphasized the usefulness of a church situated in a place of the kind, and declared that much praise was due Fr. McNamara, who founded the parish, and in so short a time built this church. Among the laymen present was Paul Hangan, of Lawrence, who gave the land for the edifice.

After the dedication the bishop and visiting clergymen were entertained at dinner at the home of Fr. McNamara in Salem Depot village.

The parish of the Immaculate Conception, which takes in part of Salem, including the shores of the lake and Pelham, was born May 29, 1910, when Fr. McNamara was appointed its pastor by Bishop Guertin. Ground for the edifice was broken April 19, 1911, and the church opened in July the same year.

It is situated in a grove south of the lake, and a short distance from the park. It is 48x16 feet and seats 450 people.

Fr. McNamara was educated in the schools of Rochester, the Fathers' school in Dover, St. Anselm's college, Manchester, and the Grand seminary at Montreal. He was ordained in 1902, and was loaned by Bishop Bradley of Manchester to Archbishop Williams of Boston on account of his conversance with the French language and was attached to the Boston diocese during his curacy.

Persons desirous of becoming competent and successful Accountants, Book keepers, Stenographers, Secretaries, or Commercial Teachers, with assurance of employment, will find in the

A LITTLE NONSENSE

A STEADY ONE.

Mrs. B.—Woman's work is never done. Mr. B.—Well, she ought to be glad to have a job.

UNNECESSARY.

Ella.—Do you think it is unlucky to open an umbrella in the house? Stella.—I never thought of it; our roof doesn't leak.

A CLEAR EXPLANATION.

"Some men will take longer to buy an automobile than to select a wife." "Well, just think how much easier it is to divorce a wife than it is to sell a second-hand touring car."

MODERN WAY OF ADJUSTING A DIFFICULTY.

Percy—Will you marry me? Penelope—Never.
 Percy—Don't say that; let's submit the question to arbitration.

COMPARATIVELY EASY.

"It is hard to lose the savings of a lifetime." "Oh! not so hard. I know of a dozen men with schemes that you could go into."

VERY MODERN.

"Is it a modern hotel?" "Sure; the tips always amount to more than your bill."
